SATURDAY MORNING..........JULY 3, 1886.

A Memoir.

Died, in Galena, on Saturday, June 19, 1886, at about 5.30 P. M., the "Kennedyville Baseball Club:"
Hard was the death, because foiled in their plan
Of beating Galena with their newly-organized band.
The 'Stars,' the first club, we deemed far the best,
And I assure you, dear reader, we had chances to test
The strength of both nines for each we did play;
The 'Stars' lived a month, the other but a day.
The first game was contested at the home of the 'Stars;'
But Galena lacked a player, her swift pitcher, Myers.
The second at Galena was played long and hard
Till each player in both nines was exceedingly tired.
The last with the 'Stars' was played at their home.
When the defeat was so bad they went to kingdom come.
Then Kennedyville thought she would not be beat
Because the 'Stars' had suffered such a dreadful defeat,
And organized another, the 'Kennedyville Club,'
Which against old Galena its muscle did rub.
'Wus and wus and more of it,' as the old darkey said;
We whipped her so bad that alas! she is dead.
What now is to be done I would not like to say;
But I hope there'll be born at some future day,
In the ball-playing ranks of the Kennedyville crew
A club that can amuse, now, editor, dont you?
With due respect, I am
UNUS EORUM, Galena.

PEACH EXCHANGES.

"Observer's" Reply to "Particeps."

A few more words with "Particeps" on this question I believe would not be amiss. I grant his honest intentions. He is desirous of helping Worton, and his plan, if he can get a large number of buyers there, would be an improvement on the old method of shipping the fruit to be sold on commission. He claims that the "Maryland Exchange has provided for branch offices wherever required on the railroad and on the water," and then proposes "to bring the buyer to the fruit." I can count over fifty wharves and more than one hundred railroad stations in the State from which peaches are shipped and I doubt if those numbers embrace half of them, and his advertising project is to bring buyers to all those points, as he says further on that the "Maryland Exchange considers the advantages of all the growers." This system of distributing the buyers over such a wide territory could not otherwise than work disaster to our fruit interests, as it would almost entirely destroy competition and confound buyers, as but few could know from day to day to what points the others were shipping, and gluts in various markets would be of daily occurrence, and the peach grower knows what this means. And yet while "Particeps'" Maryland Exchange plan "considers the advantages of all the growers," he states in another part of his communication that the object of the circulars and advertisements issued by his exchange is to bring buyers to Kent county. Now what are growers in other counties of the State going to do? They must be benefitted too, as he promises. He claims it to be a "sound, business principle to bring buyer and seller, or his goods, into as close contact as possible," but the circular letter issued by his exchange inviting buyers to come, speaks of boarding accommodations to be had at Worton. It offers accommodations at no other point and yet be has the modesty to ask the hearty co-operation of the fruit growers of Kent to bring buyers to our county. The rest of the State is left out in the cold, and the most of Kent, too, outside of Worton.

"Particeps" brands the Delaware Exchange as a huge, foreign monopoly. I am sorry he seeks to create prejudice in this way; he is not ignorant of the word foreign; every Kent countian knows it means of another nation or country. To thus brand his native State or our sister State as a foreign nation is unkind and ungrateful on his part to the Delaware Exchange, as he publicly asked the secretary of that exchange, Mr. Brown, at a club meeting in Still Pond lately, for a copy of the constitution, by-laws, regulations, &c. of the Delaware Exchange, which request Mr. Brown afterwards cheerfully complied with. Yes, Mr. "Particeps," you may brand it a huge, foreign monopoly, or what you like, but the intelligent people of our State will not endorse your view of it. We have no prejudice against our sister State, we honor and love her as our own sister; we are grateful that she has originated and matured a plan of the one exchange system, where the fruit of this peninsula can be sold at one point; where buyers from our principal cities and marts of trade are competitors in its sale. If "Particeps" calls this monopoly, foreign monopoly, let us have it. Has not the farmer suffered from monopolies almost since the days of Adam, and has he ever had a monopoly in anything before? Now when an opportunity offers to encourage and sustain a monopoly in his favor he would be derelict to his own duty and interest if he would fail to encourage it and grasp it. Let us fight monopoly with monopoly. The peach buyers and canners have had the monopoly long enough; let farmers come to the front and assert their rights; let them band together as one man and unify their interests. In these days of strikes, organization and pooling of interests of almost every known calling, it behooves the farmer to wake up and act intelligently, systematically and unitedly. Let no trade, profession or business monopolize monopoly. We want our share, and "Particeps'" plan would so divide and distribute buyers over our State, in order to see the fruit, that the old, old story would repeat itself: gluts, low prices and disaster.

It is evident that the wisdom of his plan is not apparent to a large majority of our citizens, as branches of the Delaware Exchange have already been established all around him — at Fairlee, Chestertown, Still Pond, Betterton, Barnard's, Kennedyville, Masseys, Clayton, and other points no doubt will soon follow suit.

"Particeps" seems practically to ignore the one most important fact that "united we stand, divided we fall." It would seem from his teaching that he fails to comprehend the purposes of the Delaware Exchange, or its methods. He would divide competition; the Delaware plan would concentrate it; his plan would glut certain markets daily, because buyers would be so widely scattered that it would be impossible for them to know what quantity would be shipped to different points; the Delaware method, the buyers being located at one point, could know at any time any day what quantity was being shipped to leading markets.

We want all the fruit on the peninsula sold at one point. We want united action—not build up and encourage independent exchanges. I care not where this one point may be, it is not material; nor do many of the members of the Delaware Exchange care. They are willing to ignore locality for sake of unity of effort. The locality can be changed any year by vote of the stockholders, and no doubt that vote would locate it at the most central point, which should satisfy all; but at present it is at Wyoming, it is too late to change it this year. Let all fruit growers on the peninsula give it a trial; give it his patronage, his influence, his help in every fair and honorable way.

All reforms and change of methods are sure to meet with opposition and from sources sometimes least expected. Since this subject has been freely discussed and ventilated; the purposes, scope and methods of the two exchanges fully made known it seems very clear to the minds of most fruit growers where their interests lay and they are willing and anxious to help build up, strengthen and develop to the fullest extent the system advocated and adopted by the Delaware Exchange. A system that concentrates buyers at one point creates the greatest competition in purchase and must ere long work a revolution in the methods of the past and secure to the grower advantages and prices never before realized.

FACTS vs. PREJUDICE

Prejudice is hard to combat. It cannot be overcome in a day. More than likely it wasn't formed hastily. Indeed it may have been gradually strengthening its hold for years. For instance, some folks believe Rheumatism cannot be cured. Their fathers believed so before them. So did their grandfathers.

Now, RHEUMATISM CAN BE CURED, notwithstanding this prejudice, but the trouble is to make people think so. The only way we know to meet popular unbelief is to state the PLAIN FACTS, and then present the POSITIVE PROOFS that they are facts. It is a fact that the RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE not only relieves but banishes Rheumatic Pain. There is positive proof of it too. It comes from those who have suffered untold agony with Rheumatism and have been completely cured by this remedy. All who have tried it have had this experience. Some of them permit us to print their testimony. It makes quite a little book, which we send free to any who are interested enough to ask for it.

A complete Russian Rheumatism Cure, costs $2.50. If mailed, 10c. additional. If registered, 10c. more. You'll never need but one, so the price isn't high. Who wouldn't give $2.50 to get rid of Rheumatism?

As yet it cannot be found at the stores, but can be had only by enclosing the amount as above, and addressing the American Proprietors,

ANSWER.—From the use of strong and impure Soap, made up in salable forms and shapes, with which the market is flooded. If you want to be right sure use ECKERS' OUR FOREFATHERS' SOAP—three connecting 4-inch cakes, making each bar one foot long; weight 22½ ounces—recommended by the Best Families, Hotels and Institutions throughout the country. It is prepared by the Grecian Purifying, Boiling and Settling Process, from fresh, clean and selected butchers' tallow. You can use it as you wish, but to wash without boiling or scalding observe these directions: Take lukewarm water, rub with soap particularly on dirty spots, soak half an hour or more, gently rub on board and your clothes will be clean. Try it for one month and you will be convinced of its great advantages. VERY IMPORTANT TO KNOW.—That the best remedy for washing flannels to keep them from shrinking—wash in lukewarm water with FOREFATHERS' OR ECKERS' BOARD OF HEALTH SOAP (the greatest disinfectant known), and dry in a warm room; cold water hardens flannels and drying in cold air shrinks them.
