Each congressional district is entitled to two delegates, and for this district Col. Calhoun and Mr. Calhoun, and Col. Wm. McKenney, of Queen Anne's county, are the delegates.

Both parties in Maine are preparing for a campaign. The Republicans have just completed a second caucus, and the State and their opponents assert that it shows that the floating word of a defeat of the Republicans is a mere fiction. The vote for Clark, the prohibitionist, will be large. Hon. James G. Blaine will open the campaign for the Republicans.

The appropriation of six hundred and twenty thousand dollars will not go a great way toward completing and arming the necessary armaments of the United States. It is better to neglect to make at this amount available for the purpose. No one can visit the approaches to our chief national cities without being struck by their comparatively defenseless condition. It is true, we are at peace with all the world, but the best way to make at peace is to have it understood that we are in good condition to defend ourselves if attacked.

Speaking of the late arrest of the notorious John Allen, the Baltimore Post says: "When Allen broke jail the last time he also deceived Henry Davis, who was his companion in flight. Items from Betterton.

Massa Ertors.—Perch fishing on our fishing-ground is excellent. Quite a large number have been caught, and were of very fine size. Some of our old fishermen say the perch are more plentiful and of finer size this year than for a number of years. We have not as yet had a great many "spots" from the city, but are expecting crowds during the month of August. Come down, Massa Ertors, come down, and have a good day's sport. We will be glad to see you, and will endeavor to treat you right and make you comfortable. Mrs. Annie T. Stry, proprietress of the Betterton House, the first original boarding-house here, will, if notified in time, prepare a first-class meal for you.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Reese Young, of St. Michaels, have been visiting Mr. Young's father at this place the past week. Mrs. T. McCauley, of Elkton City, and Miss Mattie McCauley, of Cambridge, Md., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Sullivan, of this place, this week. Mr. Bobb J. Fagan, of Baltimore, is at Mr. John Caden's for a few days.

Quite a number of our people went to Bay Ridge on the steamer Chester last week; some of which were left and to return the next day by way of Baltimore.

The infant daughter of Horace F. and Susie E. Bruce died last night. It is said of brain fever. She was a very interesting little child, and is a source of great loss to the grief-stricken family. Buried at 10:30 a.m. in the city.

Worton vs. Betterton. St. Michaels, July 19, 1886. Mass. Ertors.—The Worton (seal) Club got another dressing at the hands of the Betterton Juniors. At first the Worton were confident of victory, but good feeling kept them in check the first five innings. When Lashy took the field as pitcher, the tide turned, he succeeded by his difficult curve in striking out three of the Worton batters, then being but two balls from a grand slam.

GOKE TO CANADA.—Friends of Mr. James R. Willing, member from Baltimore of the Maryland House of Delegates, have been inquiring for some days as to his whereabouts, as he left the city abruptly without saying where he was going. It was said yesterday that he had been received from him stating that he is in Canada. His departure from Baltimore is said to have been owing to his being involved in business complications aggregating $45,000. He is a member of the firm of Wm. E. Ely & Co., but it is said the firm will not lose anything by the complications. Mr. John W. Willing, a cousin of Mr. Willing, will, it is said, be a large loser.—Sun.

The Centerville and Centerville of the Baltimore Sun says the peach crop in Queen Anne's county will be light this year. There are very few peaches in the vicinity of Port Deposit, and the stores here are nearly empty. The loss of horses in the vicinity of Port Deposit from thievery has become alarming. Blaine will open the campaign for the Republicans.

Both parties in Maine are preparing for a campaign. The Republicans have just completed a second caucus, and the State and their opponents assert that it shows that the floating word of a defeat of the Republicans is a mere fiction. The vote for Clark, the prohibitionist, will be large. Hon. James G. Blaine will open the campaign for the Republicans.

The appropriation of six hundred and twenty thousand dollars will not go a great way toward completing and arming the necessary armaments of the United States. It is better to neglect to make at this amount available for the purpose. No one can visit the approaches to our chief national cities without being struck by their comparatively defenseless condition. It is true, we are at peace with all the world, but the best way to make at peace is to have it understood that we are in good condition to defend ourselves if attacked.

Speaking of the late arrest of the notorious John Allen, the Baltimore Post says: "When Allen broke jail the last time he also deceived Henry Davis, who was his companion in flight. Allen had been in prison for two years for a notorious prisoner. The sheriff offered him a reward of $500 for the two others. Allen, the man of the reputation of a thief, was a man of the reputation of a thief. The vote for Clark, the prohibitionist, will be large. Hon. James G.
