SATURDAY MORNING..........JULY 24, 1886.

THE BRIDAL COUPLE.

Now, what's the use of it? When a couple get married and go off on a bridal tour why so misbehave themselves as to be "spotted" by every man, woman and child on the train for "fresh fish?" How silly the thing must appear to them when they look back after a period of six months! Are we fools when in love, and are we idiots when we marry?

The couple I have in mind had a seat in the middle of the car. She was his'n and he was her's. All the tomfoolery of courtship days was over. The preacher had made them one, and father would no longer set the dog on him, nor place torpedoes around the gate. She didn't show the least disposition to jump out the car window, but all of a sudden he grabbed her by the paw. She grabbed back. Then he leaned over at an angle of forty-five degrees, and she fell toward him. It was a very uncomfortable position, but they maintained it with scarcely any change for hours. Her hat had got skewed around almost hindside before, but she would not release her clutch for fear he'd go through the roof. His collar wilted and his necktie worked around under his ear, but if he let go of her paw she'd think he was mad.

"Darling!" said he, in a bullfrog whisper, "doesn't it seem funny?"

"I can't realize it," she answered as she raked one of her back hairpins across his nose.

"All mine?"

"Yes, lovey."

"Never get mad?"

"Never sweety."

The man on the seat behind them folded up the paper, picked up his grip, and changed to a seat across the aisle. As he sat down a motherly looking woman inquired:

"Are they married?"

"I think so, madam."

"And can nothing be done to stop it?"

"I think not."

For two or three minutes the newly-wedded were silent.

"Darling!" she suddenly sighed.

"What is it, my angel?"

"Darling!"

"What is it? If any base hyena has dared to cause you a moment's unhappiness I'll murder him! Point out the animal!"

"It isn't that."

"Then what?"

"I'm—I'm afraid you'll be—be mad."

"No, I won't. How could I be mad at you? What is it, Dolly?"

"Why, I wish you'd wipe the sweat out of that left ear. Now, you love me just the same, don't you?"

"Of course."

"And you ain't mad?"

"Why, no. There, now — who cares who's looking? It's nobody's business, anyhow."

There was another interval of silence, during which she tried to remember whether they were engaged the week before her father gave Henry the boot, or whether it was the next Sunday after.

"Henwy!"

"What, angel?"

"Are we weally married?"

"Yes, love."

"And you love me?"

"With all my heart."

"And you ain't mad?"

"No, dearest."

"Then I'm so very happy! Henry, squeeze my hand."

He squoze. We held an indignation meeting and appointed a committee to see if something could not be done, but he squoze the harder.

Three or four women got together and passed a resolution to the effect that if a railroad company could not protect its passengers the legislature should be appealed to, but that couple had a death grip on each other and wouldn't let go.

The baggageman came in when he was sent for, but said he was helpless. He knew just how we must feel, but the road wasn't to blame. The conductor came back to the car and asked us not to lay it up against him. He was a poor man, had been out of a job several months, and this was his first run.

Well, the long and short of the matter was that eighteen or twenty of us rode one hundred and fifty miles with that panorama, but such a thing will never happen again—never! We shook hands on that and agreed we'd walk first. —M. Quad in Detroit Free Press.

Letter from Millington.

Dear N ws:—Since I last wrote you I have made two trips, one down Delaware, the other up into Pennsylvania. The wheat harvest of Delaware will be a fair one, while the corn is doing better under the influence of warmer suns, and less rain, enabling the farmer to do the needed cultivation.

The peach crop in some neighborhoods is promising, while in others it is very light, and in others an entire failures.

Some of the fields of corn near this city are very fine indeed. On the 4th, when it was the pleasure of your correspondent to take a short ride into the country, saw fields waist high, and looking beautiful, at the same time there was a considerable amount of wheat not cut. The farmers of this community do not cut their wheat so green as many do in Maryland. Indeed they wait too long so that it shatters badly.

The practice of joining forces here is more general than in Maryland.

TRIP TO PENNSYLVANIA.

Your correspondent took occasion to join a large party of Sunday school excursionists to Birmingham Park, in Pennsylvania, on the 13th instant, on the Wilmington and Northern Railroad. This road runs almost parallel with the stream known as the Brandywine creek, winding its serpentine course through the most fertile and beautifully picturesque scenery to be found in this section of the country. Here and there the waters of the creek falling over rocky ledges, forming the most perfect miniature cascades, while the hills on either side, rising abruptly in many instances to the height of small mountains, clothed with the richest verdure, dotted along with magnificent residences, surrounded with splendid grounds, so tastefully arranged and elegantly kept, present a landscape so picturesque, so beautiful, that you never weary with feasting your eyes upon it. The Pennsylvania farmers give much more attention, and display a great deal more taste in the arrangement and care of their grounds than either the Delaware or Maryland farmers.

Many fields of corn would almost hide a horse working in them. To my great surprise I saw several fields of wheat untouched by the reaper July 13th. They were dead ripe and hence were suffering for the want of the sickle. The Pennsylvania farmers place a higher estimate upon their grass crop than upon the wheat, hence they have been engaged in saving their hay, which in many instances is very heavy. I think it would Pay Kent farmers to give more attention to grass, stock grazing and feed. These Pennsylvania farmers make it pay, why not the Marylanders just as well? More of this trip hereafter.

Yours, DEL.

AN Irishman applied to a lady who had taken a house at Bray for the summer for employment. "But, my good man," replied the lady, "I have brought my servants with me. I have nothing for you to do." "Ah, thin, ma'am, if ye only knew how little work it'd take to occupy me!"

To keep insects out of bird cages, tie up a little sulphur in a bag and suspend it in the cage. Red ants will never be found in closet or drawer if a small bag of sulphur be kept there constantly.

THE great secret of sweeping without making a big dust, is to have a damp broom, take short sweeps and keep the broom near the floor.

SICK-HEADACHE may generally be cured by the administration of the juice of half a lemon in a cup of strong, black coffee, without sugar.

CONTENTMENT is better than money, and just about as scarce.

THE selfish man has most presence of mind. He never forgets himself.

VANITY rules the fool, and often makes simpletons of those who know better.

A Philadelphia Lawyer
Prominent in his profession, says: "Don't put my name in print but refer any one you wish to me, and I will gladly tell what the Russian Rheumatism Cure has done for me."
This gentleman was so lame one would have thought him a cripple, and yet Three Days' use of our remedy straightened him out all right.
MR. G. W. BAKER, a leading manufacturer of Wilmington, Del., writes Dec. 17th, '85: "From the first day I began to use the Russian Rheumatism Cure, relief followed and my comfort daily increased. The use of my limbs became more and more natural until I felt no discomfort either walking or working. I know of nothing which has so quick and wondrous an effect."
One of Philadelphia's oldest merchants, MR. C. G. BOCKIUS, residing 4945 Main Street, Germantown, says: "The Russian Rheumatism Cure has taken all the pain out of my daughter's arm and neck. She had suffered greatly with it for months."
We have testimony of this sort sufficient to satisfy the most skeptical. But if you have the Rheumatism you want relief rather than testimony. You can get it—quick, sure, permanent, by sending for the

No Boiling, No Scalding Of Clothes.

OUR FORE-FATHERS SOAP

FAC-SIMILE OF THE LABEL ON THE WRAPPER.

Ask Your Grocer For It.

NO MORE A MYSTERY. THE REASONS GIVEN.
WHY DOES THE CLOTHING TEAR SO EASILY?

ANSWER.—From the use of strong and impure Soap, made up in salable forms and shapes, with which the market is flooded. If you want to be right sure use ECKERS' OUR FOREFATHERS' SOAP—three connecting 4-inch cakes, making each bar one foot long; weight 22½ ounces—recommended by the Best Families, Hotels and Institutions throughout the country. It is prepared by the Grecian Purifying, Boiling and Settling Process, from fresh, clean and selected butchers' tallow. By its use you run no risk of contracting any skin disease; no stiffness of the arms or wrist. A great saving of time and labor. WASHING CLOTHES WITH OR WITHOUT BOILING OR SCALDING. You can use it as you wish, but to wash without boiling or scalding observe these directions: Take lukewarm water, rub with soap particularly on dirty spots, soak half an hour or more, gently rub on board and your clothes will be clean. Try it for one month and you will be convinced of its great advantages. VERY IMPORTANT TO KNOW.—That the best remedy for washing flannels to keep them from shrinking—wash in lukewarm water with FOREFATHERS' OR ECKERS' BOARD OF HEALTH SOAP (the greatest disinfectant known), and dry in a warm room; cold water hardens flannels and drying in cold air shrinks them. Ask your grocer for it. ECKERS' SOAPS WILL WASH WITH OR WITHOUT BOILING OR SCALDING.
