An Interesting Boundary Case.

A special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun from Oakland, Md., says: A criminal case of considerable interest, both to Maryland and West Virginia, is now pending in the circuit court of Garrett county. In August last Austin Brown, a Maryland constable, attempted to arrest Marshall Reckard, charged with receiving stolen goods. Reckard resisted the officer, and in the scuffle that ensued Brown was severely and dangerously wounded with an axe in the hands of Reckard. Others present overpowered Reckard and he was brought to Oakland and lodged in jail. The trial was to take place at the September term of the circuit court, but owing to the critical condition of Brown and the serious jurisdictional complications involved it was thought advisable by the State's attorney to continue the case until the May term of this court. The jurisdictional complication referred to is about as follows: The territory on which the offence was committed is claimed both by Maryland and West Virginia, and the controversy arises in determining where the divisional line between the two States is located. The dispute about this boundary is as old as the charter of Maryland, and arose in construing that document. By the terms of the Maryland charter we find that the western boundary of the grant was the meridian on the fountain of the Potomac, from the point where it cut the 40th degree of north latitude. This point is definitely fixed and is marked by a planted stone known as the "Fairfax Stone," and is recognized by both States as the beginning of this line. In locating this boundary an ordinary surveyor's compass was used, and Maryland claims that incorrect variations were allowed, and, therefore would not recognize the line as run by Virginia. Various attempts have been made to settle the question, without avail. The condition of the people living in the disputed territory is unfortunate, to say the least. Taxes are claimed by both States, and Maryland courts recognize Maryland patents, while West Virginia courts recognize West Virginia patents. Reckard has already been indicted in Maryland, and in all probability will be indicted in West Virginia for the same offense. In that event West Virginia authorities will demand that he be given into their custody, and complications of a more serious nature will then arise between the two States. Reckard's counsel here will interpose the jurisdictional plea, and the pretensions of both States, as to the territory in dispute, can hardly be settled by this case being disposed of by a Maryland tribunal, and it is thought the question can only be determined by a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States. Reckard is in jail here, in default of $3,000 bail.

A Marked Revival of Business.

The republican party went out of power in a period of financial and industrial depression. In the second year of a democratic administration a revival of business has started that bids fair to be permanent. All the republican prophecies of the commercial depression sure to follow democratic rule have failed of fulfillment. Free trade has not been established "to blast the industries of the country." The financial policy of a democratic administration has not precipitated a panic, and, moreover, the "rebel debt" has not been paid. On the contrary, a business "boom" seems to be sweeping across the country. There is every prospect that the next presidential election will be contested in a season of great prosperity. It may be "Cleveland's luck," but rightly or wrongly, his administration will get the credit for the revival in business. In nearly every trade the report is the same—increased activity and larger profits. There is a wider distribution of merchandise and a uniform tendency toward higher prices. The dry goods trade has been undergoing a season of marked activity; wool continues to advance; cotton goods are in close demand; iron is strong and the furnaces are blazing in every direction; coal is in the most active demand and prices are advancing; the railroads are enjoying a season of great activity, every car is being pressed into service, and rates are higher; the railroad earnings in August were 13 per cent. more than in the same month last year; there is a wider circulation of money; the bank clearances of the 30 largest cities were 20 per cent. greater this week than the corresponding week last year; the "boom" has struck coffee, the market for which has lain dormant for so long; stocks are becoming more active; the Reading controversy has been settled, and one by one the disturbing elements in the speculative situation are being removed, and the bulls are on top of the market, where they say they intend to remain. Grain is likely to be the next to experience the revival of business; the real estate market is in good shape; and the crops promise plenty and to spare, with increased demand at home and abroad. The republican orators can no longer croak "disaster" as the consequence of democratic rule.—New York Correspondent of Balt. Sun.

A RAM AND MR. CRISFIELD.—On Saturday evening a week ago, Hon. John W. Crisfield took his chair out under the trees in his yard, and, seating himself, began to read. His flock of sheep were at that time grazing on the lawn, and some of them were near him and in front. By-and-by he lost sight of the sheep in the interest in what he was reading, but was suddenly aroused by being knocked heels over head, sprawling on the ground on his face, and his chair tumbling all over him. He was completely bewildered and non-plussed with the suddenness and vehemence of his tumble, and instantly sprang to his feet, faced about with the chair instinctively raised in self-defence over his head. There stood his ramship, the pride of his flock, with anger in his heart and "blood in eye," stamping his feet with rage, shaking his head threateningly, and seemingly determined to give his master another butt. They stood facing each other for a minute probably, Mr. C. defiant, with the chair poised above his head in both hands, and the ram aggressive, and with lowered head and flushing eye. Then the ram backed off and walked away. It was a sprawling crack which Mr. Crisfield got, but he was more jarred than hurt, and told the joke on himself with great enjoyment.—Princess Anne Marylander.

A LETTER AND CHECK FROM SIMON CAMERON.—Hon. Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, in his letter to Mayor Courtenay, inclosing his check for $1,000 for the Charleston sufferers, wrote: "The news of the great calamity which has befallen your city did not reach me promptly in my retirement here, (Donegal Farms, Maytown, Penn.,) and since I heard of it I have been distressed by its extent and gravity. I beg to inclose you my check for $1,000, as a token of my sincere sympathy with my fellow-citizens of Charleston. I always associate your city and State with my recollections of your great statesman, Mr. Calhoun, who occupied so commanding a position in the Senate and before the country at my first entrance upon public life, more than forty years ago. He received me in the Senate with the greatest kindness and during the remainder of his life I was permitted not only to share with others admiration of his singular simplicity, elevation and dignity of character, but also to experience almost daily some proof of his personal consideration and regard. It naturally gives me pleasure, therefore, to associate my recollections of him with this contribution toward the relief of citizens of the State he loved so well."

THE correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says that Representative Gibson was in Washington on Monday looking after the interests of his constituents. He first called on General Parke, acting chief of engineers, and had a talk with him upon the proposed improvement of Trappe river and Fairlee creek, Md. General Parke assured Mr. Gibson that surveys of the two projects would be made at once and operations be commenced shortly afterwards. Mr. Gibson wound up his busy day at the capitol, where he attended to the shipping of agricultural reports to his constituents. He deeply regrets the delay in the printing of the reports, but, now that a sufficient number of copies have been received from the public printer, will see that his constituents are immediately provided with copies. He speaks hopefully of the coming election in his district, and predicts a larger democratic majority than has ever been given there to any democratic candidate for Congress.

RELIGIOUS EXCITEMENT.—Religious excitement among the colored people of Savannah, Ga., since the earthquake has been something remarkable. Revivals have been in progress nightly at the Baptist churches, and converts have averaged fifty every service. Sunday last over three hundred were baptized in the Ogeechee canal, near the city, and the entire colored population was out. Next Sunday another baptizing will take place of four hundred negroes. A majority of the converts are women. They are thoroughly impressed with the belief that the end of the world is nearing, and that doomsday will fall on the 29th, according to the predictions of an old colored woman, who, thought to be dead, recovered from a trance, and announced the date of the world's dissolution. This prediction, coming after the earthquake, completely stupefies the colored population.

"A FELLOW FEELING makes us wondrous kind," is illustrated in "mine host" of the "Maltby House," Baltimore, who having been "one of 'em" knows how to make the "boys" comfortable and happy. *

AFTER surveying the land and measuring the wheat Mr. Jas. T. Shallcross, of McDonough, Del., finds the yield 35⅜ bushels per acre where he used Diamond State Fertilizer. tf.

MR. TILDEN'S LOVE AFFAIR.—The will of the late Hon. Samuel J. Tilden bequeaths $100,000 to Miss Stofer, of New Orleans. A relative of the deceased statesman, being asked by an interviewer a few days ago what relations Miss Stofer held with Mr. Tilden's family, replied: "Mr. Tilden met the lady on a voyage from Europe in 1877 and became very much attached to her. She was in Europe at the time of the governor's death, and is still there. Although she is only twenty-eight years of age, I rather think the governor had such an affection and esteem for her that, if his health had been good, he would have married her. Some people have said that the young lady was after his money. Perhaps that was true, but I never saw any evidence of it. Whenever she came to New York she would visit Graystone."

THE report of Pension Commissioner Black for the year ended June 30 shows that there were then 865,583 pensioners on the rolls, composed of 285,854 army invalids; 80,162 army widows, minor children and dependant relatives; 2,953 navy invalids; 1,878 navy widows, minor children, etc.; 1,539 survivors of the war of 1812, showing a loss of 1,406 of this class. There were 13,397 widows of soldiers of the war of 1812, showing a loss during the year in this class of 8,815. The annual average value of each pension was $122.43, a gain of $11.88 over the average value of the preceding years. The aggregate annual value was $44,708,027.44, being an increase in annual value of $6,616,041.51. The amount paid for pensions was $63,797,831-61, the difference in the amount paid and the annual value representing the accrued and arrearage pensions paid during the year.

THE EASTON BISHOPRIC.—Among the clergymen mentioned for the vacant bishopric of Easton, Md., is Right Rev. J. H. D. Wingfield, bishop of Northern California, of whom the Brooklyn Eagle says: "He has been able to do a much greater work for Northern California than the loved and lamented Bishop Lay was able to do for Arkansas before he was transferred to Easton. He is a Virginian, as was the first bishop of Easton. Dr. Wingfield is a churchman of the same type as Dr. Lay was, and he more resembles that bishop in character, temper and disposition than any man in the church."

CRANE BROS., Baltimore, say that they are going to almost give away carpets this fall, and will pay freight to your homes. Look for their advertisement. *

SAMUEL AUSTIN, Jr., of Fieldsborough, Del., states: "My crop of this year was the largest I ever raised, and was produced by the use of Diamond State Fertilizer." tf.

We Desire to Call the Thoughtful Attention of Farmers

TO THE SUPERIOR MERITS OF

ORCHILLA GUANO

AS A FERTILIZER FOR

WHEAT AND GRASS.

The advantages resulting from its use are not only an increased yield, but the permanent improvement of the soil from the abundant growth of grass which is sure to follow.

"ORCHILLA" is no new thing. For twenty-one years it has been undergoing trial,—and well has it stood the test. At first, its progress to favor was naturally slow; but merit will sooner or later, have its reward, and now its sales every year are largely increased over those of the preceding year, and the friends of its early days are its best friends now.

It has been used extensively in Maryland and the adjoining States, and from its abundant success everywhere we are justified in recommending it to you as being well adapted to your soils. No fertilizer for your use has had such unvarying success and continued popularity. Some of the largest and best farmers in these States use it almost exclusively.

It is Successful, because it is Nature's own provision for he exhausted fields.

It is Low Priced, because we have none of the expense of manufacturers, and, without regard to its high commercial value, we base its price solely upon its actual cost to import.

We refer you below to some of the farmers who have used it and ask you to enquire of them its merits.

R. A. WOOLDRIDGE & CO., Importers,

64 BUCHANAN'S WHARF, Baltimore.

DAVID R. DERRICKSON, Edesville, Kent Co., Md., July 1st, 1886, says:—I used Orchilla Guano on my young peach orchard in the spring of 1884, and planted the land in corn. The guano gave me a good crop of corn, and its effect was very prominently marked on the trees.

HON. THOMAS A. HULME, Fairlee, Kent Co., Md., July 1st, 1886, says:—I used Orchilla Guano in 1883 on corn. The guano was put on in April, 400 lbs. per acre. I could not see any marked effect of it on the corn, but the next year I put the land in peach trees, and the effect was very decidedly shown in the healthy and vigorous appearance of the orchard—which has continued ever since. I afterwards used Orchilla in the drill for potatoes with the most satisfactory results.

WM. I. BURGESS, Chesterville, Kent Co., Md., June 30th, 1886, says:—I used Orchilla Guano in 1883 on wheat, and it did me good service on that crop, as well as on the grass crop that followed, which was as good as ever grew on the farm.

J. EDWARD HURLOCK, Chesterville, Kent Co., Md., June 30th, 1886, says:—I used Orchilla Guano in 1884 on wheat alongside of Hubbard's Phosphate. In the early spring the latter was ahead, but at harvest I could see no difference at all. The stand of grass from Orchilla was an excellent one. The land on which Orchilla was put was very thin. I applied about 400 lbs. per acre, broadcast.

DANIEL R. NEALL, Chesterville, Kent Co., Md., June 30th, 1886, says:—I used Orchilla Guano on corn in 1884. It was put on in February and plowed down. The season was a very dry one, but I had as good a crop as any of my neighbors had from other fertilizers. The land was put in wheat and made a good yield, and the grass that followed was a first-class stand. I would say that the land where Orchilla went was exceedingly poor. I believe it to be a good fertilizer, especially to improve the land.

WM. P. CROSBY, Fairlee, Kent Co., Md., July 2d, 1886, says:—I applied Orchilla Guano in the spring of 1884—on land for corn, 400 lbs. per acre—broadcast. I got no marked result in the corn, but the effect of the guano was very distinctly shown in the wheat crop that followed.

WM. S. GOSLIN, Federalsburg, Caroline Co., Md., wrote January 15, 1886:—Two years ago I seeded one of my fields, containing 18 acres, in wheat, followed with clover. On 12 acres as an experiment, I used Lime and Orchilla Guano both; on the other 6, the poorest part of the field, I applied Orchilla alone. I had a good crop of wheat. On the 20th of June I commenced mowing my clover. The superiority of the clover on the 6 acres attracted the attention of all who saw it. I shelled 16 bushels of clover seed from the 6 acres, and only had 25 bushels from the 12 acres! I shall use Orchilla by itself hereafter. I have had 17 years' experience in the use of Orchilla Guano, and I unhesitatingly say, that for good results and the permanent improvement of the soil, it has no equal.

J. M. ANDERSON, Providence Mill, Cecil Co., Md., writes, July 30, 1885:—I have used Orchilla Guano on wheat, side by side with Bone; and find it produces equally as well as the Bone. The cost being in favor of Orchilla.

JOHN E. WILSON, attorney-at-law, Elkton, Cecil Co., Md., wrote Oct. 7, 1885:—I used Orchilla, 200 lbs. per acre, on 7 acres of land this fall and put it on buckwheat. It was on land that never would raise anything before. I have never seen a finer crop of buckwheat grown from any land. Manure or any phosphate formerly used on the land was of no avail. I estimate a yield of no less than 200 bushels from 7 acres. I left out a strip in seeding, on which I put a mixture of different kinds of phosphate, but got no buckwheat except where Orchilla went. I have used Orchilla all over my wheat this fall, and shall also use it on land for corn next spring.

MR. WILSON writes now, July 22, 1886:—The wheat on which I used Orchilla, 500 lbs. to the acre, was as good as that produced by a high grade phosphate; and a better stand of grass I never saw. Where I used the Orchilla on corn this spring, I can see to a foot where I applied it; and the corn there is better than where I applied barn-yard manure heavily beside it. I consider Orchilla Guano better than barn-yard manure for corn and grass, and equal to it or any other phosphate for wheat.

JOHN T. GAMBLE, Bayview, Cecil Co., Md., July 22, 1886, says:—I have used Orchilla Guano to advantage on wheat, on which I consider its action quite as good as bone. For grass Orchilla is unexcelled by any fertilizer I know of.

THOS. N. WARBURTON, Bayview, Cecil Co., Md., writes July 12, 1886:—Orchilla Guano has been used upwards of ten years on the farm of my father, (now deceased,) where I have always lived, and now live—and always with the best results on the various crops to which it was applied, and with large and continued increase of the grass crop following, and this may now be seen on the place.

WM. T. MILLER, Elkton, Cecil Co., Md., writes July 20, 1886:—I do unhesitatingly endorse and recommend Orchilla Guano as a fertilizer. It has always improved my wheat crop greatly, and the grass following is always remarkably excellent. I shall want my supply this fall.

CHARLES H. OWENS, Elkton, Cecil Co., Md., writes July 4, 1885:—I have used Orchilla Guano for several years, and meantime have used other fertilizer phosphates, and find the Orchilla equally as good for grain crops, and far more productive for grass; and for permanent improvement of land, the best.

JOHN WHITE, Mechanics' Valley, Cecil Co., Md., July 10, 1886, writes:—I confidently recommend Orchilla Guano as a good and permanent fertilizer, it having produced for me excellent crops of grain and grass. I think it fully equal to bone.

JOHN T. GALLAHER, Elkton, Cecil Co., Md., writes, July 12, 1885:—I have used Orchilla Guano, year after year, for several years, and have always found it beneficial to the crops, both of corn and wheat, and therefore recommend it as a reliable fertilizer for grain and for grass as well, and at less cost than most fertilizers.
