Steamboat Saturday Morng

Dear Easter

I wrote you, for mail on Wednesday, and did hope you would have received my letter, in time to have written by steamboat of yesterday. Not having received a letter from you, I conclude my letter did not reach the office in time for a reply. Please attend to the contents of my letter of Wednesday, as far as applied to my boat, that she sails to Centreville, if possible, by Tuesday, if not, to Chester Town for Rock Hall Market on Tuesday morning, directed to the Care of Daniel Collins.

It is not possible now, to tell what has been the effect produced by the visit of Hanes to Taylor. Much interest is excited, and the friends of Colonization highly pleased with his statements. There is good reason to know, that no emigrants will be obtained this fall from Talbot. The servants of Harrison (dec'd) are not at liberty now to go, and I have no expectation that after Sunday, the executors will use any influences to induce them to emigrate to Africa. If they choose Massey, he will get the commission, perhaps on their value. This you know has its influence.
