SATURDAY MORNING.........Nov. 13, 1886.

City and Country Funerals.

How different is a funeral in the country from one in the city where a procession passes and no interest is manifested by lockers-on, as if it were a thing of custom, and a second thought should not be given it. Our ears are saluted by the rumble of vehicles; we look up as a cortege wheels in sight, and a score of carriages hasten by as if anxious to dispatch the unpleasant work of duty, and bury from sight a fellow creature who stands in the way of some one on the road to wealth and preferment.

The carriage behind the hearse may be closed and the faces of its occupants concealed by draperies of crape; and as it is indecorous to make a display of human sorrow no one sees the tears that may or may not flow in secret, and the sunny faces we see in the vehicles that follow bespeak a submission to heaven's decrees that is truly wonderful.

The anxious undertaker and drivers value time too highly to suffer any delay, and the costly casket soon fills the yawning vacuum; and the busy world readjusts itself perhaps before sunset.

Burying a man is unprofitable business to all ...t a few when the present age presents so many ...ney-making schemes. So much is to be seen, ...ard and done in the busy city that men can... spend their time in anything that does not ..., so the dead must be forgotten, and their ...ds and chattels must demand the first love ...d consideration.

In the country we see none of this vain pomp ...d pageantry. Nothing is done for effect, and ...shion makes no suggestions. There is solemn ...itness and propriety in all of the detail of arrangement, a natural respect and sympathy in every act.

The demand for human tenderness that belongs exclusively to an occasion so sacred and heart-engrossing is never wanting, for in the country one is sorely missed from the little social circle that keeps a sweet record of the name and loving deeds of the few that compose it. We feel a stronger mutual dependence, and every footstep on the highway is recognized as that of one whose aid and sympathy we can claim in seasons of sorrow and bereavement.

The empty chair beside the hearthstone is not filled by curious callers-in to see if the shock has broken the heartstrings; and a killing silence, that the heart hears, fills every apartment, for death in its grim horror of skeleton-gloom and desolation belongs exclusively to the country.—Baltimorean.

Food for Nothing.

The Detroit Free Press says that the alleged discovery by an humble citizen of Milan of a substitute for food which will cost practically nothing, is heralded in certain quarters as the great discovery of the age. To a great multitude it undoubtedly seems so. The sufferings which they endure or see others endure for the want of nourishing food which they cannot procure, is unquestionably great. Hunger is by no means uncommon in the most highly civilized communities; while in some sections of this and other countries it is the normal condition of the masses. It is natural, therefore, that the prospect of relief from this particular evil should be regarded as an inestimable blessing. But would it be a benefit to the race to make food attainable without exertion? We doubt it. If history teaches any one lesson more plainly than another it is that the brightest progress has always been attained not on the line of least, but of greater resistance. The African in his native jungle who finds his nourishment provided by bountiful nature, and who needs no clothing, has never risen from his savage state. He has no wants and has therefore no ambition. It is the sharp struggle for existence that has really developed all that is highest and best in the human race. Take away the necessity for effort and humanity would almost inevitably sink to the level of barbarism; and as the necessity for food is one of the most urgent, its removal would operate most powerfully in the direction of degradation. The man who will discover new avenues for effort in the acquisition of food and raiment and other necessaries, comforts and luxuries, will do his fellow men a service. The man who enables them to exist without labor and effort will do them and the race an incalculable injury.

How Clay Trumped Two Cards.

During Mr. Clay's service in Congress he paid a visit to an enthusiastic friend, a physician in Virginia, who was anxious for a neighbor, a farmer, to become acquainted with the great statesman. It was arranged for them to meet. The physician introduced them, thus: "Mr. Clay, permit me to introduce you to Mr. ——, the best farmer in Virginia. Mr. ——, permit me to introduce you to Mr. Clay, the greatest lawyer in the United States." Mr. Clay, advancing, took the hand of the farmer, and said: "Permit me to say, sir, that we are introduced by the greatest doctor in all the world." The three gentlemen were then ready for delightful social intercourse.

An Ingenious Clock.—A well-known brewer of Louisville, Ky., has just had placed in his office an ingenious mechanical clock, made to his order in Strasburg. The clock is about two feet across the face of the dial. Nothing seems strange about it until the long hands point to the hour. Just before the clock should sound out a mechanical man jumps up from the hole behind the clock and elevates his right hand, in which is a "pony" beer glass. The lips open, and the words "lager beer" are spoken as many times as the clock should strike. The mechanical imitation of the human voice, it is said, is so perfect as to be startling.

Georgie was visiting at his aunt's. A jar of preserves had effected a mysterious disappearance during the night, and the fact was mentioned at the breakfast-table next morning. Denials of guilt came from every side, but it was ...oticed that this particular youngster was si...nt. "And what have you to say, Georgie?" ...ally said his aunt, turning towards him. ...d then very honestly and solemnly came ... response: "My pa don't allow me to talk ...e table."

...oiling.—It is asserted by an authority that ... mistake to suppose that broiling is applicable to fish and meats only. It can be employed ... fruits and vegetables, and when these are ...y excellent results are obtained. The apple, ... quince and banana, the cucumber, green ...er, or egg-plant thus prepared, make admi...e dishes.

Have the courage to provide for the entertainment of your friends within your means, not beyond them.

FACTS vs. PREJUDICE
Prejudice is hard to combat. It cannot be overcome in a day. More than likely it wasn't formed hastily. Indeed it may have been gradually strengthening its hold for years. For instance, some folks believe Rheumatism cannot be cured. Their fathers believed so before them. So did their grandfathers.

Now, RHEUMATISM CAN BE CURED, notwithstanding this prejudice, but the trouble is to make people think so. The only way we know to meet popular unbelief is to state the PLAIN FACTS, and then present the POSITIVE PROOFS that they are facts. It is a fact that the RUSSIAN RHEUMATISM CURE not only relieves but banishes Rheumatic Pain. There is positive proof of it too. It comes from those who have suffered untold agony with Rheumatism and have been completely cured by this remedy. All who have tried it have had this experience. Some of them permit us to print their testimony. It makes quite a little book, which we send free to any who are interested enough to ask for it.

A complete Russian Rheumatism Cure, costs $2.50. If mailed, 10c. additional. If registered, 10c. more. You'll never need but one, so the price isn't high. Who wouldn't give $2.50 to get rid of Rheumatism?

As yet it cannot be found at the stores, but can be had only by enclosing the amount as above, and addressing the American Proprietors,
PFAELZER BROS. & CO.,

No Boiling, No Scalding Of Clothes.

OUR FORE-FATHERS SOAP
FAC-SIMILE OF THE LABEL ON THE WRAPPER.

Ask Your Grocer For It.

NO MORE A MYSTERY. THE REASONS GIVEN.
WHY DOES THE CLOTHING TEAR SO EASILY?

Answer.—From the use of strong and impure Soap, made up in salable forms and shapes, with which the market is flooded If you want to be right sure use ECKERS' OUR FOREFATHERS' SOAP—three connecting 4-inch cakes, making each bar one foot long; weight 22½ ounces—recommended by the Best Families, Hotels and Institutions throughout the country. It is prepared by the Grecian Purifying, Boiling and Settling Process, from fresh, clean and selected butchers' tallow. By its use you run no risk of contracting any skin disease; no stiffness of the arms or wrist. A great saving of time and labor. Washing Clothes with or Without Boiling or Scalding. You can use it as you wish, but to wash without boiling or scalding observe these directions: Take lukewarm water, rub with soap particularly on dirty spots, soak half an hour or more, gently rub on board and your clothes will be clean. Try it for one month and you will be convinced of its great advantages. VERY IMPORTANT TO KNOW.—That the best remedy for washing flannels to keep them from shrinking—wash in lukewarm water with Forefathers' or Eckers' Board of Health Soap (the greatest disinfectant known), and dry in a warm room; cold water hardens flannels and drying in cold air shrinks them. Ask your grocer for it. Eckers' Soaps will wash with or without boiling or scalding.

COAL! COAL!
TO ALL CONCERNED!
We would be pleased to call your attention to the fact that we are this season buying direct from first hands and at first cost which will enable us to sell at low figures. The buying community will find it to their interest to give us a call before purchasing elsewhere. Will be receiving monthly until further notice.
Respectfully,
ju4. J. D. BACCHUS.

TO ALL PERSONS
Interested in Coal
WE, having made arrangement by which we have our COAL shipped direct from the mines to Chestertown, perhaps it would be to your interest to call and see us before buying elsewhere.
