SATURDAY MORNING.....Nov. 20, 1886.

CHESTERVILLE AND VICINITY.

MESSRS. EDITORS: — There has been a great "slaughter of the innocents" hereabouts within a week. Many a burly piggie has bitten the dust and wallowed in his gore the past few days. If capable of reasoning we suppose they soliloquized thus: "Might as well have died of cholera as to be butchered like a hog at last." By the way the cholera or some other disease has been making sad havoc among the swine in this part of the county for two months past. It is generally conceded, we believe, that a hog is possessed of the devil. Query: What becomes of the devil when the hog dies of the cholera, or has his throat cut?

The mouse crop this year seems to be very abundant. Like the stars of the firmament they cannot be numbered. The good housewife cries "Mice to the left of me, mice to the right of me, mice all around me! nibble and peck. And they are naughty mice, and bold mice, for they make their beds on fur capes, in bureau drawers, in velvet bonnets, &c., and nibble off a fellow's fingers while he sleeps. Traps are in demand. We know of a granary-keeper who claims to have caught one hundred and eighty-two mice in one week. We trust his fate will not be like that of Hatto, Archbishop of Mentz, who it is said was devoured by a legion of rats, although taking refuge in his tower on the Rhine.

Policeman C. Wright Medders, of Baltimore, has been visiting friends in Kent this week. The service appears to agree with Wright — he looks hearty and, with overcoat, brings down the scales at 287 pounds.

A remarkable phenomenon — a Methodist minister selling chickens. We wot of one, but will not name him for fear his brethren will demand that he immediately itinerate.

We have seen many large houses, but never one yet ample enough to hold two families.

Mr. Chas. E. Craner has very much improved his house in Chesterville by recent repairs. Mr. Peter Stevens has bought of Chas. T. Westcott, Esq., the old Stradley house in Chesterville. He takes possession January 1.

The protracted meeting in the Church South has closed. The effort resulted in many conversions. Rev. T. L. Tomkinson, pastor of Galena circuit, expects shortly to begin a protracted meeting in the M. E. Church at Chesterville.

A stack of fodder, standing in the midst of ricks of provender, on the farm of Dennis Nowland, Esq., near Locust Grove, took fire last Tuesday evening and burned up. Mr. Nowland was absent at the time, but the fire was discovered by Garrett Foxwell, Esq., a neighbor, who with his own and Mr. Nowland's forces so managed as to save the other fodder, the granary and stabling, which were but a few feet off. Mr. Nowland thinks if it had not been for Mr. Foxwell's promptness and generalship all of his buildings as well as his provender would have been destroyed.

Mr. W. Thos. Jones, of this neighborhood, is now recovering from typhoid fever. WALTER.

LETTER FROM ROCK HALL.

EDITORS KENT NEWS: — Among the incidents occurring here during the week the organization of the Ladies' Temperance Union association following the able address of Mrs. Washington, delivered in the Methodist Church, can be mentioned as a pleasing one to many, old and young, who composed the meeting. The society was organized by the election of Mrs. Ada Satterfield as president, Mrs. Anna Smithman secretary and Miss Ella Ashley as treasurer. The object of the society having for its foundation the elevation of the human race by dispensing with the sale of intoxicating drink, thereby saving the misery and distress following the license granted to saloons and low groggeries. Every one can take a hand in it, be they Catholic, Jew, Methodist, Episcopalian or Quaker, hence the hope is expressed that the Rock Hall association may prove a success and will be represented not only in our county conventions but also in the State and national conventions as the temperance unions are being rapidly organized throughout the country. Mrs. W. informed the meeting that the collection exceeded that of Chestertown. The fifteen hundred votes cast at our last election in this Congressional district indicates that the Eastern Shore is not behind in the great improvements going on in our times. The many improvements and the busy workmen of your town which you mention in your last issue must be conclusive evidence that stopping the public sale of whiskey has not ruined the town, as many had the check to say it would. Although it may be sold on the sly we think honest, upright judges and juries will yet make it too hot for the violators of the law, and moral sentiment rebel against the drunkard; so, in time, the secret dens will find new customers.

Mrs. James Downey has returned from Baltimore after spending four weeks at the Baltimore Medical College and Maryland Hospital, having had during the time a large cancerous tumor removed from the breast by Prof. Scharff of the college. She seems perfectly well satisfied and speaks highly of the kind treatment received there. It may be in place to say that Kent county is entitled to a free bed there and at present it is vacant, subject to a permit from the commissioners. Without this operation Mrs. D. could have lived but a short time, as the tissues were rapidly breaking down.

The great University of Johns Hopkins is spending thousands of dollars seeking the mysteries of life in the ocean. Can't a little be spent in the effort to find the mysteries of death on the land. Many farmers have lost and are still losing their hogs; fowls are dying by the thousand and there must be a cause for it, and this richly endowned institution could not better carry out the views of its founder (who had an eye to the interests of Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina,) than seeking the cause of death as well as that of life on the ocean bottom. What is killing many fowls is the formation of a membrane on the end of the tongue, which seems to prevent them from eating; hence they linger and die from starvation and waste away to mere bone and feathers. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure"—can the prevention be suggested is the question to be solved? The removal of the membrane is said to effect a cure, but I know this will not prevent death and I speak from the standpoint of sad experience.

The wild geese, swan and ducks are behind time this season, but the cold northwest wind which has been blowing so fiercely the past forty-eight hours is well calculated to hurry them on and thereby making things lively with those who enjoy the sport of gunning for them.

Our worthy ex-postmaster is getting ready for his crystal wedding soon to take place, and with a fair specimen and a full supply of home-made young ladies the occasion will no doubt be an interesting one. OCCASIONAL.

Items From Masseys.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The protracted meeting still continues at the M. E. Church and the altar is nightly crowded with penitents.

Mr. Turpin Meginnis, an estimable citizen, has been very ill at his residence near here, but he is now somewhat better.

Among the changes to take place at the end of the year rumor says that Mr. F. H. Greenwood will leave the Central Hotel and go to Chestertown, while Mr. J. T. Hall will leave the Railroad House and take up his residence at the Central.

The farmers are now busy cribbing their corn and soon Mr. J. N. Huey, of this place, with his Little Giant Machine will be shelling at the rate of 2500 bushels per day. NAMROD.

Another Problem.

MASSEYS, November 11, 1886.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Your correspondent, Mr. Paul M. Strayer is correct in his answer to problem in your issue of 6th inst., "Sweet 16." In his problem he does not give the full dimensions of the brick used in the wall. We presume they are 4 inches wide and find his age to be 22 years and his father's 50.—Am I correct?

I will submit one more and will not trespass again:

I measured the shadow of a 15 foot pole in the morning, which was 682 feet, while the shadow of a house measured 275 feet; 3 hours later the shadow of the house measured 18 feet, when the shadow of the flag pole measured 45 feet; near noon the shadow of the flag pole measured 12½ feet, while the shadow of a monument measured 2½ feet; late in the evening the shadow of the monument measured 116½ feet, when the shadow of a tree standing near by measured 213 8-9 ft. How high was this tree? SUB CHIEL.

No one seems to know whether Senator Jones, of Florida, intends to make his appearance in Washington this winter. Those just from Detroit say that at last accounts he was still walking around that town in a vacant, abstracted kind of way, but that he has long since ceased to be an object of notice, and people take no account of his coming or going. He must be perfectly conscious that his political era will be ended for good on the 4th of March next. Since his absence from the Senate he has never failed to send on regularly every month for his pay. Some of those who used to associate with him here say they doubt that he will ever show himself in the Senate again, as he would dread the jokes and ridicule he would be certain to encounter.—Cor. Balt. Sun.

Big Racing in Queen Anne's.

The challenge published by Mr. Washington Bishop, of Church Hill, owner of Lightning, Jr., offering to match his horse against E. B. Emory's Avonmore for $500 a side, has created considerable talk and excitement among the horsemen of the county during the past week. The Observer says Mr. Emory immediately accepted the challenge and named Easton as the place of meeting. It is understood that Friday was the day named for putting up the money and Mr. Emory was in Centreville on that day ready to put up his share but as the backers of Lightning, Jr., did not put in an appearance, it is alleged by the friends of Avonmore that Mr. Bishop has backed out. This can hardly be the case as Mr. Bishop in all probability knew what he was doing when he issued the challenge and cannot well back out now that it has been accepted by Mr. Emory. It is believed that Mr. Bishop will be in Centreville today and that the arrangements necessary will be consummated. Considerable bad blood has been engendered between the friends of the different horses, but so far none has been spilled. A letter to the Baltimore American, dated Nov. 12, says:

"A ripple of excitement is now pervading trotting circles throughout Queen Anne's and Talbot counties, owing to a challenge offered by Washington Bishop, of Church Hill, to match his young trotter, Lightning, Jr., against Edw. B. Emory's colt, Avonmore, for a purse of $1,000—$500 a side. This challenge is the outgrowth of the numerous exciting contests of speed during the past season. Mr. Rathell, of Talbot, propose to increase the purse to $1,500, and enter Wedgewood, a promising goer, who made a sudden and successful entrance into Queen Anne's races at Belton and Taylc: parks. The race is to be mile heats, best three in five, to be trotted on either the Easton or Herring Run tracks on Wednesday, November 24. This promises to be the trotting event of the season, and as all the horses have been frequent winners during the year, they have many friends and enthusiastic backers. Mr. Emory has accepted the challenge, and it is supposed that all necessary arrangements will be perfected in the course of a few days."

An Interesting Case to Fishermen.

From the Centreville Record of Saturday.

The case of the State vs. Capt. Wm. Weiler, of Baltimore, charged with catching fish in the waters of Chester river, which was tried at the recent session of court, will prove an interesting one to fishermen of this and Kent counties. The preliminary proceedings were published in the Record last August, when Capt. Weiler was arrested and taken before Justice C. J. B. Mitchell, of Queenstown. At the trial before the justice Capt. Weiler admitted that he was a non-resident of the county, and he was adjudged "guilty" under the 4th section of the Act of 1886, regulating the taking of fish in Chester river and tributaries, from which judgment he appealed to the circuit court.

The case was heard last Tuesday upon an argued statement of facts. Thos. C. Weeks, Esq., of Baltimore, and T. L. W. Harley, Esq., of the Centreville Bar appeared for Capt. Weiler and P. B. Hopper in presenting the case to the court, said he relied upon the 4th section of the Act of 1886, which prohibits any but bona fide residents of Kent and Queen Anne's counties from fishing in Chester river.

The counsel for Capt. Weiler, Messrs. Weeks and Harley, contended that this section was unconstitutional upon the ground that the Legislature had no right to confer special privileges upon the citizens of any county to fish in the waters of this State to the exclusion of citizens residing in other sections, and that the waters were free alike to all to fish and navigate. The case was ably and forcibly argued upon this point by both gentlemen. Held sub curia. The Law was passed to prevent Baltimore seine-haulers from coming into Chester river and capturing and destroying fish. The decision of the court is looked for with great interest.

A CLOSE VOTE.—A recount of the vote cast for Assemblyman in the district embracing Paterson, N. J., resulted, after several alternations of elation and depression on the part of the rival candidates, in the conclusion that Carroll, the democratic candidate, was elected by one majority. This makes certain the election of a democratic Senator from New Jersey.

BALTIMORE MARKET.—The Baltimore papers of yesterday quote as follows:

WHEAT—Longberry 86c.@88c.; Fultz, 84c.@86c. for fair to good. CORN—White, prime, 44@46; yellow, 43@45. OATS—30.
