Fred.k Oct.r 18th 1837.

Dear Sir

The confidence Mother and myself feel in your friendly feelings towards us, induces us to give you the trouble of procuring some articles to send by the next expedition. Mother thinks that one barrel of flour, half a barrel of crackers, and three barrels of meal, might be sufficient of bread stuff. But she wishes to consult you and Dr Holmes upon the subject. Any information you can obtain from Dr H. she would be glad to have if you would communicate to her. Should the above mentioned quantity of breadstuff, not (in your opinion) be sufficient, she would wish you to send more for Lancelot. She would greatly prefer he should have too much than too little. We have been informed, that kiln dried flour, and meal, are to be obtained in Baltimore of good quality. Please let us hear from you as soon as possible whether such can be obtained. Lancelot wishes to have a barrel of good pippin apples, there last we
