"Index" and "Occasional" column harmony amount almost to a mutual criticism of each other, and we are indulged in a longer series of articles than we otherwise should have done. There is one thing deserving of notice, viz., Fred Downey's crystal wedding. The present were all very pretty, kindly and interesting was the galaxy of five hundred and "the bride" with which they have wedded life in the fifteen years of wedded life.

In that time Mr. Downey, commencing with a capital of industry and integrity, has raised himself to comfortable if not competent affluence, and what is more, is entirely self-made. He has a collateral inheritance of $10,000, which he has used to benefit the neighborhood as well as himself: especially the cemetery, which he has caused to be beautified, and which he has distributed thousands of dollars to the working people of the place—worthy women and children—induced to better themselves in the light of every day's domestic superintendence.

The cold and wind together made things appear very few for several days. We had from three to four fathoms of snow, but from the ice and mud under the snow, and where two were stranded during the northwest wind of the 24th.

Not long since the Knights of Pythias delivered their new ball to the Goddess of Grace in which the beauty and gallantry of the ladies and country boys were in evidence.

The light fantastic toe and dancing of the ladies was nearly exhausted.

Why does not some nobleman get up a lubricated entertainment for the night of the 24th? It would be a grand thing.

Gunning thus far seems an entire failure, hardly any ducks can be seen, and those are not anxious to be shot. The best few seen and those on the way, but have heard of any being captured as yet. Can it be the mild weather of the last few days?

The hopes of our longers to get out and fish their fall weather has thus far been disappointed. The prices are better than they were a few days ago, but the fish are not so numerous. The fish are not so numerous. The fish are not so numerous. The fish are not so numerous.

Millington and Chesterton Notes.

ACQUITT.—December 13, Mr. W. S. Merritt, a year ago, from which he has only partly recovered, has been taken to his home on the grand jury's order, and will be tried on the 19th inst. He is now in the
