Brother Young

Dr Sir

According to my promise I embrace the present opportunity to write you a line or so, to let you know that I am still spared. God has wonderfully blessed me since I have been in Africa. He has made me satisfied, that at times I have set down to eat and nothing before my wife & myself but potatoes and water, God blessed it and blessed our souls and made us thankful. God has also converted my wife who came forward of her own accord and attached herself to my church. I have been made a leader of a class. I have been licenced to preach, and God has owned and blessed my unworthy labours. I have been made instrumental in saving many precious lives. Were I to continue, I fear I should weary you. Africa is my home, if nothing turns up more than what I have seen since I have been here. In this very house where I hold my class, and some times try
