Rec'd Letter
Annapolis 18 January 38

From the opportunities I have had of marking proceedings in the House, and by intercourse and conversations with different members, I incline to the opinion that nothing of importance, adverse to the interests of our Cause, will be done during the present session.

Several adds have been passed and leaves granted. Most of these have reached the Committee on Colored population which I think, is composed of men of good judgment and who are disposed to adopt the course which, on calm reflection and investigation, may be judged most calculated to accomplish the great objects in which we all are so deeply interested; Mr Hayes, of Charles, is Chairman - a man of sound judgment and cool head. is decidedly opposed to ultra measures, and I think, equally disposed to co-operate with us in every measure touching the questions involved.

Mr Alexander of this City, and Mr Causin, said to be a fine speaker, from St Mary's, have consented to take part in our Centennial Anniversary. I shall try and engage the services of Judge Chambers and think with Mr Latrobe who by all means ought to speak, the meeting will engage attention
