& if so whether a passage could be secured for her emancipated servant. Should a conveyance be effected then fail Mr W. will himself visit Baltimore, in order to provide a proper outfit - a box of carpenters tools &c. & see her valuable servant - furnished with whatever may be necessary for his comfort & usefulness.

Mr Washington would consider it as a favour if you will have the goodness to inform her - or myself of the first conveyance to Africa - by which her servant can procure a passage - as she wishes to write to a friend in Virg.a to have this matter arranged & to fix the day when it will be necessary for him to be at Baltimore.

I am Dear Sir
with great respect & esteem
Yours very truly Sam.l Bayard
