CHESTERTOWN - SEPT. 3, 1887

Sweet Girl Voters.

When the right of suffrage is finally given to women, and they vote and hold their own, we may expect to hear candidates stand up in the following scathing manner by women at the polls:

"Who are you going to vote for, Bessie?"

"Oh, I really don't know. But don't you think it's just perfectly lovely for us to have the right to vote at all?"

"Oh, it's too awfully jolly for anything. But do you know I was just worried to death for fear Madame Men wouldn't have my dress done in time for election day?"

"But she did, I see, and it's just lovely. I was worried awfully over my election bonnet, but it came at the last moment, and I wouldn't have come near the polls. Are you going to vote for Mamie Berkeley for city treasurer?"

"No, I'm not. We've been out for a long time, and I think she's just horrid."

"I think so, too. She dresses away beyond her means now, and there's no living in the same town with her if she does city treasurer. What do you think of Mrs. St. John for mayor?"

"Oh, I think she'd be lovely. She has such a queenly manner and dresses in such perfect taste, but most of the girls are voting for Howard Perry for mayor; he's so handsome, you know."

"Oh, yes, but then he's so conceited, and self to half the girls in town just to secure their votes."

"The man, horrid thing!"

"What do you think of Mrs. Bantler for Congress?"

"I think she'd better stay at home and look after her children. There's six or seven of them running around here now peddling out her tickets. Do tell me, Jane, are my prizes all coming out?"

"No, they look lovely. How are mine?"

"Lovely! Your hair does look so beautifully. Look at Mr. Mosk electing her for his wife for representative. They say if she's elected she's going to leave her six weeks' old baby home with him while she goes to the capital for the legislative session."

"Think of it! And you told me, though I'd vote for Hugh. I've engaged to Helen Smythe, and I can't endure her. She's around here somewhere trying to get the other girls to vote for Hugh."

"I call that cheeky. But I shan't vote for him. Margie Montague is my candidate. She's going to invite me to Washington if she's elected."

"How lovely that would be! I've half a mind to vote for Margie myself. Do you know, Belle Fielding and Libbie Lavelle have had an awful quarrel over the office of City Comptroller?"

"No! How perfectly dreadful! Of buying up votes with French bonbons and boxes of toilet soap, and Belle told right out before everybody that right of Libbie's vote were false and that her lovely ways are not her own?"

"No! I've Libbie I'd never forgive her. I intended voting for her, but I shan't now. I cannot conscientiously vote for a girl who could deliberately give another girl away in that shameful manner. It's a mercy she didn't know all I know about Libbie, or the poor girl might have been mortified clear out of the campaign. I shall scratch Belle."

"I've scratched about everybody on my ticket."

"We have! Most of the girls running for offices are so horrid."

"So they are."

To Help Your Town.

Write about it. Write the streets. Be friendly to everybody. Elect good men to all offices. Keep your sidewalks in good repair. Ask all you can and buy all you can at home.

If you are rich invest in something and employ somebody.

Be courteous to strangers that come among you, so that they go away with good impressions.

Always cheer on the men who go in for improvements. Your portion of cost will be nothing but what is just.

Don't kick at any proposed improvements because it is not at your expense, or for fear that your taxes will be raised fifty cents.

TO HURT YOUR TOWN.

Maliciously sue public men.

Run it down to strangers, and go to some other town to trade.

Refuse to advertise in your home papers. Be particular to discredit the motives of public-spirited men.

Lengthen your face when a stranger speaks of looking in your place.

If a man wants to buy your property charge him two prices for it.

If he wants anything else, interfere and discourage.

Refuse to see the merit in any scheme that does not directly benefit you.

A young married man from Birmingham, Ala., is crazy at a hotel in Spartanburg, S. C. He is said to be a raving maniac, and the doctors attribute the cause solely to his excessive indulgence in the cigarette.

Some one comes forward with the theory that cigarette smoking tends to a softening of the brain. This is not exactly right, but softening of the brain tends to cigarette smoking.

HERESY—I am afraid it is not for me that you come here so often, but for my money. And what worse?—You are cruel to say so. How can I get your money without getting you?

A colored gentleman was heard to remark: "Time are changed, and the hog has local currency, but wire fence as a game to ruin a country."

MR. JAMES F. MELVIN, a former editor of the Cambridge Chronicle, has bought the Cambridge Democrat, published at Westminster, and will take charge of the paper at once.

A TEXAS photographer advertises to "take a photograph as quick as a wink and a kick." It will be a killing picture, of course.

AS YET it is undetermined which is the worst—the man who can sing and won't, or the man who can't sing and will.
