..NOT..

for my own interest entirely but for yours, too, I am going to make a change in my store and location. I have fully decided to move from the store I am now occupying to a much better store and location, and will add to the Jewelry business a very salable line of goods. In order to carry this out, I am compelled to reduce my stock that I have on hand, and the only way to sell it is to let it go for what it will bring. I have therefore decided to have regular sales, mostly Saturdays and Saturday nights. Will sell my entire line of

Clocks
Silver Plated
Hollow-ware
Rogers' Silverware
Domestic
Sewing Machines

Will also sell some Watches and Jewelry, mostly for ladies; Spectacles, Eye-Glasses, etc. The sale will begin NEXT SATURDAY, July 8. Read this advertisement carefully and bear in mind that "opposition is the life of trade." I aks the patronage of the public. I remain with all my strength to serve the public.

Respectfully,

To Be Married.—Mr. and Mrs. William Steel Evans have issued invitations for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rebecca Steel Evans, to Mr. Reginald Constable, on Wednesday evening, October 25th, at six o'clock, at the Elkton Presbyterian Church.

Damaged by Fire.—S. A. Collins, the undertaker, formerly of Smyrna, was damaged by a fire at Townsend Wednesday morning which burned his stable and carriage house down entailing a loss of about a $1000. His horses were fortunately saved, but his large black hearse and a lot of harness were completely consumed. The stable belonged to Mrs. Emily Finley. The insurance on stable was $125. Mr. Collins had an insurance of $450 on the hearse and harness.

Nearly Suffocated by Gas.—William Chance, watchman on the Centreville Branch of the D. M. & V. Ry. Co., was found unconscious in the engine cab early Thursday morning. As the wind was blowing quite fresh Wednesday night, he fastened the curtain of the cab tightly, and it is supposed that he fell off in a doze and the gas from the engine overcame him. His physician had very little hope for his recovery Thursday evening, but he was much better Saturday and he will be ready for duty in a few days.

Mother Saved Child.—In an endeavor to save her children from serious injury on Friday, Mrs. Theodore Kershaw, of Dover, Del., caught her forearm upon a big fish-hook and is under the treatment of a surgeon. Mrs. Kershaw saw her little children getting after her husband's fishing tackle and, knowing that he had some large and ugly snood hooks among it, she rushed in to remove them to a place of safety. She had to wrest one of the snood lines away from a child and, in doing so, swung the hook around until it imbedded itself almost its entire length in her forearm. Dr. W. F. Davis, who was summoned, found the woman in great pain and with her arm terribly swollen. He had to make an incision to the bottom of the hook in order to extricate the inverted spears on the extreme end. The surgeon is now trying to fight off blood poisoning or tetanus, as the hook was rusty and made an ugly wound.

OBJECT TO "JIM-CROW" SCHOOL.

The Negroes In A Pennsylvania Town Sue For Mandamus.

Pittsburg, Oct 14.—The Board of Education of McMahon Borough, a suburb of Monessen, Pa., has stirred up much ill feeling between the white and colored citizens by establishing a "Jim-Crow" school.

The negroes assert there is no law in the State to compel them to send their children to the new school and the board which maintains it is acting within the provisions of the law by supplying a school and teacher has ordered the truant officer to enforce attendance.

This afternoon the Afro-American Republican League went into the county courts at Greensburg and secured a writ of mandamus against the school board, compelling it to show cause why negro children should not be permitted to attend the public schools.

The rule is returnable next Friday.

WHARVES BADLY DAMAGED.

Highest Tide of the Year—Portions of Piers at Tolchester, Chesapeake Beach and on Choptank River Wrecked.

Reports of heavy damage to Chesapeake bay wharf property by the great storm that swept down on the bay and its tributaries Wednesday were brought in by the captains of arriving steamers The tide, according to all reports, was the highest of the year, and was accompanied by waves of tremendous force.

The fine pier of the Tolchester company at Tolchester beach was badly wrecked on the shore end, and a portion of the heavy stone work in front of the large hotel was washed out. The pierhead was left intact and landings have been made despite the fact that the floor and heavy timbers near the shore had been wrenched from their places as if they had been piece of pasteboard instead of the finest material known to the most experienced wharf builders. Superintendent Geo. E. Noland began to fear trouble early in the day, when the constantly rising tide reached within a few inches of the heavy girders that form the foundation for the planking of the floors. The wind veered around, piling up a tremendous swell against the rocking timbers, and it soon became evident that the wharf structure was doomed. The long spikes were drawn out and twisted as if they had been straws, and the planks and sills were soon piled for some distance along the bay shore.

The long upper wharf at Chesapeake Beach is reported to have several long breaks in it, and the damage, so far as could be seen by passing captains, is heavy. The structure is a quarter of a mile in length. The outer pierhead is standing and is thought to have escaped serious damage.

Oystershell wharf, on the Choptank river, was also badly wrecked by the high tide, which tore off the boards of the flooring and did other damage.

Water rose into the warehouse of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company at Centreville, on the Corsica river, and did considerable damage to fertilizer and other freights. The big pier escaped damage.
