SATURDAY, - DECEMBER 22, 1906

TUESDAY next is Christmas Day.

"PEACE on earth, good will to men," is the song the Angels sang. May it find an echo in each breast to-day.

THE Cecil County School Board has decided to charge a tuition fee of $5 per term to all pupils from outside of the county.

BISHOP MCCABE, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, died in New York Wednesday. He was one of the ablest men in that denomination and was known far and wide. His recent visit and lecture in Chestertown will be recalled and his cheering conversations always remembered. His devoted wife has the sympathy of a large circle of friends.

CHRISTMAS is here once more, and all the earth resounds with joy and gladness. At no time of the year is the tide of human kindness so full. Expressions of love and friendship are seen in almost every home. The cares and perplexities of life are, for the time, entirely forgotten, and all Christian people join in the great celebration of the birth of Christ, and in emulating his spirit and life. Why not imbibe enough of the spirit of the occasion to sweeten and cheer our lives for a whole twelve month.

A HAPPY CHRISTMAS,

The NEWS heartily wishes all its readers the best Christmas they have ever enjoyed. To attain this end let unselfishness abound.

Selfishness always defeats itself. Things are so constituted in this world that we can not hoard the best things for ourselves. If we do, we lose them. The best qualities evaporate from money when we try to hoard it in a miserly way. We must pass it along, make it do something useful, make it help somebody before we can get the best out of it.

People who try to keep, for themselves, all the good things of life: their sympathies, their helpfulness, their encouragement, their services, their best things, lose them.

We are so constituted that we can not enrich ourselves so much by direct self-giving as by giving to others. It is the reflex action from our giving that enriches us. If we hoard and hold our good it evaporates. The only way to make it ours permanently is to help others first.

It seems to be a law of life that we lose what we are stingy of and try to retain; but whatever we give we retain.

There is nothing so hollow, so disappointing, as a selfish greedy life. It does not matter how much money a man has, if he does not care for his fellowmen, if he has a stony heart, if his affections are marbleized, he does not arouse any admiration, or love; he enjoys no real happiness.

This is a good time to open hearts and purses, to begin to live the life of freedom, of kindness, of generosity, and of unselfish love. The spirit of Christmas is the spirit of the Christ,—to give freely, unstintedly; to give of one's treasure, o oneself, without hope of reward.

A great many people think that because they are not able to give Christmas gifts, because they can not give money or what it will buy, they can give nothing. How little we realize that the best thing anybody can ever give in this world is not money, clothing, fuel or provisions, but himself.

I know a lady who is very poor. She has no money to give to the poor at Christmas. But she goes around for days before Christmas, visiting every person she hears of being sick or crippled or unfortunate, everyone who has any trouble, whether she knows him or not. And she gives out such a wealth of love, of sympathy, of encouragement, good cheer, and sunshine, that these people feel enriched. The material things they receive are cold and unsympathetic in comparison with what this poor woman gives them.

The spirit of Christmas is the Christ spirit, the helpful spirit. It is the giving of what Christ gave. He had no money to give,—He was the poorest of the poor,—but did ever any Croesus have so much to give? Did any millionaire ever radiate so much power and hope to the discouraged, so much good cheer to the disheartened, or so much comfort to the sick and the sorrowing?

IN ITS report, the Cecil Grand Jury strongly recommend the building of a new Court House, and Judge Pearce, in discharging the Jury endorsed very heartily that recommendation, saying that the present building was not only inadequate for public business, but that it was inconsistent with the wealth and importance of the county.

THE stores in Chestertown rival any place in the country for the variety and immensity of stock, the artistic display of goods and courtesy of clerks. Buy all you can at home and you will benefit yourself as well as your home merchant.

THE Lincoln Bank at Morton Park, Chicago, went into the hands of a receiver Tuesday and the Court ordered an examination of Wm. J. Atkinson, proprietor. Only $350 in cash was found in the bank of the $100,000 deposits.

Roosevelt Sticks to Order.

President in a strong message to the Senate stands firm in his action discharging the colored soldiers. He says I ordered the discharge of nearly all the members of Companies B, C and D of the Twenty-fifth Infantry, by name, in the exercise of my constitutional power and in pursuance of what, after full consideration, I found to be my constitutional duty as Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army. * * * If any organization of troops in the service, white or black, is guilty of similar conduct in the future I shall follow precisely the same course." The President has found the charges true against these negro troops—that the attack was made near midnight on August 13. The following facts as to this attack are made clear by Major Blocksom's investigation and have not been, and, in my judgement, cannot be, successfully controverted. From 9 to 15 or twenty of the colored soldiers took part in the attack. They leaped over the walls from the barracks and hurried through the town. They shot at whoever they saw moving, and they shot into houses where they saw lights. In some of these houses there were women and children, as the would-be murderers must have known. In one house in which there were two women and five children some 10 shots went through at a height of about 4½ feet above the floor, one putting out the lamp upon the table. The lieutenant of police of the town heard the firing and rode toward it. He met the raiders, who as he stated, were about 15 colored soldiers. They instantly started firing upon him. He turned and rode off, and they continued firing upon him until they had killed his horse. They shot him in the right arm (it was afterward amputated above the elbow.)

Killed Man, Shot Into Homes.

"They shot into a saloon, killing the bartender and wounding another man. At the same time other raiders fired into another house in which women and children were sleeping, two of the shots going through the mosquito bar over the bed in which the mistress of the house and her two children were lying. Several other houses were struck by bullets. It was at night, and the streets of the town were poorly lighted, so that none of the individual raiders was recognized; but the evidence of many witnesses of all classes was conclusive to the effect that the others were negro soldiers.
