Hangs Himself in Jail.

Joseph O'Brian, an insane prisoner, committed suicide Sunday night or early Monday morning in the Easton jail by hanging, using a leather strap taken from an old hand satchel in which he kept his clothing. This is the first time in the history of Talbot County that anyone has ever committed suicide within the jail, or any of its public institutions.

O'Brian was an upright and industrious citizen of Oxford, where for the past 20 years he spent his winters in running a dredge boat. In the summer he would leave Oxford and go to his home in New York, where it is said he was highly connected. For some reason, however, he would never speak of his relatives.

In January last he complained of not being able to sleep, and, after trying medicines and narcotics, took to drink. On January 26 he attempted to kill J. Herbert Harris, one of his most intimate friends. He was arrested and confined in jail, where he exhibited undoubted signs of insanity. A Commission in Lunacy was appointed, which on Saturday held him insane, and Judge Adkins ordered him removed to the State asylum at Springfield, where he was to have been taken Monday.

Sheriff Gannon Monday morning found O'Brian hanging dead. The cell was so low that O'Brian fastened the strap around his neck, and after tying it to the top of the cell door, pulled it tight by bending his legs at his knees and remaining in that position until he choked to death. His remains were interred in the public lot in Spring Hill Cemetery, Rev. James C Comiskey officiating.

The "Marvin" Hard Luck.

A strange recurrence of losses appear to follow the Marvin family. Dr. Marvin, who has already lost two wives and a big fortune which he made in Sioux City, has now suffered the loss of his favorite child. Harvey Marvin, the South Dakota man, who came to Dover and spent nearly a month in the search, lost his wallet while here. Now Howard Marvin, the doctor's son, who is in charge of the big farm, has lost his gold watch, which was highly prized as a gift.

Superintendent F. P. Dimaio, of the Baltimore Pinkertons, was seen in Dover having returned and resumed important work in connection with the Marvin abduction case. It was rumored that Mr. Dimaio had secured some valuable new information, but, as usual, nothing would be divulged by the Pinkertons.

Dr. Marvin continues to receive crank and strike letters begging for an enclosure of from one hundred to one thousand dollars whereupon he will get back his little Horace, but he is still urged by the detectives to pay no attention to the letters in so far as losing his pocketbook is concerned.

WHAT COW PEAS DO.

The New Jersey experiment station recently experimented feeding milk cows with cowpea hay, and found that with the cowpeas ration milk was made at a cost of 39.8 cents per 100 pounds, while the cost on a grain ration was 60.5 cents. On the grain ration the cows produced 8.3 per. cent. more milk and 15.2 per cent. more butter, but comparison of the price of feeds showed a large balance in favor of the cowpeas ration. Why not plan to sow a few acres to cowpeas next season?

An unusual phenomenon has been observed at Delaware City recently, in the canal near the pivot bridge, The herring, and they are countless in number, sprang from the water in a solid body of millions, jumping about two feet and making a noise that is only compared to a rushing roar. It is thought they do this in order to get more fresh air, as they are dying by the thousands.

Heartburn

What is commonly called heartburn is nothing more or less than sour stomach or accidity of the stomach It is usually a concomitant with dyspepsia or indigestion, frequently caused by the use of tobacco or spiritus liquors and want of proper exercise. Sugar, sweets and saccharine vegetables, such as are easily turned sour in the stomach, should be avoided, and plenty of exercise taken. The following formula will remove these conditions promptly and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription druggist: Kastor Compound, 1 oz.; Fluid Extract Cascar Aromatic, 1 oz.; Tr. Cinchona Compound, 2½ oz.

FLUE CURING IMPROVES TOBACCO LIKE ROASTING IMPROVES GREEN COFFEE

Flue Curing Develops the Stimulating Aroma and Taste Found in Schnapps that Satisfies Tobacco Hunger

There are three ways used by farmers for curing and preparing their tobacco for the market; namely, sun cured, air cured and flue cured. The old and cheap way is called air cured; the later discovery and improved way is called flue cured. In flue-curing the tobacco is taken from the field and suspended over intensely hot flues in houses especially built to retain the heat, and there kept in the proper temperature until this curing process developes in the tobacco the stimulating taste and fragrant aroma found in Schnapps tobacco, just as green coffee is made fragrant and stimulating by the roasting process. Only choice selections of this ripe, juicy flue cured leaf, grown in the famous Piedmont country, where the best tobacco grows, are used in Schnapps and other Reynolds' brands of high grade, flue cured tobaccos.

Hundreds of imitation brands are on sale that look like Schnapps; the outside of the imitation plugs of tobacco is flue cured, but the inside is filled with cheap, flimsy, heavily sweetened air cured tobacco; one chew of Schnapps will satisfy tobacco hunger longer than two chews of such tobacco.

Expert tests prove that this flue cured tobacco, grown in the famous Piedmont region, requires and takes less sweetening than any other kind, and has a wholesome, stimulating, satisfying effect on chewers. If the kind of tobacco you are chewing don't satisfy, more than the mere habit of expectorating, stop fooling yourself and chew Schnapps tobacco.

Schnapps is like the tobacco chewers formerly bought costing from 75c. to $1.00 per pound; Schnapps is sold at 50c. per pound in 5c. cuts, strictly 10 and 15 cent plugs.
