A Simple Mixture Highly Recommended for Dyspepsia.

The principal and general causes of dyspepsia and a whole train of distressing complaints resulting therefrom are produced from the present fashionable habits of luxury and intemperance. The disease might be well regarded as one of the most distressing, with which we may be afflicted. If taken in consideration and properly treated dyspepsia is as cureable a disease as any there is. The following simple prescription should be taken after each meal: Kastor Compound, 1 oz.; Fluid Extract Cascar Aromatic, 1 oz ; Tr. Cinchona Compound, 2½ ozs. Your local druggist can supply you with these ingredients at a small cost.

Kidney complaint kills more people than any other disease. Thie is due to the disease being so insidious that it gets a good hold on the system before it is recognized. Foley's Kidney Cure will prevent the development of fatal disease if taken in time.

Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup is best for women and children. Its mild action and pleasant taste makes it preferable to violent purgatives, such as pills, tablets, etc. Get the booklet and a sample of Orino at all druggists.

REAL COUNTRY LIFE.

Why the American Farmer Grows Old Early in Life.

Any one who has lived on a farm does not need to be told the reason farmers grow old early, for he knows of the strain under which the American farmer lives during the five months of spring and summer. His workday is from 4 or 5 in the morning until 8 or 9 at night, including chores— fifteen to seventeen hours of the hardest kind of physical labor, and every minute of it at high tension, especially during harvest. Then comes a period of relaxation in the fall, the one time in the year when he has just enough muscular exercise to keep him in health; later, the winter season, approaching stagnation, in which he takes on flesh, gets "logy," and then a furious debauch of hard labor through the spring and summer again. No wonder that by forty-five he has had a sun-stroke and "can't stand the heat," or has "a weak back," or his "heart gives out," or a chill "makes him rheumatic," and when you add to this furious muscular strain the fact that the farmer sees his income put in peril every season and his very home every bad year, so that each unfavorable change in the weather sets his nerves on edge, it can be readily imagined that the real "quiet, peaceful country life" is something sadly different from the ideal."—Woods Hutchinson, M. D., in Harper's.

A GREAT EGG RECORD.

Mr. C. P. Cochran of this town, who is breeding the rose comb Rhode Island Red chickens, has a very fine lot of these birds, and during the past five months he has kept a complete record of the eggs layed by 97 pullets, and it is very gratifying to Mr. Cochran and hard to surpass by any of the great laying strains. His pullets commenced laying in November but Mr. Cochran did not begin keeping a complete record until December 1st, and the following figures of the five months laying speak for themselves: In December they layed 825 eggs; in January 1222 eggs; in February 905 eggs: in March 1422, and in April 1756. During the past three months many of the hens that had layed during the whole winter were broody. Who can beat this record? —Middletown Transcript.

School Children Going to Annapolis.

Arrangements have been made by Governor Warfield to receive the senior classes of the high schools of Centreville, Cambridge, Easton, Trappe, Denton and St. Michaels on Friday, May 17. The students will be received by the Governor and Mrs. Warfield at the Government House. Their visit will be in acceptance of the general invitation extended by the Governor to the senior classes of the above named high schools. The state steamer McLane will convey the pupils, with their respective principals, to and from Annapolis.

How to Choose Beef.—There is special enjoyment to the experienced housekeeper in watching or listening to a bride struggling with her first order to the butcher or grocer. Indeed, it is only long years of experience which teaches the purchaser how to select the best for her needs without running beyond the amount she wishes to pay. She has to learn for just how many meals the roast suffice and how large a one to order in the first place. Most housekeepers try to make a Sunday's roast do for Monday's dinner and Tuesday's breakfast. But before she does that she must know how to select the meat in the first place. Good beef should have a dark red color when first cut, changing to brighter red or cherry after a few moments exposure to the air. A bluish or dull dark red looking piece should be avoided. The bones and sinews should be comparatively small, and the meat should not be too fat. A mottled appearance is the indication of the proper amount of fat. Mutton, which is in season all the year around, is not so economical as beef. While it usually costs less than beef, it must be fat to be good, and the fat, unlike that of beef, cannot be used in cooking on account of its strong flavor, so in the end it is much more costly. The best mutton is from small boned, short legged, plump animals. Lean mutton is usually not so good. The fat should be yellow, with flabby, bluish and stringy meat. While the leg commands the highest price, it is also the most economical, as it has the most meat. The fore quarters are usually less and make delicious roasts, though they have little meat. Good rib chops may be cut from a well selected breast, which is the cheapest cut of the animal. In lamb select that which has hard, white fat on the back and about the kidneys and reddish colored bones. Let the buyer beware of more than one color in the fat of the hind quarters. Friday's dinner is usually fish, and the season of shad is a welcome one to the distracted provider. In buying fish see that the eyes are not sunken, but are clear and full and the gills red. The roe shad, while more expensive to buy, is cheaper in the end, because the roe makes a delicious luncheon or breakfast dish, while the fish itself is used for dinner.

THE STAM DRUG CO.

This man bought a supply of tobacco without acquainting himself with the distinctive taste of SCHNAPPS Tobacco, which has the cheering qualities that gratify his desire to chew, and at less expense than cheap tobacco.

SCHNAPPS has been advertised in this paper so that every chewer has had an opportunity to get acquainted with the facts and know that drugs are not used to produce the cheering quality found in the famous Piedmont country flue-cured tobaccos, and that SCHNAPPS is what he ought to chew. Still there are chewers who accept other and cheaper tobaccos that do not give the same pleasure.

Some day they'll get a taste of the real Schnapps—they'll realize what enjoyment they've missed by not getting SCHNAPPS long ago—then they'll feel like kicking themselves.

SCHNAPPS is sold everywhere in 5 cent cuts, and 10 and 15 cent plugs. Be sure you get the genuine.
