A Lesson in Health.

Healthy kidneys filter the impurities from the blood, and unless they do this good health is impossible. Foley's Kidney Cure makes sound kidneys and will positively cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease. It strengthens the whole system.

A man who is in perfect health, so he can do an honest day's work when necessary, has much for which he should be thankful. Mr. L. C. Rodgers, of Branchton, Pa., writes that he was not only unable to work, but he couldn't stoop over to tie his own shoes. Six bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure made a new man of him. He says, "Success to Foley's Kidney Cure."

If you will make inquiry it will be a revelation to you how many succumb to kidney or bladder troubles in one form or another. If the patient is not beyond medical aid, Foley's Kidney Cure will cure. It never disappoints.

W. R. Ward, of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." Sold by all druggists.

WILBUR W. HUBBARD'S FERTILIZERS

MUST HAVE

Superior quality and absolute Uniformity and Purity. This spring makes their 6th season in business and their trade has increased each year in spite of competition, their sales for the past year having been larger than ever before. Can the sales of an inferior article constantly increase all these years?

Our fertilizers are not better than all others, but they have been, and we are willing for you to try them in competition with any goods on the market.

WE PRESUME

you are now thinking about Asparagus, Corn, Potatoes, Peach Trees and top dressing your hay. Well we have the goods to apply and at all right prices.

BUT FOR TOMATOES

Everybody knows that our Peerless is the goods to use on them, for it has quality and is made of the very best materials known to the trade and one ingredient we use in it is the only phospate that contains this article outside of France where it has been used so successfully in tomato and truck fertilizer.

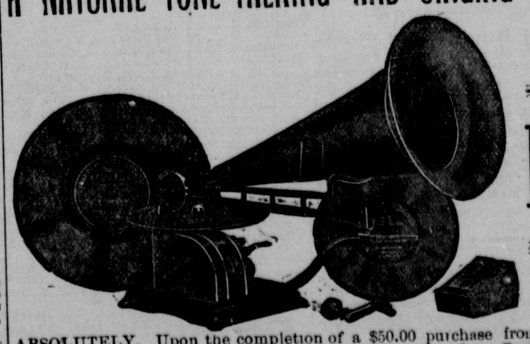

Mr. Jas. F. David of Smyrna says he grew with it last year the finest tomatoes he ever saw grow he picked a basket that weighed 1⅞ lbs. each. He grew onions that measured 13 inches in circumference. He grew corn some stalks 13½ feet high and ears 14 inches long. The late Captain Emory grew on one occasion 17 tons per acre. Mr. Zac T. Gilbert grew 19 tons to the acre. Mr. G. W. Collins has bought as high as 50 tons per year, and his men grew from 12 to 15 tons per acre. We have sold already in Anne Arundel county, the lower counties and New Jersey, hundreds of tons. Messrs. Baker and Morgan have bought as high as twelve hundred dollars worth; Captain Dashiel says he would have it if he had to give $50.00 per ton for same. Mr. Joseph Downey says when he was canning that he could actually tell the difference in tomatoes grown with Peerless when brought to his cannery. Mr. Numsen says he knows that tomatoes grown with our goods are fine. Mr. Frank Moore, who runs Assaw Bains & Co's cannery, says the best tomatoes brought there are from Peerless. Mr. Loose, a customer of his, says a ton of Peerless grew him $96.00 worth more tomatoes than another goods costing $7.00 less per ton. Mr. Money says it is certainly good. We could go on, but with a testimonial will close.

Unsolicited some time ago Mr. J. W. Elburn & Son came in our office and said: "I believe your Peerless to be the best tomato goods I ever saw. You remember what an advocate I was of it when I lived out at the mill. Well, wherever I have lived since, on the Western Shore or elsewhere, I would have it, and last year I put some of this same goods on some onions grown from the seed, and they were as fine as Burmudas. Many measured 4 inches in diameter, and I grew over 600 bushels per acre, or at rates of 1162 baskets. I used it on strawberries and picked 8000 quarts per acre.'

JOHN BARTLEY, Chestertown, Md.

The Greatest Of All Is Love

It is hardly possible to note the ending of Mrs. William McKinley's earthy days, without some grateful recognition of the gracious and helpful contribution to the ideal American home which is made by the beautiful story of General and Mrs. McKinley's married life. In these days, when the seamy side of domestic affairs is entirely too often exposed to the public gaze, it is just as well to remember that this is not the only side. There ARE homes where the home life runs on through the years with all the tender grace and idyllic beauty of the early courtship days. The McKinley home was one of them. Nothing could more charm the imagination, more delight the heart than the sweet, childlike trustfulness and admiration (worship shall I say?) with which this gentle woman leant upon the strength and tenderness of her distinguished husband; and nothing in all that great man's great career became him so, as the courtly grace and ceaseless thoughtfulness with which he cherished that wife's dependence and affection. As a young man, the Editor of the WHIG had the good fortune to be a guest at the same home with Mr. and Mrs. McKinley during one of his famous campaign circuits. I remember the power of his splendid oration that night, I remember the enthusiasm of the vast populace. I remember the absorbed, eager attention with which the little wife hung upon her husband's eloquent words. But above all, I remember, as though it were a chapter from some exquisite romance, how amidst all the claims upon his strength and time and attention, the great statesman and leader seemed never for a moment to forget the claims and presence of his invalid wife. It was his hand that led her down the stairs, that settled her comfortably in her carriage, that placed her chair at the table, that smoothed all her pathway along life's journey. No wonder that when her knightly husband lover was gone, ALL seemed gone from life for her. "Why should I linger," was her plaintive cry; "he has gone, life is dark I am weary and would rest." She has gone over the river and rests, not only in the bosom of her GOD, but in the waiting love of him for whom her soul so ceaselessly yearned.—Cecil Whig.

Baltimore Opposes it.

It is understood that there is a movement on foot in Baltimore to defeat the Ship Canal project. The reason for it is that the route recommended is not the one that would be most advantageous to Baltimore, and with the narrow selfishness that characterizes the business element of that city, it is feared that Philadelphia may be the gainer.

In the first place it would be well for Baltimore to realize that the United States government is not contemplating the construction of a Ship Canal across the Maryland—Delaware peninsula primarily for the improvement of the commerce of Baltimore. Its object is way beyond that. It is to afford additional facilities in case of war and to stimulate and increased coastwise commerce. In doing this Baltimore will receive considerable benefit. Her ocean going vessels will have a shorter and safer route to the open sea, and if she is alert and not too hidebound, she will get her share, if not more, of the increased commerce.

But because all national, and all other local advantages, were not rejected and a lower and more direct route chosen, it pleases the business people of Baltimore to oppose the whole project, and recently the Sun, had quite an editorial along that very line, advertising to the full the selfish, shortsighted feeling that actuates a city that ought to throw the whole weight of her influence toward securing this great improvement; an improvement that will mean much to Maryland and much, if they could only see it, to Baltimore.

Suppose it does afford the oystermen and others along the Chesapeake Bay with a better market for their produce, is that a good, honest and fair reason why Baltimore should seek to frustrate the project? Baltimore is the metropolis of Maryland and does her share toward the development, maintenance and prosperity of the commonwealth, but she also is benefited by it, and ought to be big enough and broad enough, to render all possible aid not only to the State of which she is an integral part, but also to the country of which she is one of the largest cities. Her natural advantages are too great for her to fear successful rivalry, unless she is hampered by her own constricted policy.—Cecil Democrat.

The case of B. F. Lee of Clayton, Del., for $10,000 damages against the Pennsylvania Railroad, Washington and Baltimore Railroad, Delaware Railroad, Delaware and Chesapeake Railroad and the Adams Express Company for injuries received by him while brakeman in the shifting yards at Clayton on October 16, 1903, was also heard. The case has been pending for several years. The Adams Express Company wanted the case against it separated from that of the railroad companies, but the court decided that it must be tried jointly. The case was tried before a jury, with Charles F. Seward, of Oxford, as foreman. The plaintiff was represented by State's Attorney J. Harry Covington and Seth & Wilson, of Easton, and the defendants by William S. Thomas, of Baltimore, and Col. James C. Mullikin, of Easton. This case was taken from the jury.

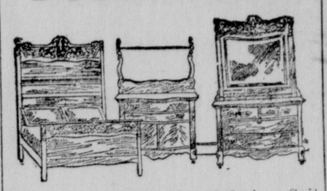

Fine Boats.—Capt. Percy Rawleigh has launched three fine gasoline boats the past week from his boat yard at the foot of Cannon St., Chestertown. Mr. Frank A. Greenwood is the owner of one of these and it is a speedy little yacht. Capt. Louis Stam has just installed a 11-horse power engine in the canoe of Mr. R. H. Collins making it one of the fastest crafts on the river.
