My Dear Sir

Yours of 12½ o'clock yesterday is received. I cannot understand what has become of Capt. Claypole's letters for I know that there are some of them in the package which I left on your desk. There is no letter of his here. I took out of the bundle of letters all that I saw for Balt — & Mr. Gurley sent the others off! So there are none left here. Mr Gurley will write to Capt. Selar to day to look carefully over his for Capt. Claypoles & send to you any he may find. His package was sent him by Adams & Co.'s Express — & some of Capt Claypoles may have escaped my scrutiny —

I am glad that you are well enough to be at the office — I hope you will get better daily — Yours truly
