Carolene L. Hynson, surviving Executrix of Richard Hynson, deceased, versus
Joel C. Slaughter, Mary Slaughter

In The Circuit Court for Kent County in Equity. No. 1662.

THE OBJECT of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain mortgaged property in Kent county, in the State of Maryland, which was on the 16th day of February, in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six mortgaged by the defendant, Joel C. Slaughter and Mary Slaughter, his wife, to Richard Hynson, since deceased, of whom the complainant is the surviving executrix.

The bill states that on or about the 16th day of February in the year 1886, the said Joel C. Slaughter and wife conveyed certain real estate which is described in the mortgage or conveyance and referred to in the bill, unto the said Richard Hynson in his life time, to secure the payment of the sum of one thousand dollars with interest thereon from the 30th day of January, in the year 1886, which was then due and owing from the said Joel C. Slaughter and Mary Slaughter his wife, to the said Richard Hynson, in one year from the date thereof.

That said Richard Hynson departed this life about the month of October in the year 1889, leaving a last will and testament in which he appointed the complainant and his son, Richard D. Hynson, the executors, who have proved the same and obtained letters testamentary thereon:

That the said Richard D. Hynson has since died leaving the complainant sole executrix of said last will and testament of the said Richard Hynson.

That the legal estate in said mortgaged premises (which with all other real and personal estate of the said Richard Hynson was devised by said last will and testament to your complainant, Carolene L. Hynson, who is the widow of the said Richard Hynson) is nevertheless charged with and liable to be sold for the payment of the aforesaid debt and interest; and the said Joel C. Slaughter and Mary Slaughter both reside out of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County In Equity this 1st day of May, 1908, that the complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county, once in each of four successive weeks before the 1st day or June, 1908, giving notice to the said non-resident defendants of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 18th day of June next to answer the premises and show cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

"CROW HILL."

WHERE THE BIRDS SPEND THE LONG WINTER NIGHTS.

Roosting Place For Thousands Upon Thousands.

About equal distance between Black's Station and Chesterville is a settlement called "Crow Hill." It was given this name many years ago because of the fact that all the crows within a radius of fifty miles assembled there every day at dusk to spend the long, cold nights of the winter. It is a barren spot, save for the scattered trees which serve as a roosting place for the birds. On a cold winter day its appearance is the very extreme of desolation and discomfort and one naturally wonders why our friends of the sombre raiment did not select a more sheltered spot. Here they have been gathering, however, thousands upon thousands, from time immemorial.

Just now the place is uninhabited, because in the early spring the crows pair off and take to the woods, where they build large, bulky nests of sticks, and lay greenish eggs heavily spotted with dark colors generally to the number of 4, 5 or 6.

Crows are eminently social birds, and while they have never shown a fondness for bridge whist and pink teas, they like to be together, and the larger the crowd the better pleased are they. There is nothing exclusive about the crow; no aristocracy, no denominational distinctions, no political prejudices, no rich, no poor. All members of the crow family are freely admitted to a perch at Crow Hill, and no questions asked. That it is a happy family and that they love their homes and the companionship of their comrades cannot be doubted, because although they forage the surrounding country to a distance of from twenty to fifty miles during the earlier hours of the day, they never fail to get back home before dark unless the farmer's steel trap or shot gun inteferes with their plans.

You have often heard the expression, "Straight as the crow flies," but did you ever stop to think how remarkable it is that they can lay their course so accurately when forty or fifty miles from their destination? When Mr. Crow has had his fill of Farmer Johnson's corn, he flaps his wings and says, "Well, boys, its getting late; we'd better cut the air for home." He has no compass to guide him, nor does he need one. By some mode of reckoning, unknown and unaccountable to the greater human intellect, he points his bill in the direction of Crow Hill and never swerves to right or left.

Arriving there, they chat for a time with those who preceded them and again with those who follow, but as soon as darkness settles down they drop off to sleep. Rains beat upon them, the snow covers them, tornadoes roar and threaten to wrest them from their perches, but Mr. Crow slumbers on, unmindful of it all. He knows himself secure in the automatic clutch with which his feet are equipped, and which clicks into place around his perch immediately upon his entrance into dreamland. Blow as hard as he may, old Boreas cannot then dislodge him.

The crow is not careful as to his diet. He will eat almost anything from carrion to fruits. Nor has he any scruples as to how he gets it. Just now he is engaged in tormenting the little sparrows by robbing their nests of the eggs therein. Every spring witnesses a war between these tiny birds and their big black persecutors. The cawing and flapping of wings strikes terror to the hearts of the mother sparrows, but they put up a stiff fight and the crows are often compelled to fly from their attacks.

The crow has a strong bill, capable of tearing loose any kind of food, and his digestive powers would be worth a fortune to John D. Rockefeller. Mr. Crow never lies awake at night from indigestion.

Although the crow has never taken first prize in a beauty contest, it is not a bad looking bird, and it is said that next winter the plumage from these birds will adorn the ladies' hats, taking the place of the chicken feathers of the past season. Here's a tip that ought to make the fortune of some promoter. Organize the Crow Stock Company, buy Crow Hill, then get some good strong bags to hold your money.

With all his faults, there is one thing about the crow we must admire, and that is his stately gait when moving about upon the ground. Not a Chestertown girl, in all the glory of her new spring suit and merry widow hat can surpass the crow in this respect.

Crows live long—some say a hundred years. If you don't believe this, buy a young one and test its truth. Tennyson writes of "the many-wintered crow that leads the clanging rookery home."

Crow meat is not considered a "dainty dish to set before a king." We sometimes speak of a person "eating crow," but that simply means that he has been compelled to do something which he had vehemently declared he would not do. It is usually applied to politicians, and if you want to know what crow flesh tastes like, just ask some of the county leaders on either side.

"Jim Crow," applied to apartments for colored people, is an old expression. Years ago there was a song, the chorus of which ran:

"Old Jim Crow,
What made you treat that possum so?"

Another old expression is "I have a crow to pick with you," which naturally leads one to infer that the picking of a crow is a very difficult and disagreeable undertaking. In Barclay's "Ship of Fools" we find "He that her weddeth hath a crow to pull." Sir R. L'Estrange has this line. "If you dispute, we must even pluck a crow about it," and in Shakespearre's "Comedy of Errors," we read "If a crow help us in, sirrah, we'll pluck a crow together."

That is all we knowabout crows.

S. SCOTT BECK, SOLICITOR.

Order of Publication.

John V. Kilbourn, S. Scott Beck, Assignee, vs.
Wesley Watson, Ella Watson, his wife, S. Scott Beck, Administrator of John Watson, deceased, John Thomas Watson, Lela Watson, Benjamin F. Watson, Earnest Watson, Anna Watson, Kate Watson, infants.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County In Equity. No. 1659.

THE object of this bill is to procure a decree for the sale of Real Estate of John Watson, deceased. The bill of complaint of John V. Kilbourn and S. Scott Beck, Assignee, by S. Scott Beck, their Solicitor, who sue as well for themselves as for all other creditors of John Watson, late of Kent county, Maryland, deceased, who will come in and contribute to the expenses of this suit, respectfully shows.

That the said John Watson was in his life time indebted unto your orator, John V. Kilbourn, in the full and just sum of four dollars and ten cents, with interest thereon from the 12th day of November, 1907, upon open account, which account is filed herewith and marked complainants Exhibit No. 1.

That the said John Watson was in his life time also indebted unto one Thomas W. Trew in the full and just sum of thirty-three dollars and eighty-seven cents, with interest thereon from the 4th day of January, 1907, upon a balance due, upon open account, which account the said Thomas W. Trew did on the 13th day of January, 1908, assign to your orator, S. Scott Beck, and which said account and the assignment thereof is filed herewith and marked Complainants' Exhibit No. 2.

That the said John Watson being so inbebted unto your orators as aforesaid and also unto divers other persons and having real estate of some value and personal estate of little value, departed this life sometime during the month of December, 1907, leaving the following children surviving him as heirs at law: Wesley Watson, who married Ella Watson, both of whom are adults and non-residents of this State, but reside in the State of Pennsylvania, and also the following infants, all under the age of fifteen years: John Thomas Watson, Lela Watson, Benjamin F. Watson, Earnest Watson, Anna Watson and Katie Watson, all of whom reside in Kent county, State of Maryland.

That administration of all and singular the personal estate of the said John Watson has been granted unto S. Scott Beck, by the Orphans' Court for Kent County, as will fully appear by reference to a certificate of letters of administration granted on the estate of the said John Watson, which is filed herewith and marked Complainants' Exhibit No. 3.

That your orators are informed and believe that the said personal estate is not sufficient to pay the just debts of the said John Watson and the cost of administration and your orators are advised that in order to pay their claims and the other debts due from the said John Watson it is necessary for the said real estate to be sold, which said real estate is in the Seventh Election District of Kent County aforesaid, on the right side of the public road leading from Lankford into Broad Neck, containg one acre of land more or less, which property was conveyed to the said John Watson by George Beck and wife by deed dated the 18th day of November 1905 and recorded among the Land Records for Kent County aforesaid, in Liber J. T. D. No. 12, folio 336, etc., a certified copy of which said deed is filed herewith and marked Complainants Exhibit No. 4, and there is nothing else out of which your orators can secure the payments of their claims.

To the end therefore that the said real estate of the said John Watson, deceased, be sold for the payment of your orators' claims and the other debts which may be due from the said John Watson and that your orators may have such other and further relief as their case may require:—

It is thereupon this 22nd day of May, 1908, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent County in Equity that the complainants John V. Kilbourn and S. Scott Beck, assignee by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper, printed and published in Kent County, Maryland, once in each of four successive weeks before the 22nd day of June, next, give notice to the said non-resident defendents, Wesley Watson and Ella Watson, his wife, of the object and substance of this bill and warning them to appear in this Court either in person or by solicitor on or before the 10th day of July next, to show cause if any they have why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

A CARD OF APPRECIATION.

In retiring from business, which my failing sight compels, I wish to return my grateful thanks to the many friends and patrons who have stood by me so faithfully and some of them by my father before me. It is with much feeling and great regret that I have faced the inevitable and given up the business I have been engaged in so long, and in which I have achieved a reputation that any one may well envy.

Again thanking all my friends, I desire to recommend my successor, MR. CHARLES L. DODD, to their liberal patronage, feeling sure of his ability to conduct the business in the most acceptible manner. Respectfully,
JOHN N. DODD.
