Dr. James Hall
My Dear Sir,

On Saturday evening we heard of your safe return from Pelmas and that the ship would sail tomorrow for the U. S.

I have only time to send you a line, to say I deeply regret that I cannot see you once more to bid you farewell in person but that I pray most earnestly that your precious daughter and all of the whole ship's company may be safely and quickly conveyed over the deep deep sea and landed on the other shore.

We are progressing most cheeringly here. A more orderly and quiet set of people I never had to deal with than these new Emigrants. One death only has yet taken place. Yours
Barrett
