Little Tom Tucker sings for his supper,
But it's doubtful whether he'll get it,
His mother washes the old-fashioned way,
Boiling and rubbing the livelong day.
She has no time for cooking on Monday,
And little Tom Tucker goes hungry.

What has become of the dirt?

That's the first question you ask when you rinse out the clothes after they've been soaped with Fels-Naptha and soaked in cool or lukewarm water.

The clothes are white and clean.

The dirt's gone.

What became of it?

Here's the answer.

Fels-Naptha Soap acts on dirt like water does sugar; dissolves it; separates it into tiny particles that are carried away by the rinsing water.

Fels-Naptha Soap takes the place of boiling.

Makes the clothes whiter and cleaner without it.

Dirt doesn't need to be rubbed out when it's dissolved.

Do you wonder that women who use Fels-Naptha Soap in Winter or Summer are able to do their washing in one-half the time with one-fourth the work required by the old way?

When you try it yourself, follow directions printed on the red and green wrapper.

FASHION GLEANINGS FROM NEW YORK

Modes From Over Sea—Footwear—Tam Crowns—A Nice Neck Fixing—Little House Coats—New Cottons—Blouses

New bits of Paris modishness come in with nearly every arriving steamer and are looked at with interest by designers and others, though many of these things are so bizarre that they find their way to customers only after modified copies are made. Often a dropped style reappears with certain changes to become more than ever popular in its resurrection. The hip yoke is back with a more or less pleated or fulled lower skirt, and as usual at this season panniers are promised.

NEW BLOUSES

Kimono cuts with the sleeve patched on instead of cut in one continue to prevail. Patched effects of all sorts, in coats and blouses particularly, are very much worn, and buttons covered with material or various boned styles are equally liked. Blouses of cotton voile with trimmings of braiding, embroideries, or heavy lace or combinations of these are attractive, and a pretty idea is to have the banded trimming loose from the waist at the bottom so that it falls over the top of skirt, belt, or girdle. In this style the overhang generally finishes with a frill or fringe of lace. The bordered cottons and cotton and silk mixtures make very pretty blouses that cost little except for the time they take to put together. Any good design can be easily followed for these, remembering always that simple styles are smartest as well as easiest to make.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

ADVANCE DESIGNS.

If women all over the country don't possess one or more exceptionally pretty gingham dresses it won't be for lack of opportunity for at every counter where imported ginghams are sold with the name "Wm. Anderson" woven on the selvage, there are to be had for the asking the daintiest possible little fashion books of advance designs, which are just right for the new stripes, plaids, plain and blocked zephyrs.

The children's styles are new, practical and pretty, and the suggestion that the cover design offers of parasols made to match will not be lost on women who understand the air of smartness secured by perfectly matched accessories.

LITTLE HOUSE COATS.

Some of the new little house coats in the form of short kimonos, straight and scant, that are made of wash silks found at upholstery counters, and lined with albatross are not only nice to slip on at home, but just right to go over a party gown when additional warmth is needed under the long evening coat.

A NEW NECK FIXING.

Not everyone has yet tried the little neck scarf of wash net half a yard long and gathered at the ends where it is weighted by tassels of gold or jet or steel beads. This protects the white collar perfectly, is easily laundered, dries in a few minutes, and is dainty and pretty when worn. Once tried it becomes indispensable.

FIXINGS.

Tam O'Shanter crowns are on some of the newest hats in silk and straw. Straw rims and changeable silk crowns and trimmings are seen in very fetching models. Fancy footwear is increasingly worn especially the walking boot with gray or white tops though only a very well shaped foot can stand such flamboyant styles, while absolute freshness is essential or the effect is not attractive.

VERONA CLARK.

Ross & Son, 206 210 Market St., Wilmington, Del., are the exclusive agents for the McCall Patterns and Publications, and carry in stock over 10,000, dress patterns of the latest Paris, London and New York Styles, from which the ladies of Chestertown and vicinity can supply their pattern wants immediately at popular prices, 10 and 15 cents Mail orders given prompt and careful attention.
