Overland

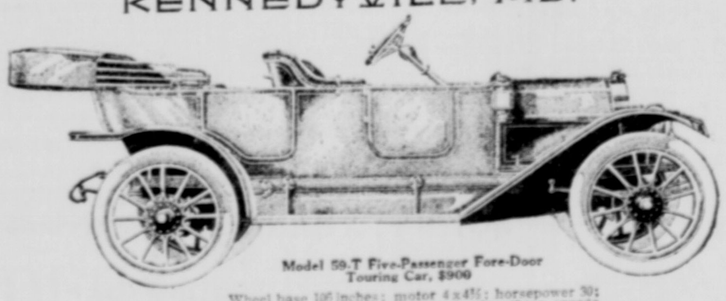

$900 Buys You All You Need in an Automobile

THIS Overland (Model 59) at $900 is absolutely all any one would want in a car. Compare it with any $1250 car on the market, and you'll find but little difference. You know that most of the $1250 cars are of the 30-horsepower type. This $900 car has a 30-horsepower motor. Seats five people comfortably. It is big and roomy. Has a staunch pressed steel frame, selective transmission with F & S annular bearings—the best made. Has strength, power and speed—more than you will ever care to use. The body design and finish is simple, graceful and beautiful. Upholstery is of good leather, hand stuffed with fine hair. In every respect it is a thoroughly high grade machine.

¶ And it is a fact that no other maker in the business can build this car and sell it at this price without losing money. This is due to the enormous manufacturing facilities of the Overland Company—the largest in the world. The manufacturer who turns out but 5,000 cars must have greater production costs, for each car, than the Overland Company, who make over 20,000 cars.

¶ They have published a very interesting and simply written book which explains why the largest automobile factory in the world can give more for less money than the small factory. Stop in and get a copy. It will show you how to save money when you buy your car. This also explains in detail the remarkable value of this $900 touring car and illustrates with handsomely colored plates the complete 1912 line. Better come in at once.

DIRECT MARKETING.

Mr. Irving Walker of Queen Anne's Introduces Measure to Aid Consumers.

Believing that the housewives of Baltimore and farmers in the counties are being "bled" at the expense of the "middlemen," W. Irving Walker, of Queen Anne's County, has introduced in the House a bill providing for appointment of a commission to form plans for co-operative direct marketing between the consumers in the city and the farmers. Although Mr. Walker is a Democrat, the bill follows a suggestion by Governor Goldsborough in his inaugural address, when he advised the creation of a commission to bring about improved business and social conditions in country life in Maryland. Mr. Walker is a practical farmer, owning farms in Queen Anne's County of 300 acres.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the high cost of living in cities and the high prices for farm products being charged the people of Baltimore are due to excessive profits that go to the pockets of middlemen. As an illustration of this, I now have on hand several hundred barrels of potatoes. The best I can get for them from the commission men in Baltimore is seventy cents a barrel. I am told that in Baltimore potatoes are selling retail at $1.35. The price of seventy cents, which is the best I can get, does not pay me the cost of raising the crop. On the other hand, the price that the Baltimore housekeeper is paying excessive. I believe that a commission of practical men, going into the subject in a practical way, could bring about a system of direct dealing between farmers and consumers, which with reasonable express and freight charges, would materially relieve consumers from the high cost of living and give the farmers a reasonable profit. Under such a system I could send my potatoes direct to consumers in Baltimore for, say, seventy five cents a barrel, while the consumer, after paying the express charges would get them at one dollar a barrel."

The bill provides for the appointment of unpaid commission of seven members to be known as the Maryland Country Life Commission. Annual appropriations of $15,000 for 1912 and 1913 are provided for expenses, the commission being directed to make a thorough study of various problems of country life and to form plans for their solution along such lines as co-operative marketing, the general purpose of the bill being to make country life in Maryland more attractive.

MOTORBOAT RULES.

The new regulations for motorboats, which will be issued by the Department of Commerce and Labor within the next few weeks except in regard to the number and quality of the life preservers to be carried on such boats are about same as the old. The changes in regard to life preservers are most important. This regulation follows:

Every motorboat not carrying passengers for hire must have life preservers or life belts or buoyant cushions or ring buoys or other device, which should be or types approved by the Board of Supervising Inspectors, sufficient to sustain afloat every person on board. This includes member of the crew, children and babies.

In addition the department authorizes life preservers and buoyant cushions for motorboats not carrying passenger for hire under the following conditions: Each life preserver or buoyant cushion shall be capable of sustaining afloat for continuous period of 24 hours an attached weight so arranged that whether the said weight be submerged or not there shall be a direct downward gravitation pull upon such life preserver or cushion of at least 20 pounds. If a buoyant cushion is furnished for more than one person, its capacity must be proportionately greater.

No such life preservers or buoyant cushions stuffed or filled with granulated mated cork or other loose granulated material and no pneumatic life preservers or cushions will be approved.
