is our Reduction Sale and no wonder, for the trade have learned some time ago that

Our Reductions

Are Reductions

i. e., prices reduced from former low quotations. This is the cause—'tis and has been our getting rid of plan for a number of years.

We still have some good things left, yet we advise

Moody & Lusby

Directly Opposite Court House,

CHESTERTOWN, MD.

LOCAL NOTES

THE St. James supper was a grand success, $87 being realized.

The residents of upper Kent around Kennedyville, Betterton, Galena and other points are facing a coal famine.

THE fishermen of Piney Neck and lower Kent have been making fine catches the past week.

DUCKS and geese have been giving local sportsmen fine fun the past week. Mr. Hynson Beck killed four geese at one shot on Ringgold's Point a short time ago.

THE will of the late Prof. Thomas H. Topping was filed for probate Tuesday. In it he leaves his whole estate to his wife and names her as executrix without bond.

THE Chestertown Gas Co., estimates their plant at $50,000. They expect to have gas ready for use by April 12th. They will give an exhibition in a few weeks.

H. R. GRAHAM has returned from a big administrator's sale of hardware where he bought considerable goods at low price. See his adv. on first page.

ICE caused the forty foot marble ornament on the front of the Toulson building to fall Wednesday afternoon. No one was hurt.

THE firm of Graham & Clements have bought the grand prize cow for their contest. It is a registered thoroughbred Jersey and $100 was paid for her. It was bought from Baltimore county from a fine tuberculin tested herd of cattle and will be brought to Kent Nov. 1 to be given away Dec. 21, as advertised elsewhere in the NEWS.

ANOTHER FIRE alarm was given about 9.15 P. M. Thursday and quite a crowd responded. It proved to be the roof of the small tenant house on Calvert street occupied by George Fletcher and owned by Hope H. Barroll, Esq. The blaze was soon extinguished by a bucket of water. Asbury says he held the lamp too close to the roof.

THE Harmon Taylor place in Quaker Neck was sold at public sale Tuesday to Mr. Grover Hadaway, of Chestertown, for $905. It contains 11 acres on Lankford Bay and will be tenanted by Capt. Thos. Hadaway. Mrs. Taylor expects to remove to New Jersey.

J. W. RUSSELL, real estate broker, has sold to Mr. J. Walter Skirven the George Bell farm, near Lankford, for $20,000. This farm contains 310 acres and is one of the best in Kent county. Mr. Bell says he got 75 bushels of corn per acre last year. There was another good judge of land bidding for this farm. Mr. Skirven gets the landlord's share of crops this year. Mr. Frank Skirven is the tenant on this farm.

MANY horses in Kent are suffering from influenza and Dr. G. Allen Jarman is kept busy treating them. Cholera in hogs has also made its appearance about this section.

A FIRE scare occured in Chestertown about 8.30 Saturday evening. Mr. Nathan Crossley's home on High street was the scene of the excitement. A lighted lamp left on the uneven floor was upset and but for its early discovery and prompt service of the Volunteer firemen a big loss would have resulted. Mr. Crossley lost some of his clothes but the greatest damage to furniture was from water. This is mostly covered by insurance.

IN New York two juries in the same court gave damages of over $1,000 for the loss of a wife and over $12,000 for the loss of a leg! Such is justice.

SENATOR John Walter Smith showed his appreciation of the Automobile Show in the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, by purchasing a big pleasure car. The machine in question is a six cylinder, 48-horsepower, seven-passenger Pierce-Arrow touring car. It is painted a Brewster green, with dark, natural wood wheels.

THE schooner Annie I. Gale, broke from her anchor at Hail Point during the heavy blow on Friday, January 5 and landed on the flats in Queenstown harbor, opposite the roundhouse. Last week, upon examination it was found that the ice had opened her seams and the tide ebbed and flowed through her. Capt. James Pratt succeeded in caulking the seams and, after floating her made her fast to a tree on Blakeford shore until the weather will permit him to take her to a shipyard for repairs.

THE fishermen at Love Point, are operating their drift nets with much success. Last Saturday they shipped several barrels and boxes of fine rock and white perch and Monday of last week they shipped between 6,000 and 7,000 pounds of these fish.

DURING the absence of her mother, who was spending the evening with a relative in town, Rebecca, the 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bramble was probably fatally burned in Townsend Saturday. The little girl wanted to surprise her mother upon her return by having supper all prepared. In some manner her dress caught fire. With her garments enveloped in flames the girl ran screaming from the housa and started down the street. John Townsend, a neighbor, threw an overcoat around the blazing child, smothering out the flames. She is in a critical condition.

AT the regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon Literary Society last Saturday evening the following question was debated, Resolved, that political parties are necessary to free government. On the affirmative were Messrs. A. B.

Jones Wants Credit.—James Jones, of Cave Neck, whose wife is said to have purchased a farm with the money she made catching muskrats for five years is greatly exercised over the report. He says he had to cook and tend the babies while she trapped, and he thinks he should be given credit for his part in the five years' savings!

Loss of Sheep.—J. W. Patterson, a sheep raiser of Glendive, Montana, related Sunday how he lost 1,800 sheep in 15 minutes during a blizzard last week. The weather was 22 below zero, when 1,800 out of a herd of 3,000 sheep tumbled over a steep embankment. Snow had been falling almost continuously for weeks. Blizzards swept it into a deep gulch, which filled up level with the ground. The lost herd sank to the bottom of the drift in the gulch.

Horse Notes.—Mr. Earle Nicholson, of near Chestertown, has sold his fast "Story-Aldridge" horse to Mr. Thomas Toulson, of Quaker Neck. It is said that the horse is wanted by a Baltimore party. Price private, but horsemen believe Mr. Toulson had to pay somewhere in the neighborhood of $300.

Mr. Robt. J. McWhorter sold and delivered two driving horses to Delaware parties this week.

Mr. John Moffett, of Kent, purchased a fine horse at the New York horse sale last week.

Mr. Chas. Nicholson sold his fast trotter last week to Mr. S. J. Caldwell for $75. Mr. N. paid $60 for him, used him during the sleighing and then let him go. He is in his twenties.

Base Ball.—Hanson Horsey, of Galena, who helped to win the pennant for Reading last year, will accompany the Cincinnati team to the South and be given a chance to make good with the National Leaguers. Horsey is a fine pitcher, and made a splendid record in the Tri-State League last year.

C. L. Herzog left Ridely this week for Marlin Springs, Texas, where he will join the New York National League Club for spring practice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Baker left on Saturday en route for San Antonio, Texas, where the Athletics will go into practice for the season of 1912.

Play Party.—A delightful party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Toulson on February 27th. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Toulson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mason, Mr. and Mrs. John Myers; Misses Mae Cranor, Hallie Toulson, Ida Biggers, Ida Mason, Minnie Greenwood, Amelia Gosman, Marie Smith, Mary and Louisa Toulson, Lula and Maude Gosman, Rose Fogwell, Lillian Joiner, Bertie Brockson, Dorcus and Bertha Myers; Messrs. John and Walter Biggers, Willie Miller, Allen Joiner, Roger Harris, Philip Jones, Earl Godwin, Walter Coleman, Dearwood and Carson Gosman, Howard Toulson, Hope Dill, Arthur Mason, Clarence Pinder, Harvey Smith, Milton and Hoggie Fogwell, James Toulson and Willard Simonds. Refreshments were served in abundance.

Big Prices.—Until a few years ago, the farmers of this community knew nothing of storing their sweet potatoes for winter shipments. Within recent years they have begun storing their potatoes, building large heated houses for the purpose and growing larger quantities of the sweets. They first began contracting for them at 15 cents per basket, and it didn't take long for them to decide that sweet potatoes were a better paying crop than tomatoes. Every year prices have been going higher, and last year 25 and 30 cents a basket was paid.

A shipper at Delmar has loaded about seventy-five carloads this winter, equal to over 15,000 hampers, and it is estimated that these have brought into the community more than $20,000 this winter. It is expected that the crop this year will be unusually large, and that prices next winter will be correspondingly lower. Some are contracting for next fall delivery at 25 cents, while other contractors are holding off to see how heavy the acreage will be.

Mr. Wesley Moffett has loaded several cars of sweet potatoes at Millington this winter and paid as high as $1.15 a hamper.
