ROAD BUILDING

Commissioners in Chestertown Confer About State Road to Betterton and Rock Hall.

Messrs. Goslin and Miller, the Eastern Shore representatives on the State Roads Commission, were in Chestertown Monday night. These gentlemen are anxious to see Kent get started on road building under the Shoemaker Act. They state that the survey on the Still Pond-Betterton road has been completed and blue prints are being made so that the work may be commenced within a few weeks. They advise the building of a shell road nine feet wide, and estimate the cost, including grading, to be about four or five thousand dollars.

The people of Rock Hall and vicinity through their commissioner, Mr. Chas. D. Wood, have made application to the State Roads Commission for benefit of the Shoemaker Act. They will raise the $1,000 necessary to enable them to come within the terms and the county commissioners and the State will do the rest. It is hoped that at least two miles of road will be built this year, beginning at the town limits and going towards Edesville. There will be $7500 of this fund available for Kent county by October 1st, 1912.

A GREAT WEEK

Chestertown Chautauqua a Great Success—Pierson, Glenn, Miss Hamilton and Others Draw Crowds.

The Chautauqua opened with a band concert by Ciricillo's Band of twenty-three pieces Monday, which was attended by a packed audience. It was the grandest concert ever heard in Chestertown. Bandmaster Salvatore Ciricillo says, "Americans like music. No other people like music so well as the Americans do—not even the Italians. Everywhere I go, everywhere I play, I watch my audiences. They all pay attention just like Italians; sit quietly and follow the director and the music. Americans love music very much."

Signor Ciricillo has been in Cleveland for nine years. He is known best perhaps, as the organizer and leader of Ciricillo's boys band. All the boys were recruited from the Italian homes of Little Italy, and under Signor Ciricillo's careful direction and drilling the band reached a rare degree of proficiency, played in concerts in the East and West and came back figuratively wreathed in laurels.

Each afternoon a large audience has heard with pleasure the lecture by Miss Meddie Hamilton, of Swarthmore, Pa., and of Kansas. She has been an inspiration and an uplift. The general subject of Miss Hamilton's lectures is the "Beginning of the Modern Conception of Democracy." Miss Hamilton, although lecturing on authors and literary subjects, treats them in terms of social ideals, of brotherhood, of human progress. She points the way to personal progress and social helpfulness. In these lectures Miss Hamilton traces through our literature the development and growth of the democratic spirit, from its first inception to the present day.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson was present on Tuesday afternoon, and in his lecture recital was popular, pleasing and artistic. By a judicious and symmetrical balancing of interesting information and illustrative readings, Dr. Pearson made the lecture-recital a popular and useful form of interpretation, in the use of which he is easily supreme, although he has been given the sincere flattery of an host of imitators. One of the qualities which makes Dr. Pearson's work so superior is his rare ability as a reader. Although his comment and interpretive paragraphs are filled with vigorous and eloquent thought, yet so rare is the art manifested in the readings given that many attribute the remarkable charm of his lecture-recitals to the readings. His lecture was entitled "The Poetry of Life," in which a fresh and unconventional view of human life was presented, and illustrated and enforced by a large number of readings chosen from general literature. He is a charming gentleman and will receive another glad welcome next year.

The Walter Bentley Ball Concert Co. and the Lyric Glee Club were up to the high standard of the other features and greatly pleased large audiences.

Hon. Robert B. Glenn, ex-Governor of North Carolina, was the star attraction at the Wednesday evening meeting. Nearly 1,000 persons sat enraptured for nearly two hours as the great orator, statesman and christian gentleman delivered one of the most striking addresses ever heard in this county. It was simply magnificent, and should do great good. So be it.

The programs of Thursday and Friday were also of high standard, and to-day (Saturday) the management will present a strong attraction.

The platform manager has been Prof. I. A. Downey, and he has done everything possible for the comfort of the people, has been courteous to all and conducted the week's entertainment successfully. He says he could not help but have success when Providence and the people were with him.

THE Republican National Convention meets at Chicago next Tuesday, June 18th, and the National Committee is now engaged in hearing the contests in regard to delegates. So far the decisions have been 100 to 1 in favor of Mr. Taft as against Col. Roosevelt. A lively session is looked for and the chances seem to be in favor of Taft or Hughes.

THE teachers, scholars and janitor of the Chestertown High School remembered their principal, Prof. J. L. Smith, with suitable and beautiful mementoes. His departure from this school is greatly regretted by all. He has been a perfect success.
