My reputation as a Physician has been injured by that neglect as I spoke of it several times. I am aware that the blame rests upon the Physician in such cases but the real cause is that over which I had no control It was a derogation from the course pursued with Emigrants heretofore, the reason for which I cannot say. You may rest assured that while I have the management of any Emigrants to this place you will not hear no more such unfavourable reports. The old receptacle is down it was completely rotten having stood on Twenty four years.

As I will write More by the return of the Steamer I shall be then able to give you all information respecting the Societies affairs here — till then I subscribe
