AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

While driving his Ford car along the state road between Kennedyville and Locust Grove Sunday about noon, Dr. James W. Urie, wellknown physician, of Kennedyville, met with quite a serious accident.

The Doctor had drawn to one side of the road to allow Mr. Jack Clendaniel's car that was approaching from behind, to pass, and in making a rather short turn to get back into the middle of the road, the steering gear did not respond properly and the car skidded and "turned turtle". In the car besides Dr. Urie were six small children. All were beneath the over-turned car but were some what protected by the top. One little boy, Joe Casden, was painfully injured, having his face cut in several places and his ankle sprained. Dr. Urie also, was bruised, but not incapacitated from attending to his regular practice. The others escaped unhurt.

THIS is how they treat the negro in St. Petersburg, Florida, writes John G. Roland:

"Ten loafing negroes were put to work this afternoon by Acting Chief of Police Watson after the idlers had given the laugh to a stevedore who tried to employ them. The Minnehaha arrived at this port with a cargo to be unloaded and found hands scarce. The stevedore went to a saloon, where he found ten negroes sitting about in easy positions. When asked if they wanted a job unloading a ship, the blacks proposed that the ship be brought to them to let them see how big it was. Chief Watson was called upon and used effective methods. He lined up the ten negroes and marched them to the dock, where they went to work with vim getting the cargo out of the boat. One negro who talked back was given a belt on the head after he had su gested that it was none of Mr. Watson's business whether the negro was employed or not."

TO ERADICATE HOG CHOLERA

Anticholera Serum Will Be Purchased from Laboratories in Western States and Work Begun as Soon as Possible—Hardly a Farm in Affected District Missed by the Fatal Plague.

The State Livestock Sanitary Board will begin next week the work of eradicating hog cholera, which has broken out on the Eastern Shore.

There are outbreaks in the Stevensville district of Queen Anne's county and in the Tolchester and Bettertond istricts of Kent county. Harry P. Skipper, president of the board, said that the swine of nearly every farmer in these three districts are attacked by the disease. Only occasionally will a farm be found which the cholera has missed.

The method which will be used by the board to get rid of the disease will be to inoculate all of the hogs with hog cholera serum, which is the best preventative of the disease which has yet been discovered. The last legislature appropriated $15,000 for the establishment of a biological laboratory, under the direction of the State Board of Agriculture, to manufacture vaccines and serums for inoculating cattle and swine. This laboratory will not be ready to begin work until September 1, but in order to begin the work of making the hogs immune where the disease has broken out now the cholera serum will be purchased from the laboratories of several Western states, among those that of Kansas, and inoculation will be begun in the affected districts as soon as possible.

The serum can be purchased from the state laboratories at a price of two cents a cubic centimeter, the cost of the commercial product being three and one-half to five cents. The sections where the disease has broken out will be thoroughly covered and every hog will be inoculated. A cubic centimeter of the serum for every five pounds of hogs is the amount prescribed by scientists, and three inoculations are required. This condition lasts for about three months, at the end of which period it is necessary to repeat the process. Heretofore it has been thought that hog cholera is only prevalent at certain seasons of the year, especially during the early fall, when the hogs are fed green corn, but the present outbreaks have upset that belief. It was on account of this belief that the State Biological Laboratory was not put in operation earlier.

Hazazer's with about twenty others and had just arrived the day before. In company with another youngster he went in swiming both being good swimmers. Without warning or any cry of distress young Reichert went down to his death. The body was soon recovered and Dr. Frank W. Smith, coroner, was notified. The latter decided that an inquest was necessary, and one was at once held. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd prepared the body for shipment to Philadelphia. His aunt, Mrs. Schlimf, came down and got the body. He had a mother and one sister.
