Grand Mass Meeting!

AND DEMOCRATIC RALLY

FIREMEN'S HALL

IN CHESTERTOWN, MD.

Tuesday, October 22nd, 1912,

Afternoon and Evening.

HON. ISAAC LOBE STRAUS

HON. HENRY D. CLAYTON, Congressman from Alabama.

HON. J. HARRY COVINGTON, Candidate for Congress, and other distinguished speakers will be present at each meeting and discuss the issues of the campaign.

GEORGE E. NOLAND,
JAMES E. MORRIS,
CHARLES L. DODD,
State Central Committee for Kent Co.

In less than two years as Governor of New Jersey, Woodrow Wilson accomplished ten times more actual reform than Theodore Roosevelt put into effect during more than seven years as President.

With a Presidential campaign approaching its close, and with the indications pointing more strongly toward an overwhelming Democratic victory, Dun's Review says: "Many years have passed since there has been such unanimity of testimony as to the widening of the business activity. Even some of the lines which have been lagging are now developing the same progressive spirit which for some time has existed in the iron and steel industry and is making that trade beat all previous records." This is the reply of the business world to the efforts of the Republicans, from President Taft down, to scare the country with the idea that a Democratic success would be a commercial calamity.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK.

Never before in the history of the party have Democratic prospects been brighter than at the present time. The party is united and full of hope. Nothing can possibly prevent a sweeping victory for the party in the country, but one thing, and that one thing is Democratic indifference. Some members of our party may feel that as the Republican party is split open so widely, it is not necessary for the Democrats to make any special effort. He who has such a view of the situation is not a very loyal Democrat, and needs to have his party fealty toned up. It is not simply a question of electing Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States. It is rather an opportunity for the Democratic party to show the strength of its organization, by putting our candidates into office by such majorities as will show the temper of the American people, upon the vital questions which are now before them for settlement, such as the tariff, the undue centralization of power in the federal government and other questions of like importance.

There is only one way by which elections can be carried, and that is, by votes. Sentiment will not do it, confidence will not do it and nothing but votes will.

So that while the result is as certain as any future event can be, that Woodrow Wilson will be the next President of the United States it can only be so, if Democratic ballots go into the box.

Maryland Democrats should be especially active in this campaign, for we are not only interested in the success of the National ticket, but we must recover the ground we lost a year ago. Maryland is at this time in a false position. We all know that ours is a Democratic state, and it was only by a political accident that it was carried by the Republicans last fall.

This is the opportunity of getting the state back into its normal position.

And then we must remember that a year hence we elect a new legislature, and that legislature elects a United States Senator. So that we have a good deal at stake in the coming election, and the party will expect every Democrat to do his duty.

An act of Congress, August 24, 1912, requires every newspaper, magazine or other periodical to file semi-annually a statement of its management and ownership. The statement for this paper was filed with the postmaster at Chestertown on October 8, and in compliance with the provisions of this Act the necessary publication is made in this issue.

We are in receipt of a copy of the work of the State Roads Commission, made by Gov. Goldsborough on October 3. It is a concise report and shows good training in its arrangement. As regards Kent county the report says:

"The road from Chestertown, 8 8 miles north to Kennedyville, is now completed. There is only about $19,000 available for new construction in Kent county, and with this the road will be extended from Kennedyville north to Locust Grove. This section has been advertised twice this summer, but no satisfactory bids received. If this work cannot be let this autumn, it will be done next year. When finished, this will leave a gap of only 5 6 miles from Locust Grove to the Cecil county line, in the State road across Kent county.

"Queen Anne's will probably be the first county in the State to have a State road completed across its entire length. There are 14.64 miles now finished, nearly 6 48 miles south from Chestertown, and 8.16 miles from Church Hill to Centreville. Contracts have recently been awarded for the 7.10 miles from Centreville south to Wye Mills. By the fall of 1913 Queen Anne's should have its entire link of 21.74 miles of State road in operation.

"In Talbot county a contract for the 3 15 miles between Easton and Dover Bridge is ready for readvertisement, and bids for the 1.44 miles from Skipton south to the State road have been operated, and with the completion of these two sections of new road, there will be 12 miles of State road in this county, leaving a gap of only 4 miles from Skipton north to Wye Mills at the Queen Anne's line."

EVIL OF IDLE GOSSIP.

It is one of the foibles of humanity to believe and carry evil report. It may be one manifestation of the selfishness of the race, for a wise man who lived centuries ago said that "Love thinketh no evil." The wagging tongue is a dangerous weapon and a two-edged one, since it brings woe to its owner as well as its victim. Idle gossip breeds many kinds of ill consequences, yet how common a fault it is with most of us.

The law sets us a good example in presuming every man arraigned for wrong to be innocent until proved guilty and it gives him the benefit of every doubt, convicting him only upon the most conclusive evidence. So individuals in their private social intercourse should prefer to believe good of each other rather than evil. They could do well to adopt the maxim of law, either of the Pouline doctrine of thinking no evil, or the modern statute of holding every man innocent until proved guilty.

Such a precept put in practice would tend to offset the evil of idle gossip. It is always possible to hear bad things of good men, but no good can come of repeating them. The Mosaic code set the example by forbidding "false witness against thy neighbor" and in this it has never been improved upon.—Omaha Bee.

ANOTHER LIE NAILED

MESSRS EDITORS:

Among the many evils attendant on Bossism is the degradation to which the Boss reduces the weak human tools with which he works. Now Sam Hicks, the Clerk to the County Commissioners formerly followed the honest trade of a blacksmith and, until he devoted himself to politics and the service of the Boss and earned the title of the "Great Discoverer" was looked upon at least as truthful. But JUDGE WICKES ON HIS WAY TO VIRGINIA AUTHORIZES A DENIAL OF SAM'S STATEMENT ATTRIBUTED TO THE JUDGE. But it did not require the Judge's denial to refute Sam. Since Judge Wickes left the Bench, I was elected a second time State's Attorney for Kent county after the bitterest political campaign in the history of this generation, by more than double the majority I received the first time, and never once was any such charge or even insinuation ever made of any such character and everyone knows it certainly would have been brought up if there had been any foundation for it. But this poor willing tool of the Boss forgets how History and common sense refute him; and fearful lest he and the gang be driven from the Public Crib on account of their mis-government of the county, rushes to his master's defense. His loyalty might be admired if his judgment was not so pitiable. The next time, Sam, you try "to put one over" for the Boss, pick a dead man to put it on or one whose conscience the Boss controls, so you will not run the risk of contradiction and making yourself ridiculous.
