The check returned —

My Dear Sir

I understand there is an "Ins. Note" for $501.25 due tomorrow — & I inclose check to pay it. I have been in hopes to hear that you had money in hand enough to pay it — as some weeks ago we borrowed, on some short but undefined time, some thousand dollars at your suggestion — anticipating that $500 might be to pay it — But so much time has passed we fear the ship has eat it all up — & we must look elsewhere —

I write for this at the office which I have been visiting since this sunshiney weather commenced —
