Having conducted the Clothing and Furnishing Goods Business

in our town for the past twenty years and building up a substantial business by honest methods, we have decided to sell our entire stock at WHOLESALE PRICES unless we find an acceptable purchaser to close as a whole.

We have mutually agreed to dispose of our entire stock of CLOTHING, FURNISHINGS GOODS and HATS, either as a whole or by retailing same at wholesale prices.

This we decided to do after orders were placed for the various departments for Fall and Winter lines, which are now in full and complete, as usual, with the latest productions in Clothing, Hats, Caps, Neckwear, Sweater Coats, Gloves, Underwear, Shirts, Collars, Hosiery and all the various kinds of merchandise we have always offered.

This Sale Begins on Saturday, November 2

We prefer to sell as a whole and to an acceptable purchaser who desires to engage in the clothing business, we are prepared to show a substantial, lucrative business, already built up on a solid straightfoward basis.

If we don't close as a whole at once we will retail the various lines at MANUFACTURERS PRICES.

Men's Suits and Overcoats, Separate Trousers, Hats, Caps, Shirts, Underwear, Sweater Coats, Gloves, Collars, Neckwear, Hosiery, Boys' and Childrens Suits and Overcoats, Suit Cases

The primary reason for this sale is the increasing outside interests of the Junior Member requiring more of his attention, combined with mutual obvious minor ones. Appreciating the liberal patronage extended us for the past twenty years.

LOCAL NOTES

The election in Kent cost $3980.

The new syrene whistle is at the pump house.

The strong Georgetown University team defeated Washington last Saturday 84 to 0. It was this team's first defeat.

Kent Lambert has sold his farm of 75 acres, situated in Queen Anne's county, to Mr. Howard Ross, of Baltimore. The price was $1200.

The health meeting in Firemen's Hall Monday afternoon was well-attended and Mrs. Johnson delighted her hearers.

The Rich Neck Farmers' Club met Thursday at Mr. Bud Potts, and a fine time was enjoyed. First prize for white corn went to James T. Anthony; second, Josiah Massey. Yellow corn, Harry P. Skipper.

The Sanitary Dairy, Chestertown, started this week serving pasteurized milk and have about fifty customers all ready. One mother says she can see improvement in her baby after three days use. Mr. John N. Bennett has contracted to supply this dairy with 50 gallons of milk daily.

The Kent Land Co. has sold the Graham—Hudson farm near Fairlee to Mr. Alonza P. Foreman, the industrious tenant on Mr. Francis' farm, near Tolchester.

My, wasn't it awful! The bad smell was from a boat-load of decayed fish being unloaded at one of the wharves here Wednesday. One business man ransacked his office looking for a dead mouse or rat!

The three prisoners who escaped from the Chestertown jail more than three weeks ago are still at large, and Sheriff McKee has not been able to obtain any reliable information to their whereabouts. Kent can get along without them if the Sheriff can.

The dwelling and store house of E. Cooper, Sudlersville, was sold last Saturday week to Wm. Anderson for $4,608. Graham & Clements, of Chestertown, bought the contents of the store for $456.

The Court of Appeals in the case of the Penna. R. R. vs. William F. Clark; judgment reversed and cause remanded for new trial; costs to be paid by appellee. This case was appealed from Kent court by W. W. Beck, Esq., the defense being represented by H. H. Barroll, Esq.

E. E. Hudson says there was not water enough to float Taft and Teddy both up Salt River therefore the big rain of last Thursday!

In the football game Saturday Mr. Ringgold Strong had his shoulder blade broken. While tackling a dummy at the College Monday a young student named Framton broke his collar bone. Both the young men are getting along finely.

Master Brice Fountain had his limb amputated at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore, last Friday. News from him this week stated that he was doing so well that he expected to come home next week. He was so brave that the hospital corp call him the "Little Major."

The Superintendent of schools in Queen Anne's is arranging for a big Fair and Show of products in Centreville Nov. 26th. L. Harris Crew, manager of the Maryland Water Fowl Farm, Still Pond, with his commendable neighborly spirit, offers a special cash gold prize for the best exhibition of Anconas.

The Kent County Commissioners visited the jail on Tuesday, at the invitation of Sheriff McKee, and examined the manner in which the three prisoners broke out a few days ago. They ordered Sheriff McKee to get new locks and bolts for several of the doors. Nothing has been heard or seen of the jail breakers that is reliable.

Two new machines arrived in town during the past ten days. Mr. W. Frank Jarrell has a handsome new Chalmers touring car and Capt. Curtis E. Crane has presented a splendid Hudson car to Miss Louise Crane, who has learned how to master same.

T. E. W. Crew, of near Lankford, outrivals Messrs. Robert Kennedy and Edw. Corey in big potatoes. He has 20 potatoes which fill a basket! He calls them the "Woodrow Wilson Reds."

Armiger, the candy man, and his wife, the milliner, will discontinue business here in a few weeks and remove to more promising section. They found the field pretty well filled. This will leave Mr. Toulson's fine new room open for another.

T. B. Elliott is putting a new coat of paint on the D. B. Ford home. I. F. Newcomb, of Lynch, has repainted Mr. Foxwell's avenue home. F. H. Howard is repainting C. H. Jefferson's and G. D.
