Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a quick and reliable remedy for lameness in horses and other farm animals.

"Sloan's Liniment surpasses anything on earth for lameness in horses and other horse ailments. I would not sleep without it in my stable."—
MARTIN DOYLE,
432 West 19th St., New York City.

Good for Swelling and Abscess.

MR. H. M. GIBBS, of Lawrence, Kan., R. F. D., No. 3, writes:—"I had a mare with an abscess on her neck and one 50c. bottle of Sloan's Liniment entirely cured her. I keep it all the time for galls and small swellings and for everything about the stock."

SLOAN'S LINIMENT

is a quick and safe remedy for hog cholera.

Governor of Georgia uses Sloan's Liniment for Hog Cholera.

"I heard Gov. Brown (who is quite a farmer) say that he had never lost a hog from cholera and that his remedy always was a tablespoonful of Sloan's Liniment in a gallon of slops, decreasing the dose as the animal improved. Last month Gov. Brown and myself were at the Agricultural College building and in the discussion of the ravages of the disease, Gov. Brown gave the remedy named as unfailing."

FARM NOTES

Cull the ewe flock.

Be careful in milking.

Sheep need care and feed.

Good fences are important.

Lime may be applied to the soil at any time.

The best seed corn is that grown on one's own farm.

Potatoes are as cheap this year as they will ever be again.

The dairy cow should essentially be a large and rich milker.

A coat of whitewash in the poultry house adds both beauty and profit.

Hogs running in the corn field are healthier than those shut in a pen.

To have horses of endurance give the colts a chance to develop their muscles.

Don't waste your time cutting corn for fodder after one good frost strikes it.

The only way to make sheep pay is to keep the best sheep and give them the best care.

Change of pasture makes fat cattle, they say. Variety in feed also makes cows better milkers.

Feeding the drop apples to the stock will save much grain and act as a good appetizer for the animals.

The value of a hog depends upon his ability to make good pork. This is equally true of all breeds.

Are you keeping the boys and girls properly supplied with good "tools" to do their work in the school-room?

Your lambs ought to be big enough now to bring a good price. Let them go and give the rest a better chance.

The hay shock without a good top is just about on a par with the corn shock that has nearly twisted down.

Because a cow is a hearty eater is no sign that she is profitable, but all large and profitable cows are hearty eaters.

Millet should be cut before the seeds are ripe; in fact, after it is well headed out it is a candidate for the mower.

The Cost of Milk Production

Bulletin No. 73 of the Storrs, Conn., station, by J. M. Trueman, is entitled "Records of a Dairy Herd for Five Years," but a more apt title would have been "The Cost of Milk Production." At least, the chief use the author makes of the records is to figure out the cost of producing milk.

Much of the bulletin is given to an account of the composition of the herd, the rations fed and how the records were made and kept; but the larger part of the records pertain to the weights and cost of the feedstuffs, the expense of housing, milking and caring for the herd, etc., even apportioning to each cow her portion of the interest on the amount invested in the barn and dairy equipment, the amount of depreciation of each cow per year, etc.

From this data the author calculates the cost of keeping a cow in Connecticut at $66 a year, aside from the cost of the food she consumes. This $65 is made up of the following items: Bedding, $5; service of bull, $3; labor of attendant, $38 60; interest on investment in cow and her part of barn, $6 75; taxes on cow and her part of barn, $1 25; her part of barn insurance, 40 cents; her part of light, heat, medicines, disinfectants, ice, etc., $2; her annual depreciation, $13.

The average cost of feed per cow was $72 85 the first year, $77.08 the second year, $87.55 the third year, $87.49 the fourth year, and $95 37 the fifth year.

Figuring the butter at 30c a pound and the skim milk and buttermilk at 20c per 100 lbs., and valuing the manure and calf at $15, the average income per cow was $107.05 the first year, $125.45 the second year, $128 65 the third year, $134 10 the fourth year, and $122 87 the fifth year.

Adding $65 to the cost of the feed consumed makes a total in excess of the income every year.

In like measure it was ascertained that selling the whole milk at 4c a quart resulted in a loss every year. Figuring milk at 5c a quart yielded a net profit every year but one.

Therefore, it would seem that in Connecticut, at least, whole milk cannot be produced for less than 20 cents a gallon, nor butter for less than 35c a pound.

THE RURAL MAIL

There's a little gray box at the end of the lane
That leads to the little gray cot,
And the little old man with the little old team
Comes jogging along with a trot
He stops at the box at the end of the lane,
And he puts in a letter or two—
And if it was not for the rural mail man
I'd say what in the world would we do?

In winter or summer and autumn and spring,
The little gray box by the gate
Sits there in the shadow or sits in the sun,
With patient contentment to wait.
And if he goes by with no letter to leave,
It waits till to morrow again
When he comes with a jog o'er the miles of his route
As they wind by the gate and the lane.

Of the quiet, still country the box is a part;
We would miss it, indeed, from its post,
And the little old carrier jogging along
Mid the sunlight as soft as a ghost.
The robins salute him when cherries are ripe,
And the bees hum a welcome—ah, me!
How lonely our life in the country, my love,
Without the old Rural F. D.

KENNEDYVILLE NOTES.

Corn on the cob is being shipped by the carload from our station.

There has been a large crop of Keiffer pears in this community, but the sale is dull, only about seven cents per basket.

Coal in Kennedyville is very scarce and hard to get by the coal dealers.

The ladies of Kennedyville Aid Society will hold a supper entertainment on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week, the 15th and 16th. Pork, chicken, salad, celery and all the good things of the season will be served. A large patronage is solicited and expected. All come and spend a joyful social time. Proceeds for benefit of church work.

A large number attended the Grange meeting Monday evening. Refreshments were served at the close of the business session, and a good social time was the experience of the large number of young people present. Next Monday evening following the regular routine of business there will be a debate on the topic, "Resolved, that old maids are of greater benefit to a community than old bachelors." Open door to Grangers. Three debaters on each side. Do not miss this treat.

Mr. Lawrence McDaniel of Wilmington, Del., was guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Jewell from Saturday to Sunday evening and attended Sunday School and public service at the M. P. Church Sunday morning.

Services for the Methodist Protestant Church for next Sunday, 17th, are as follows: Sunday School 9.30 a. m., John Medders, superintendent. Topic, "The Great Question" St. Mark 3: 27-38, to 9:1. Sermon by the pastor at 10.30, topic, Lost Power. In the evening 7 o'clock, Rev. J. S. Bowers will preach. All most cordially invited.

Do You Get Up With a Lame Back?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everyone knows of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy, because of its remarkable health restoring properties. Swamp-Root fulfills almost every wish in overcoming rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble, it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been thoroughly tested in private practice, and has proved so successful that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles are sold by all druggists. Don't make any mistake but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Home of Swamp-Root.
