The Love Letters of a Confederate General

WE begin in the November issue a series of real love-letters written over fifty years ago by one of our national heroes to his sweetheart during the period of '61 to '65. This great general will go down to posterity as having accomplished one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the world. He was as great a lover as he was a general, therefore these letters combine authentic history and exquisite romance. They sound a human note that no other work of literature has done in a decade; it is war, it is romance, it is history, it is literature. You simply can't afford to miss this wonderful series—an inside story of the Civil War now published for the first time and containing all the freshness of a contemporary happening. These letters will grip you hard, and hold your interest from first to last. Fill out the coupon and send it now before you forget it.

KENNEDYVILLE NOTES.

A company of the Pennsylvania R. R. men from Harrington, Del., are building a concrete bridge for the steam road near Kennedyville.

Mr. L. A. Pennington moved his stock of hardware goods into his new large and convenient store room on Monday, and is ready for business on a much larger scale.

The large number of the members of the Grange and Farmers' Club of the community attended the special service in the Methodist Protestant Church last Sunday morning, at which time the pastor, Mr. Mullineaux, drew lessons from the life and prophecies of Amos the Farmer Prophet. Many kind and appreciative words have been spoken of the sermon.

In the audience at the above named service were a number of visitors, and among the rest with her sister, Mrs. L. A. Pennington, was Mrs. Katie Frazier and her little boy, Paul of near Newark, Del. Mrs. Frazier, formerly Miss Garey, was for years a worker in the Kennedyville Church and Sunday School, and known as one of the sweetest singers in the choir and an ideal teacher in the school. Her many friends were delighted to see her. She left on Monday for her Delaware home.

A very large number attended the Grange meeting on Monday night of this week, at which time Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Clews, Miss Bessie Jewell, and Mr. Wm. [illegible]es received the first and second degrees of the order. In the election of officers for the ensuing year, past Master, G. R. Rasin, was again elected as Master of the Grange.

The numerous friends of Mr. W. M. Clendaniel are exceeding anxious concerning the treatment which he is again taking in the Baltimore Hospital for his affliction, and he has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community. His wife accompanied him to the city last week for the operation, returning on Monday of the present week, reporting that her husband was doing as well as could be expected.

Mrs. John Clendaniel has been in Wilmington for treatment under a specialist for some weeks, and her numerous friends trust that she may return to her home greatly improved in health.

Mrs. Mullineaux is still on the sick list, but is slowly being restored to her normal condition.

Services in the M. P. Church next Sunday as follows: Sunday School at 9.30 a. m., sermon by the pastor at 10.30 C. E. service in the evening at 7, led by Miss Emma Shafer, topic "Teachings of this Years' Sunday School Lessons That Have Impressed Themselves Upon Me." A large number is expected, A brief address on the topic by the pastor. All cordially welcome.

DEMOCRATS MAY WITHHOLD CONFIRMATION.

There are indications that the Democrats in Congress—particularly in the Senate—will eagerly seize upon the war President Taft has declared against Roosevelt supporters in office as a pretext for holding up nominations and saving vacant Federal offices for Democratic appointments after Wilson's inauguration.

Hard upon the announcement that three Roosevelt men in Texas had been dismissed "for the good of the service," came a report that thirty-eight other Progressives, holding various postmasterships in that State, will be replaced, on the expiration of their terms, by loyal supporters of Mr. Taft.

Democrats have bitterly resented the President's action in putting all fourth-class Post-Offices under the civil service rules, and several Democrats have denounced the President for attempting thus to secure the tenure of his friends after his own Administration ends.

This resentment has received keener edge from the report that Mrs. James Longstreet, widow of the famous Confederate General, is to lose the Postmistresship of Gainesville, Ga., as a result of her "pernicious" support of Colonel Roosevelt. An active move is already afoot among Democrats in Congress to save her from being ousted.

The move against the widow of a Confederate General seems to have called the attention of the Democrats to their opportunity in regard to other vacancies which Mr. Taft is said to plan to fill with his own supporters. They have charged all along that the President's civil service order was a political move, and they now say that his punishment of Progressive officeholders smacks of the same motive. They argue, therefore, that they will be justified in fighting President Taft's nominations and blocking confirmations until March 4.

HANDS DOWN FINAL OPINIONS.

Judge Pearce Leaves Annapolis After Rendering Decisions.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 6.—Handing down decisions in two cases argued during the present October term of the Maryland Court of Appeals marked the final official act performed by Judge Sames A. Pearce, who yesterday was signally honored by the State upon his retirement after 15 years of faithful and efficient service as chief judge of th Second Judicial circuit.

The retiring Judge was about the Court of Appeals offiices this morning bidding an affecionate good-by to his associates of the State's highest tribunal as well as the officials about the office and other friends. After rendering the opinions, Judge Pearce left for his home at Chestertown.

The final opinions written by the Judge were in these cases.

No. 96—Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Mongomery County against Michael Golestien, appealed from Circuit Court for Montgomery County; judgement affirmed with costs to the appellee.

No. 77—Dennis M. Matthews against John S. Whiteford and Clarence Whiteford, appeals from the Circuit Court for Baltimore County; appeal dismissed with cost to the appellee.

Anty Drudge Gives the Grocer Some Advice.

Anty Drudge—"Hello, is this Main 1211? Yes? That you Mr. Smith? You send your boy back to Mrs. Jones at once to take away the things he left this morning. Why? Because she ordered Fels-Naptha soap and you sent an imitation. You were out of Fels-Naptha soap, you say? What has that got to do with it? If you were out of good money, would you give Mrs. Jones counterfeit? Mr. Smith, if I was Mrs. Jones I would take my patronage to the grocer who saw to it that he was not out of Fels-Naptha."

A woman who washed the old-fashioned way in steaming suds and with much rubbing changed to Fels-Naptha soap.

Her clothes wore better than they had in the past.

She gave the credit to the quality of the fabrics.

But one day some one asked her to try something "just as good" as Fels-Naptha soap. She did.

And her clothes were in shreds in a few months.

Then the reason dawned on the woman. The secret of lasting wear was Fels-Naptha soap and the Fels-Naptha way of washing.

You can't boil and hard rub clothes and expect them to last; neither can you "eat" the dirt out of clothes without "eating" the life out too.

Fels-Naptha washes colored clothes without fading. Fels-Naptha won't shrink or roughen flannels. Fels-Naptha makes the wash white and pure and sweet.

The easiest and best way to use Fels-Naptha soap is the right way—in cool or lukewarm water. Use any time of the year.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper.
