KENNEDYVILLE NOTES.

Rev. Mr. Mullineaux reports a very enjoyable time at noon Friday when he called by special invitation on "The Concrete Gang" of Pennsylvania R. R. Men, Mr. Charles L. Gordon foreman, and Mr. Edward P Carrow, cook, in their car, on rail road home near the Kennedyville station. There are nine men in this industrious company, some of them, including the foreman, being friends of Mr. Mullineaux on a former charge. The parson speaks in glowing terms of the good dinner prepared by Mr. Carrow, and says he will be delighted to accept another such hospitable invitation.

Mrs. W. M. Clendaniel, and son Charles, made a trip to Baltimore Saturday last to see the good but afflicted husband and father, Mr. W. M. Clendaniel, who is in the North Mount St. hospital for treatment.

People generally are commenting on the fine weather and good roads for the month of December, and too, so near Christmas.

Hens are beginning to lay the winter eggs, but the price of this valuable poultry fruit is not yet according to the season and the expensiveness of keeping the domestic birds.

The people of the whole community deeply deplore the great loss to Mr. William Whiteley and family, which occurred on Saturday afternoon of the past week, when they lost a large part of their corn crop by fire, at the time the engine and sheller were running on the premises near the barn and corn crib. The cow sheds, barn and corn crib, with a large amount of corn were all destroyed by fire. The many kind neighbors of the community hold themselves in readiness to come to the help of Mr. Whiteley in any and every way they may be able to render assistance. Mr. Brooks, the owner of the farm, we learn, will be prompt in restoring the buildings.

The late suppers of the M. P. and Presbyterian Church Aid Societies held in Weer's Hall, were wonderfully successful, numerically, socially and financially.

About seventy five members of the Kennedyville Grange attended the Monday afternoon weekly meeting in Weer's Hall, at which time Rev. and Mrs. Wm. Clews, Miss Bessie Jewell and William Groves received the third and fourth degrees of the order. Following the business session of the order came the feast of good things spread upon two long tables. The cuisine and menu were par excellence. The Kennedyville Grange numbers over a hundred members and still they come.

Miss Lulu VanDyke made a visit to Baltimore the past week.

Miss Nellie Othoson has as her guest, Miss Walters, of Sassafras, and Miss Elizabeth Pennington was guest of Miss Emma Shafer the end of the past week.

Mrs. Lulu Dukes is spending most of her time with her father, Mr. Bonwell, who recently, hurt himself very seriously by falling from a load of hay.

Special Christmas services will be held in the Kennedyville Methodist Protesnt Church next Sunday the 22nd Sabbath School at 6 30 a. m., followed by sermon on some Christmas topic by the pastor. Rehearsal of Christmas music in said church Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. A full attendance of the choir members earnestly solicit d. The evening C. E. Service, topic "What the coming of Christ has done and will do for the world," will be led by the pastor, in connection with which he will give an object lesson of many different kinds of candles, called, "The feast of Light."

Come and worship, everybody invited. Mr. Medders superintendent of the Sunday-School will have a Xmas treat for the children on Sunday, the 20th.

NELLIE BLY SAFE IN PORT.

Crippled Schooner Towed By The Apache Into Chester River—Crew At Pumps For Sixty Hours.

After the members of her crew had been compelled to work constantly at the pumps for about 60 hours, practically without a wink of sleep and exposed to the bitter cold, with immminent danger of either sinking or becoming waterlogged, the two-masted schooner, Nellie Bly, Capt. L. P. Ward, was taken to her destination at Rock Hall, Kent county, under convoy of the United States revenue cutter, Apache, Captain Carmine, last Friday.

The Apache had been standing by the disabled vessel since Wednesday night about 10 o'clock, with members of her crew rendering every possible aid to Captain Ward and his crew of four men, to prevent the Nellie Bly from going down.

The Nellie Bly was lumber laden, her cargo being consigned to Elmer E. Leary at Rock Hall, Kent county, who owns the vessel. Seeing the dispatches of the disabled condition of his boat, Mr. Leary was in communication with various points along the bay. He telephoned to Annapolis twice thinking that his vessel had probably been towed safely into that port.

The Nellie Bly, with her cargo of lumber, put out of Norfolk several days ago and was not only whipped by the heavy storm that swept over Virginia, but after weathering that, she ran into the teeth of the northwest gale that set in early Wednesday morning. It was then that she sprung a leak. The water poured through her seams rapidly, and it was only through the most heroic work on the part of the members of the crew that the schooner remained afloat long enough for her to reach the harbor of Black Walnut Cove, in Choptank river.

There Captain Ward decided to cast anchor, with the hope of either being able to repair the damagee to his craft or of receiving assistance from some larger vessel.

Apache To The Rescue.

It was about 10 o'clock Wednesday night that the cutter Apache happened along and Captain Carmine quickly responded to the distress signals given by the schooner. When the Apache approacbed the schooner she was found to be at anchor in about 12 feet of water, with the crew working constantly at the pumps to prevent her filling.

The bedding in the bunks of the schooner had become so thorough water-soaked that comfortable sleeping was out of the question. In fact, the members of the crew were satisfied to lose their sleep so long as they saved their vessel. It was bitter cold and a heavy sea rolled over the bay all day, and it was out of the question for the Apache to attempt to tow the schooner to her detsination. So the cutter stood by until conditions bettered materially.

But at that the trip up the bay was a slow one, because of the danger of the seas engulfing the crippled vessel. The cutter proceeded under slow speed and finally reached port in safety. All the while, however, the crew of the Nellie Bly were forced to remain at the pumps, though some of the bluejackets of the Apache were sent to their assistance.

Another Fatal Accident with Scalding Wash Water.

Anty Drudge—"Oh! Mrs. Happydays. Here's another child scalded to death! Too bad. And just to think, that could have been avoided if the mother had only washed with Fels-Naptha soap in the Fels-Naptha way—with cool or lukewarm water. Criminal negligence, I call it!"

The woman who considers her health won't tempt fate by standing for hours over a steaming tub, opening the pores in her chest and neck (the very place where grip and pneumonia strike) and then going right out in the cold to hang the clothes on the line.

No need. Wash the Fels-Naptha way—in cool or lukewarm water. No steam; no hot water; no nauseous odors.

It saves money and doctor bills, and keeps hands and face clear and smooth instead of chapped and blotchy.

Washing the Fels-Naptha way, does away with the back-breaking drudgery of wash-day. No hard rubbing.

Fels-Naptha dissolves the dirt; makes the clothes look a lot cleaner and fresher than you could ever get them by boiling and rubbing.

Clothes last longer, too—washed with Fels-Naptha. There is no boiling to weaken the fabric and no hard rubbing to wear it to shreds. Do your next wash the Fels-Naptha way. You will be all through in one-half the time and with one-tenth the effort.

Follow the directions on the red and green wrapper. Use any time of the year.
