say that we should be glad to gratify him, if it can be done with justice to all concerned. You know that the cost of provisions for the round voyage would be considerable — that his salary of $100.00 a month seems high to the Ex. Com. & that we are very short of money. I would suggest a sort of compromise — viz. that his salary should be $75.00 a month — or what would amount to the same thing & still allow his salary to stand at $100.00, that he should pay toward their passage $25.00 a month. I think that would be about fair — & yet less than ½ fare.

I hope the Merchants Bank will give us the discount at 6 %. We do not want to pay more. I do not reckon Dr. Gunton would like
