Women Avoid Operations

When a woman suffering from some form of feminine disorder is told that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the hospital operating table and the surgeon's knife strikes terror to her heart, and no wonder. It is quite true that some of these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but thousands of women have avoided the necessity of an operation by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. This fact is attested by the grateful letters they write to us after their health has been restored.

These Two Women Prove Our Claim.

Cary, Ma[illegible]—"I feel it a duty I owe to all suffering women to tell what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me. One year ago I found myself a terrible sufferer. I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely staighten up at times. My back ached, I had no appetite and was so nervous I could not sleep, then I would be so tired mornings that I could scarcely get around. It seemed almost impossible to move or do a bit of work and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation. I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman. I had no pains, slept well, had good appetite and was fat and could do almost all my own work for a family of four. I shall always feel that I owe my good health to your medicine."—Mrs. Hayward Sowers, Cary, Me.

Charlotte, N. C—"I was in bad health for two years, with pains in both sides and was very nervous. If I even lifted a chair it would cause a hemorrhage. I had a growth which the doctor said was a tumor and I never would get well unless I had an operation. A friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I gladly say that I am now enjoying fine health and am the mother of a nice baby girl. You can use this letter to help other suffering women."—Mrs. Rosa Sims, 16 Wyona St., Charlotte, N. C.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman submit to a surgical operation without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"A Maryland Woman" Thinks The Sun Gave Too Little Space To What Senator Bailey Really Said And Too Much To Reportorial Frills—And She Declares Substanance Is More Filling Than Foam.

To The Editor of The Sun—Sir: We take several daily papers, especially the Baltimore Sun, because I really feel I have not gotten the best and all of the news until it has been read. But to-day my faith falters. Whether you fail to come up to reasonable expectation or I expect too much, I can only leave it to any fair mind to decide.

I do like to see you "men people" play fair and discuss all sides of a question in type. The initiative and referendum is one broad topic, some States accepting and other discussing its acceptance in constitutional amendments. It ran all through the past Presidential campaign, everyone more or less being interested in it.

Especially may this be so when it is made the subject of a set speech in the Senate by an authority upon constitutional law. Then the world and his wife become particularly interested, being the wife in this instance, and believing home duties should come before even great speeches, I counseled thus with myself "If I cannot hear Mr. Bailey's speech at least I will get it all in the newspaper."

I awaited the morning papers with interest and selected my old friend The Sun first, and in eagerness stood and read it, then in consternation sat down and read the reporter's account of the speech all over again!

That reporter wrote what he saw—"the cup of coffee," "three lumps of sugar," "piles of books for reference"; he even noted the napkin that covered the coffee. This part was bright and "chatty," but Mr. Bailey did not stand there to demonstrate that he used two lumps of sugar to one cup of coffee, or piles of books with nothing in then worth printing, but to give this country at large the benefit of his broad and deep understanding of the initiative and referendum. The reader is given no adequate idea of the arguments drawn from the resolution upon which Senator Bailey's speech was predicated. Knowing he stood opposed to prohibition, with what irony he must have remarked "it was coffee."

If prohibition is worked elsewhere as it works upon this good old Eastern Shore surely no one could believe in it.

Not one logical argument is given in Bailey's own words, yet much is told of his conclusions as to his enemies. Interesting? Yes! But it would be still more so to hear what Hearst may have to say when he reads them. We are told of books, piles of them, from which Bailey quoted. They must have contained some of the wisdom of the ages, yet not one quotation do we get—we the people for whom they were spoken.

The reporter told what he saw, and he also wrote the things "without" point to the resolution, "without" logic, "without the very heart of the subject spoken of. He wrote of the things "without" just about like the boy wrote of the things "within." His teacher, instructing him upon the art of composition, said: "You should not attempt flights of fancy; simply write what is in you, drawing inspiration from outside subjects." The boy, flinging aside flights of fancy and outside inspirations, wrote thus: "In me there is a stommick, lungs, hart, liver, two apples, one pie, one stick lemon candy and my dinner."

Now, would I not protest, but for the long editorial upon this speech that you have given no one a chance to read. This editorial is clever, but not enlightening. In it you say: "Another schoolmaster is abroad in the land—the daily press—throwing light into every corner, teaching day by day, line upon line, precept upon precept. * * * There are no sealed books, but an open page, which, thank to the daily newspapers, the voter can read and understand and his knowledge, common sense and intelligence often put the tory statesman to shame or catch a lame point in his logic." Of this speech you have not given a principle big enough for even a lame man to stand upon, or the reader a logical point big enough to catch or trip anyone with.

Bailey has a brilliant mind. What help is it to us to be told "his views of the Constitution spring from the personal constitution of J. W. Bailey?" We want to know what his views are, being a national topic. I do not care to vote and am proud of my good friend. Mr. Warburton, of Elkton, for his speech beating suffrage at Annapolis last winter. Still, I do like to hear and know all sides of a discussion upon national affairs. So I will have to fall back upon the much-ridiculed Congressional Record, which at least does give the whole truth. The old Constitution has stood the stress of many fine speeches. Now is its defense so out of date that it is waste of type to record even a brilliant man's efforts thereon?

A Maryland Woman.
Massey, Kent county, Md., Jan. 5.

WHAT IT COST TO BORROW A NEWSPAPER.

A man who was too economical to subscribe for his county paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbor. In his haste the boy ran over a $4 stand of bees and in ten minutes looked like a warty summer squash. His father ran to his assistance, and, failing to notice a barbed-wire fence, ran into that, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a $4 pair of pants. The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence and got into the cornfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing a racket, the wife ran out, upset a fourgallon churn full of rich cream into a basket of little chickens, drowing the entire hatch. In her haste she dropped a $25 set of false teeth. The baby, having been left alone, crawled through the spilled milk and into the parlor, ruining a $40 carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter ran away with the hired man, the dog broke up eleven setting hens and did other damage, all because the farmer was too "close" to pay for a county paper.

Moral: Take the county paper and pay for it. It will save you money.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and father, Lewis C. Hayes, who died three years ago, Jan. 7th, 1910.

The one that we loved is missing,
The voice that we loved is stilled;
His place in our home is vacant,
And never can be filled.

Oh, how hard we tried to save him,
But our care was all in vain;
Gone from the hearts that loved him
To sleep in the silent tomb.

How long he struggled against disease
That baffled skill and care;
How long he lingered, racked with pain,
And suffering hard to bear.

But his troubles are all ended,
His toil on earth is done;
Three years ago his busy hands were folded,
And his Heavenly Crown was won.

Retired Georgia Planter's Advice to Kidney Sufferers

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of the newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a 50-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 79 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

Sincerely yours,
C. E. USSERY,
Bowersville, Ga.

Personally appeared before me, this 8th of September, 1909, C. E. Ussery, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

Order of Publication

And Notice To Creditors.

R. Bruce Massey, Assignee, versus
Anna L. Duling, John W. Duling, her husband.

In the Circuit Court for Kent County, in Equity. No. 1829.

The object of this suit is to have the surplus proceeds of sale under a mortgage applied to to pay the creditors of Anna L. Duling, late of Kent county, deceased, mortgagor.

The Petition stated that Anna L. Duling died before the sale under the mortgage, indebted unto Benjamin W. Duling in $59.55 on an open account and an open account for $37.25 for expenses incurred for the estate of the said Anna L. Duling, deceased, after her death, and to others, that she left no personal estate and no administration has been granted on her estate, that the land sold for more than enough to satisfy the mortgage and her creditors are entitled to the surplus proceeds; that Anna L. Duling left surviving her and now living a husband, John W. Duling, and the following heirs at law, namely: Benjamin W. Duling, a son whose wife's name is Laura Duling, residing in Maryland, Dora Duling, a daughter whose husband's name is Harry Duling, residing in Delaware, Mary W. Bamberger, a daughter whose husband's name is David Bamberger, residing in Maryland, Olin C. Duling, a son whose wife's name is Ida Duling, residing in Maryland, Sara Edna Vansant, a daughter, widow of B. E. Vansant, deceased, residing in Maryland, Oscar Brown Duling, a son whose wife's name is Mary Duling, residing in Pennsylvania, and the following children of Anna R. Clough, a deceased daughter, namely: John H. Clough, whose wife's name is Clara Clough, Clarence Clough, whose wife's name is Clara Clough, Eva W. Porter, whose dusband's name is Robert E. Porter, and George E. Clough, whose wife's name is Ida Clough, all residing in Maryland, and Edward Clough residing in New Jersey, and Herman S. Clough, whose wife's name is Mollie Clough, residing in Delaware when last heard from, and may now be residing in Maryland, all of the above named heirs at law being adults, except Edward Clough, who is an infant and the following children of John Duling, a deceased son, all of whom are minors, namely: Bayard Duling, residing in Pennsylvania, and Clara Duling and John Duling, both residing in Delaware.

Ordered this 7th day of January, 1913, by the Court that the creditors of Anna L. Duling, deceased, file their claims, with vouchers with the Clerk of this Court on or before the fifteenth day of March next; or be be excluded from participation in the distribution of said surplus proceeds of sale.

Ordered further that notice of the object and purpose of said petition be given to Dora Duling, Harry Duling, Oscar Brown Duling, Mary Duling and Herman S. Clough and Mollie Clough, adults, and Edward Clough, Bayard Duling, Clara Duling and John Duling, infants, all non-residents, by publishing this Order in some weekly newspaper published in Kent county once in each of four successive weeks before the eighth day of February, 1913, to show cause, if any they have, why the petition should not be granted.
