Dear Sir.

II A 28

Donations are becoming small, few, and far between, so I waited the return to the city of the Superintendent of Adams Express hoping to get the boxes to go the freedmen taken without charge. I have this afternoon succeeded and on Saturday a box of clothing, a small bale of blankets, &c will go by Adams Express, free, to the ship, to be delivered on Monday morning. I shall bring on Monday night two emigrants from Philadelphia, young men. Kindest remembrance to your father.

Yours truly Thos. S. Malcom
