SENATOR WILLIAM W. BECK was in conference this week with Senator Blair Lee. Senator Lee is much pleased with the support of the Organization in Kent and thinks he has a fine show to win in the State.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Mr. J. Waters Russell requests us to announce his candidacy for Treasurer. He says he belongs to no faction.

It is reported that Mr. Sam'l G. Caldwell is being urged to become a candidate for Treasurer.

Mr. Wm. B. Coleman announces that he is a candidate for Commissioner of Chestertown to succeed Mr. Merrick Clements. This makes three candidates.

The Barroll organ announces Mr. John C. Wood as their candidate for County Commissioner from the Fifth district to succeed his brother, Mr. Chas. D. Wood. Also the candidacy of Mr. Benj. Crew, from the Third district.

Many of the friends of Capt. E. M. Taylor, of Betterton are urging him to announce his candidacy for County Commissioner from the Third District.

Club Incorporated.—W. Irving Walker, Esq., in an interview with the NEWS man on Tuesday, stated that papers were filed in the State Tax Commissioners' Office on Monday incorporating "The Rich Neck Farmers' Club, of Queen Anne's." A full account of the purposes and aims of this club have heretofore been given in the NEWS.

The purposes as set forth are "to co-operate in the cultivation, consigning, marketing, buying, selling and otherwise dealing in all kinds of farm products." The incorporators are W. Irving Walker, H. H. Klinefelter, H. P. Skipper, James B. Newnam, Chas. E. McKee, J. Thos Smith, J. McC. Rochester, Josiah Massey, R. Woodall Robinson, B. F. Potts, of Queen Anne's county, and Chas. H. Jefferson and Clifton L. Jarrell, of Kent county. The first six of these are named as directors for the first year. The capital stock is $5,000, divided into 500 shares of $10 each. The principal office is to be in Chestertown.

Mr. Walker stated that the incorporators are all members of the Rich Neck Farmers' Club, of Queen Anne's county, and by combining in the marketing of their produce much better results will be obtained. The Club, during the eight years of its existence, has directed its efforts toward improving farm conditions in the community, and by its united energy the members have established an enviable reputation for their produce, showing the value of organization, after which more communities should pattern.

In this connection we would state that the total volume of business handled by the Eastern Shore of Virginia Produce Exchange during the year 1912 amounted in round numbers to $8,650,000. The volume of produce marketed including barrels of Irish and sweet potatoes, crates of cabbage and berries, baskets of onions, etc., amounted to a total of nearly two million packages or more than nine thousand car loads.

PROGRESSIVE BETTERTON.

The merchants of Betterton were very handsomely entertained at a well appointed and sumptuous dinner given by Mr. Howard Turner, one of their number, at the Chesapeake Hotel, on Tuesday evening, January 28. Mr. Turner's motto for the evening was, "Let him that entereth these doors leave business cares behind," the sentiment of which was strictly adhered to, as there was not a single reference to any matter pertaining to business; the entire evening being devoted to pleasures of a social character, of which it was brim full

The musical selections by the genial host and Capt. Harvey Brice added materially to the enjoyment of the occasion. Another prominent feature of the evening, and one that added greatly to its pleasures, was the presence of Mr. Thomas W. Dyott, of Baltimore, who chanced to drop in during the evening. This polished gentleman has a fine talent for the rendition of spicy gems of wit in a manner that never fails to please. At a late hour the guests separated, unanimously voting the occasion one of those happy affairs that go to make life worth the living, and wishing their host a long life of usefulness, of health, of happiness and continued prosperity.

The motive that prompted our public spirited citizen to so nicely entertain the merchants of the town was that they might be drawn closer together and encourage a spirit of fraternity and good fellowship, that will be helpful to them and productive of good results throughout the community. Mr. Turner's great interest in the welfare of the town and his evident desire for a better Betterton, makes him a valuable asset and has given him a tact for grappling with and materially aiding in bringing to a happy solution the various problems presenting themselves looking to the permanent improvement of the town, the enhancement of its values and every interest conducive to the betterment of its people. The merchants of Betterton have cause to mutually congratulate each other on their attainments, their stores in point of neatness, variety of stock and up-to date business methods, will compare favorably with those of much larger towns. Until a few years Betterton was but a small speck on the commerce, but so rapidly has it grown and that to-day it ranks [illegible] commerce, and [illegible] tion to the

SENATOR BECK'S STATEMENT.

MESSRS. EDITORS KENT NEWS—

Gentlemen: There appeared in last week's issue of the Chestertown Transcript the following reference to me in the article, "The Reactionaries and Local Option":

GRATITUDE, Md., Jan. 15, 1913.

Messrs. Editors:—Enclosed find a letter from Mr. Charles Newman, Chairman of the House Temperance Committee. This is in answer to a letter asking him why the bill (meaning the Vickers bill) was brought out with an unfavorable report, when he had promised his support, and I also had a majority of the committee promise the same thing because it was a local bill. When the bill first came from the Senate I tried to get it before the committee at once, but the chairman (Mr. Newnam) asked me to wait, as he had promised Senator Beck to see him before acting on it. I waited, and almost every day after I insisted that the bill be acted on, and was always answered with promises to do so. I went home one night at midnight because I was too sick to stay any longer, and I was told next morning that the bill had been killed without any one but the majority members of the committee knowing it had a meeting.

Please publish this and also the enclosure.

Yours, CHARLES L. MILLER.

"We want our temperance friends in Kent county to read this letter of Mr. Miller. We want them to know just how the Organization—with Mr. Beck and Mr. Vickers as the ring-leaders—has been tampering with the people of the county, and we want our temperance friends to know who their real friends are.

"Will Mr. Beck tell his county people why he asked the chairman of the House Committee to hold up Mr. Vickers' bill until the chairman heard from him, and then finally, in the absence of Mr. Miller and his friends on the committee, to kill the bill by reporting it unfavorably, after a majority of the committee had promised to report the bill favorably."

It has been my rule not to answer any of the slanderous attacks made upon me by the Transcript, but when that paper states such a palpable untruth as it did in the above article I feel it my duty to myself as well as to the citizens of Kent county that the true facts should be given, in order that when other articles appear in that paper the readers should demand other proofs of the correctness of them besides the statement of Thos. D. Bowers, the junior editor of that paper.

The bill (known as the Vickers bill) had for its object the prevention of the violation of the local option law in this county, as it would be easier to convict those who violated this law by making both the runner and seller equally guilty: and my experience as State's Attorney for this county for eight years convinced me that the passage of a bill of this character would break up the pratice of the illicit sale of whiskey by preventing the prisoner at the trial from stating he had bought the whiskey from a third party: and of course said third party could not be found, and consequently under the old law the prisoner would be acquitted. It was also the experience of our Honorable Court and was recommended by them.

Therefore, when Mr. Vickers sent the bill to me I had it passed in the Senate on February 15, 1912, and on the same day the bill was sent to the House of Delegates and referred to the Temperance Committee, as is shown by the Maryland House Journal, 1912, page 407. There the bill slept and is still sleeping, for by reference to the House Journal, which can be seen by any one, no further action was taken: and any one at all familiar with legislation knows that Mr. Miller, who was a member of that committee, could have had the bill brought out of the committee with a favorable report, and if an unfavorable one, he could then have made his fight on the floor of the House to have the bill substituted for the unfavorable report, and thereby secured its passage: but by an examination of the House Journal, I find this was not done.

I cannot imagine why Mr. Miller brought my name into this controversy, for if he were opposed to the passage of this bill, or if he failed to do his duty in effecting its passage, it was no business of mine, as I accorded him the same right as I had, to vote as his conscience dictated on any measure.

The letter states that the reason the bill failed of passage was because Mr. Newnam, the chairman of the House Temperance Committee, had promised to see Senator Beck before acting on it. This statement is absurd on its face, for if I could control legislation in both the Senate and House why go to the expense of sending two members from Kent county to the Legislature? I certainly would not think I was a fit person to represent this county in the State Senate if a member from the House could come over to the Senate and defeat a local bill that I was interested in having passed.

I had thought until last Saturday that Mr. Miller and I were good friends, but if the letter attributed to Mr. Miller was really written by him, then my advice to him is to change his adviser.

The Transcript wants to know why I asked Mr. Newnam to see me before acting on this bill, and my reply is most emphatic that I did not see him, for I did not even know Mr. Newnam, and I never discussed this bill or any other measure with him.

Fearing that some people might believe Mr. Bowers, of the Transcript, that I had not acted fairly in this matter, by passing the bill in the Senate and then clandestinely trying to kill it in the House, and knowing that I did not even know Mr. Newnam by sight, I received the following letter from him, which speaks for itself:

BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 5, 1913.

Mr. William W. Beck, Chestertown, Md.

Dear Sir: Replying to your request in regard to the article published in the Chestertown Transcript Saturday, February 1, 1913, headed "The Reactionaries and Local Option, I wish to state that you are a perfect stranger to me, and I never discussed the bill mentioned in that article, or any other matters of legislation with you. Have Mr. Miller publish my letter to him.

Yours truly,

(Signed) CHARLES NEWNAM.

In justice to Mr. Miller, I want to say that he was fair enough to me to direct that Mr. Newnam's letter be published with his, but this Mr. Bowers failed to do. Can there be any reason for this other than that Mr. Bowers knew that Mr. Newnam did not say in his letter that I had asked him not to act on the bill until he had seen me?

It must not be forgotten that this letter is in Mr. Bowers' possession, and although told by Mr. Miller to publish it he failed to do so, and therefore was not only unfair to me but to the intelligent readers of his paper.

I now demand that Mr. Bowers publish the letter from Mr. Newnam to Mr. Miller, and if he fails to do so, or the letter does not contain what he states it did, he should be branded as a deliberate and malicious falsifier, and not fit to edit any reputable newspaper.

Respectfully yours,

WILLIAM W. BECK.
