After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. BROWN, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS:

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for 14 years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanitive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

PRUNING CORRECTLY INCREASES SIZE AND IMPROVES QUALITY

Important to Know Which Limbs are Useless and Which Valuable—Apple Trees Should be Kept Low and Open so Spray and Light May Reach Everywhere—Aid in Picking.

Pruning done correctly will increase the size and improve the quality of most common fruits. The expense of picking will be lessened and the expense of handling will not be so great, because there will be more of the first grade and less of the poorer grades of fruits. Then the results of spraying will be more satisfactory and, if the tree has been pruned, injuries to the wood and fungous pests are not so likely to be present. This was the information given a few days ago by D. E. Lewis, assistant in horticulture at the Kansas Agricultural college.

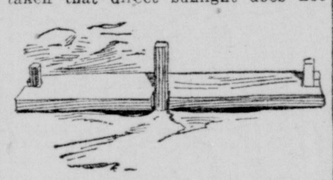

The object of pruning, Mr. Lewis says, is to obtain as much good fruit as possible from as little wood as possible.

To Plant Straight.

are borne on wood two or more years old, while peaches grow only on one-year wood.

The apple tree should be kept low and open so the spray may reach all sible; to change the tree from an undesirable to a desirable shape; to rid it of disease spots and dead wood, and to open it to admit light and air. Fungous growths develop best in dense shade. Pruning makes conditions unfavorable for them because light is admitted. But care must be taken that direct sunlight does not reach the larger limbs for too long a period every day. That may cause "sun-scald."

It is important, before trying to prune, to know where and how the fruit is borne. Then enough bearing wood to produce a good crop the following year should be left. This may be done and the tree made the desired form at the same time. Apples the limbs easily and the fruit be gathered easily.

You may take advantage of a year when cold has killed the fruit to rid peach trees of all surplus wood. They will stand a great deal of pruning and should be cut back so as to have just as little useless wood as possible. The larger limbs may be left as stubs, but there should be plenty of one-year limbs left to renew the top.

Cherry trees do not need so much pruning, but it is well to keep the tree in the preper shape with the top fairly open so that insecticides and sprays may be applied if necessary. A knowledge of the variety is needed to insure a proper pruning of the plum tree.

FARM WORKSHOP IS INVALUABLE

Place Where Many Hours are Spent That Otherwise Might Be Thrown Away—Good for Boys.

It is hard to estimate the value of the shop on the farm.

It is the place where many hours are spent that otherwise might be thrown away, or even worse than thrown away.

The room should be well lighted and of such size as to accommodate a portable forge, two sets of trestles and a long workbench with two sides to it.

On the joists overhead may be stored lumber for repairing the different parts of wagons, sleds, plows and harrows.

Some may say they have no one to do that sort of work so what is the use of having a shop. If there are boys in the family teach or have one of them taught to do repair work such as wood work and blacksmithing.

The shop should be at such a distance from the other buildings of the farm so as not to endanger them from sparks of the shop fire.

In our shop on rainy days during the fall we assort and clean onion sets, get out seed beans and peas and make our sauer-kraut.

On winter days that are not fit for working outside a few new singletrees are made and ironed off, the broken clips mended on the old ones. A few gates are made each winter and set up and braced against one side of the shop so as not to warp or settle crooked.

If the gate stuff is thorough seasoned they are given a good coat of paint; if the material is sappy or green the gates are not painted until the next summer.

All shavings and chips made in the shop are carefully put in boxes and used as kindling for the fires in the dwelling house.

Just build one and stock it with some good tools and material and you will wonder how you ever got along without it.

The support for the work bench which may be easily made of ordinary dry goods boxes makes a nice place to keep the tools, nails and bolts. Set shallow boxes on top of each other until the required height is obtained.

PECULIAR WHITEWASH

When traveling through the rural districts of Uruguay, says the American consul at Montevideo, one's attention is attracted to the fine white color of the farm buildings, even during the wet season. To obtain this neat effect a whitewash is used which is made with the sliced leaves of the common cactus, macerated in water for 24 hours, producing a solution of creamy consistence. To this lime is added and well mixed. When applied to any surface, be it wood, brick, iron, or other material, a beautiful pearly white appearance is produced which will endure through storms and frosts for many years. It is suggested that in sections of the United States where the cactus is a nuisance the plant might be utilized in this manner.

TOMB OF HAROUN'S FAVORITE

Very little remains to mark the golden age of Bagdad, though one constantly comes across the yet more ancient bricks bearing the stamp of Nebuchadnezzar that have been brought from the ruins of Babylon and are used in modern buildings. We do not know even where the famous palace of Haroun-al-Rashid stood. From this epoch remain only the tomb of Zobeida, Haroun-al-Rashid's favorite wife, her [illegible]tured, and Khan Ortma, a handsome and extensive caravanseral.

CHINA HAS NO TYPEWRITERS

Typewriters are now made for use in nearly a hundred different languages, and they are sold all over the world; but there is still one great nation which, for a very simple reason, has no typewriters that write its tongue. That nation is China.

The English alphabet has 26 letters, the Russian 36. The typewriter produced for the Russian market is the largest made; but no typewriter could be made that would begin to be big enough for the Chinese language, which has no alphabet but is represented by sign characters, of which there are about 50,000. Of the great number of words found in the English language only a small proportion are used for the ordinary purposes of speech, and the same is true of the characters used in the Chinese language; but the number of Chinese characters commonly employed is still far greater than could be put on any typewriter. So this nation of 400,000,000 people has no typewriter in its own tongue.

But that doesn't mean that no typewriters are sold in China. More and more Chinese are learning other languages besides their own, and Chinese merchants and resident foreign merchants use typewriters, and they are used in legations and in consular offices and in banks and shipping offices and colleges, and by missionaries, by various people. Altogether there are sold in China a good many typewriters.

VIOLIN MADE OF MATCHES

A violin made of matches is an unique conception. This is what W. M. Finstad, of Bay City, Wis., has accomplished. He has actually made a violin from matches, using 5,450 of the inflammable sticks and a year's time in its construction. It has a full, sweet, mellow tone, and undoubtedly there is not another one like it in existence. It was exhibited at the Minnesota state fair and attracted a great deal of attention.
