Dear Sir
Your favor of yesterday is at hand.

Capt Clements extended his protest We communicated in all matters with Mr McLain, & it was deemed best before incurring the large expense of docking to see if an offer could be got for the Ship Subject to her being docked hoping in this way to avoid a portion of the expense, But as vessel property is very dull, & not much appearance of improvement no Satisfactory offer has been made, We wrote Mr McLain not long since suggesting that it now might best to dock her & put her in order. he thought it better to wait until you returned.
