our fall expedition in her. We are daily expecting the decision of the Court upon which the Bartwick Will Case was argued, and our Counsel think it will be in our favor — if so, there is a possibility that we can get the money in time to send 300 emigrants the 1st Nov. I thought her compliment was more than that. Under all these considerations it was that we supposed a little delay would not injure our rights with the ins. companies — I confess now I do not see why it should —

Yours truly
