The Man Who Wrote This Advertisement

—sat with his head in his hand and bewailed the poverty of the English language.

To himself he said, "What can I say that will carry conviction about Adler-Rochester Clothes?

"I know how these clothes are made—from the cutting of the cloth to the sewing on of the last button.

"I know that they are made by the most expert tailors of the country.

"But how can I do them justice in print?"

This is a positive statement of fact. We will vouch for it.

We will go even further to say that no man living can put into words the perfections that exist in—.

Adler-Rochester Clothes

We know these clothes to be the product of the finest tailoring institution in the world.

We know that with them we clothe the very best-dressed men in this community.

We know that their style is absolutely correct always—that their materials are always of the most approved shade an pattern—that their fit is almost infallible.

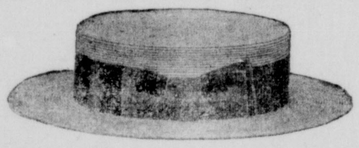

We know all these things so well that we sympathize with our poor ad writer, who tries to make you believe them by the printed word.

And you, too, will share our feeling when you see our stock of ADLER-ROCHESTER CLOTHES.

Take our word for it that the millionaire can command no finer clothes than these.

We want an opportunity to show them to you—COME IN.
