Studebaker

"Such shipments mean Studebaker has the confidence of the farmer"

Every year over one hundred thousand horse-driven vehicles are sold by Studebaker. Over a million Studebaker vehicles are always in use. Stop and think what that means.

This enormous output means that Farmers—the men who know—depend upon Studebaker wagons to do their work.

And a Studebaker wagon never fails. It is always ready to do a big day's work—and to keep on doing it. There are thousands of Studebaker wagons that have been in service from 20 to 40 years.

A Studebaker wagon is a real business asset. Wheels, body, frame, axles and running gear have been tested and retested by experts. You can buy cheaper wagons but they're not Studebakers, nor will they last like Studebaker wagons.

Whether in city, town or country, for business or pleasure, there is a Studebaker vehicle to meet your requirements. Farm wagons, trucks, contractors' wagons, buggies, surreys, runabouts, pony carriages, business and delivery wagons—each the best of its kind. Studebaker harness also, of every description.

GALENA ITEMS.

Miss Emma Boyd is spending a few days with relatives in Philadelphia.

Communion service was held at St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church last Sunday morning. The pastor of this church is now conducting an interesting Bible Study class on Wednesday afternoon of each week.

Mrs. C. N. Moore spent a part of last week in Baltimore.

Epworth League Anniversary service last Sunday evening was in charge of the president, Mr. Wm. Fogwell.

The pastor's wife, Mrs. C. N. Moore gave a very interesting and helpful talk on what our league is doing and what we as Epworthians may do to help "look up," "lift up."

The taking out of several large stumps by the use of dynamite aroused much interest here on Monday evening. The work was done on the property formerly known as the Todd property.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Davis and little son, Edward, of Middletown, visited in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodside, of Chester, Pa., have been visiting at the home of Mrs. A. E. Ireland.

Mrs. Katherine Hyland, who has been spending some time at Middletown returned home on Sunday last.

Mrs. Mae Stradley and little son, Allen, of Chestertown, visited friends in town last week.

Prof. L. J. Smyth, Kent County School Examiner gave our school a visit last Thursday. Teachers and pupils are always glad to welcome Prof. Smyth to Galena.

Mrs. A. E. Ireland, who has been quite sick is somewhat better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Caldwell visited friends at Ellston last week.

The Just Government League of Kent Co. will hold a suffrage meeting in the Town Hall Wednesday May 28 at 8 p. m. Speakers will be ones from Baltimore, and all are urged to attend.

ISAAC HECHT HANGS HIMSELF.

Havre De Grace Banker and Merchant Worried Over Health—Formerly From Chestertown.

Isaac Hecht, president of the Havre de Grace Banking and Trust Company and one of the largest property owners in Havre de Grace, ended his life at 10.30 o'clock Tuesday morning by hanging himself in the garage in the rear of his home.

From the position in which the body was found by one of his chauffeurs, who had been sent to look for him, it is evident that Mr. Hecht carefully planned his death.

After securing the rope, he nailed it carefully to the floor of the second story of the garage near the doorway at the head of the stairway leading from the first floor. It is supposed that after placing the rope around his neck he walked down until it became taut and then stepped off the stairway.

For the last month, according to the members of his family, Mr. Hecht's mind has been unbalanced, owing to his failing health.

The deceased was well known in Kent where lived for some years before removing to Harve de Grace.

POULTRY NOTES.

Written for KENT NEWS by Kent County Poultryman.

Do not hurry your young chickens on to the perches they are better sleeping on the ground as long as they will. Many a fine bird is spoiled by taking to the perch too soon. They are far better off if they do not perch until fully mature and almost ready to lay.

The age at which a pullet will start to lay is of course governed largely by the breed and the strain of that breed. As I have said in a previous article the Orpington takes a little longer than the Rock and R. I. Red and these two possibly about a week longer than the Wyandote. This difference is not enough to matter materially and of course you will find that the times specified are only about the average, some of your pullets will lay weeks earlier and some weeks later. I have had a Rock to lay in 151 days and an Orpington to lay in 157 days and neither of these times are at all exceptional, and I am convinced that it does not pay to force your pullets in any way.

In raising poultry it is undoubtedly the eggs that pay best and the winter eggs is where the real profit lies so it is advisable to bear this in mind when hatching out your young chicks. It is too late now to hatch fall layers this year, but you still have time to raise pullets that will get into laying trim before eggs fall to their spring level of price. Also these pullets will make the very best of breeders for your 1914 winter layers, if mated to a good cock in his second or third year.

No flock of mongrels will lay as well as thoroughbreds but with care the early hatches of even these should more than pay their board during the fall and winter. They however need constant care and considerable judgment in culling. It is not a hard matter to get eggs all the year round and most of them when eggs are high in price. Of course no hen will lay every month for 12 months and it does not take very much neglect for the best flock of thoroughbreds to deteriorate (as far as laying qualities are concerned) into the typical dunghill that lays with more or less regularity from March to September and loafs from September to March. A hen that lays 160 eggs a year and 100 of those between September and March is worth more than one that lays 200 eggs a year and only 50 of them during this winter period. In addition to this, if you raise a breed of proved winter laying abilities such as the Orpington or R. I. Red, you will find that they not only outlay others in the winter but do it all the year round in the aggregate. How many readers got no eggs or at most 5 per cent. to 20 per cent. during the past winter and are now getting from 60 per cent. to 80 per cent. and will continue at the latter figure till eggs begin to go up and then the percentage will go down until when eggs reach the 40c mark the percentage of production will be zero. The writer was getting over 80 per cent. production all fall and winter and is now getting about 40 per cent. and it is possible to do better than this. Get a pen of thoroughbred poultry, keep it by itself, and try. When once you do this you will keep nothing else but the best and will realize that it pays.

WHY THE NAME PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL WAS ADOPTED.

In view of the discussion of the proposed change of name of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the following explanation of the incorporation of the word "Episcopal" in the name may be of interest to the general public at this time. It was given by Rev. Ethan Allen, then histriographer of the Diocese of Maryland.

In 1776, when a State government of Maryland was organized, the general support of the clergy was taken from them, except that glebe lands were given in fee to each parish. Because of this condition of affairs a convention of clergy and laymen of the Diocese of Easton in Talbot, Queen Anne's, Kent, and Cecil counties was held at Chestertown, Kent County, and the first action was the naming of the church.

In 1692, when the Church of England was established in Maryland by statue, the statue was "for the establishment of the Protestant religion;" but at the time of the Chestertown convention other sects had come to the province, all of whom were Protestants. To distinguish their church from these sects the convention passed a resolution that their church should be called "the Protestant Episcopal Church," and the name was subsequently adopted by general convention of the States.

The proposed name was moved by Rev. James Wilmer, the then rector of Shrewsbury, Kent County. Rev. Mr. Wilmer, who died in 1814, was a grand-uncle of the late Bishop of Alabama and Louisiana.

PINEY NECK ITEMS.

Miss Edith Colison has returned home after being with her relatives in Baltimore.

Mrs. Harry Lake gave a dance at the K. of P. Hall May 15.

Mr. John T. Crouch, of this town, has gone to Brandywine Springs, for the summer.

Mrs. Henry Pearman is visiting friends and relatives of this town.

Mrs. Luther Kendall has returned home after visiting her friends here.

Raymond Price and Gilpin Hyland have returned from Betterton after a two months stay.

We are sorry to report that Captain Thomas Price has been very ill and is not much better at this writing. Also Mr. James Beck, Sr., is very ill.

MRS. EMMA H. STAFFORD, through her attorney, J. Frank Ball, has applied for a divorce from her husband, William T. Stafford, on statutory grounds. The plaintiff has testified that she married the defendant on March 2, 1904, and that she left him on November 17, 1912, after she had learned of certain acts he was alleged to have committed during August, September and October of that year. The testimony was given privately. Stafford was not represented. The father of the plaintiff corroborated her testimony. A decree nisi has been granted. Mr. Stafford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stafford, of Chestertown, and Mrs. Stafford is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Ivens.

After Long Suffering

Women Are Constantly Being Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Worth mountains of gold," says one woman. Another says, "I would not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for all the other medicines for women in the world." Still another writes, "I should like to have the merits of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound thrown on the sky with a searchlight so that all suffering women could read and be convinced that there is a remedy for their ills."

We could fill a newspaper ten times the size of this with such quotations taken from the letters we have received from grateful women whose health has been restored and suffering banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished such a universal success? Why has it lived and thrived and kept on doing its glorious work among the sick women of the world for more than 30 years?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has ever approached its success is plainly and simply because there is no other medicine so good for women's ills.

Here are two letters that just came to the writer's desk—only two of thousands, but both tell a comforting story to every suffering woman who will read them—and be guided by them.

FROM MRS. D. H. BROWN.

Iola, Kansas.—"During the Change of Life I was sick for two years. Before I took your medicine I could not bear the weight of my clothes and was bloated very badly. I doctored with three doctors but they did me no good. They said nature must have its way. My sister advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I purchased a bottle. Before it was gone the bloating left me and I was not so sore. I continued taking it until I had taken 12 bottles. Now I am stronger than I have been for years and can do all my work, even the washing. Your medicine is worth its weight in gold. I cannot praise it enough. If more women would take your medicine there would be more healthy women. You may use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. D. H. BROWN, 809 North Walnut Street, Iola, Kan.

MRS. WILLIAMS SAYS:

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for 14 years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanitive Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.—Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.
