HIS CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN A CONTINUOUS AFFAIR.

The "clean-up, paint-up" crusade has no terrors for Thomas H. Stavely, superintendent of the Eastern High School building, at Broadway and East North avenue. He is said to have the cleanest public school in the city and visitors to the building are ready to indorse this statement. Members of the School Board and the principal of the school are loud in their praise of Mr. Stavely's work.

Besides having charge of the cleaning up of the building he keeps the stockroom in order and distributes the books and stationery. When it is considered that he has 30 classrooms, 3 laboratories, 4 offices, a drawing room and an assembly hall, to keep spotless, it can be seen that he has a gigantic task. This school building is the largest in the city.

Mr. Stavely said his recipe was constant vigilance. He keeps a force of seven women busy with the mops and dusters all day. Dust is not allowed to accumulate Besides being an accomplishment for the man in charge of the building the cleanliness is a lesson to the students and it is said they profit by it.

Mr. Staveley is from Kent county and familiarly known as "Hep." His record as noted in the Baltimore Sun gives delight to his many friends here.

BRYAN MANSION BURNED

Family at Litter Louna Rescued in Night Clothing at 4 A. M.—Loss Is About $42,000.

A disastrous fire which nearly cost the lives of nine persons destroyed "Litter Louna," the beautiful Colonial mansion of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bryan, in the Green Spring Valley, early Friday morning, entailing a loss of about $42,000. Mrs. Bryan was before marriage Miss Mamie Patterson and is very well known in Kent county, where she often visits as the guest of Mrs. J. Arthur Bradley, Mrs. Emma A. Hynson and others.

The fire was discovered about 4 o'clock by Ignatz Stuscomas, a man servant, who was awakened by the smoke. He hurriedly aroused Mr. Bryan, who, with his 9-year-old daughter, was sleeping on the second floor.

Mr. Bryan in turn called his son-in-law, Selpon F. Cortez, who, with his wife and 8-months-old daughter, were visiting the Bryan family. Together the three men groped their way to the cellar, where the fire is supposed to have originated, as a result of defective electric wiring. Seeing that they could not cope with the flames they retraced their steps and gave the alarm to the family and also to three servants in the house

By this time the fire had gained considerable headway. The occupants, finding it impossible to escape down the blazing stairway, rushed to a window on the second floor and made their exit through it on a porch. Here they huddled together, shivering in scant attire, and almost frantic with fright. In another minute a ladder was placed in position, and Joseph Beaver, the gardener, and John Washington, another employe, both of whom had been asleep in one of the outbuildings, thus rescued the entrapped occupants.

About this time it was learned that the telephone connection had been destroyed and that it would consequently be impossible to call the fire department by this method. Mr. Cortez meanwhile cranked his automobile and drove rapidly to the Pikesville Volunteer Fire Company, where the alarm was given. Mrs. Cortez, who accompanied him, took off her slipper and used it as a hammer in breaking the glass in the fire-alarm box.

In a few minutes the Pikesville, Arlington and Roland Park Fire Companies were on the scene. The fire fighters, however, were powerless when they arrived owing to the lack of water supply. It was soon seen that the handsome home was doomed. In less than an hour the mansion was ruins. Almost $5,000 worth of jewelry was lost.

"Litter Louna," which originally consisted of over 650 acres, was formerly the property of a branch of the Carroll family. Many years ago it came into the possession of the late Edwin F. Abell, and later was acquired by Thos. R. Myer. About 12 years ago it was partly destroyed by fire. Mr. Bryan bought the place about three years ago and spent thousands of dollars in beautifying the home until it became known as one of the handsomest residences in the Green Spring Valley.

THE Continental Life Insurance Company of Wilmington, Del., paid their stockholders a pleasant surprise last week when they received dividend checks for 15 per cent. on their stock-holdings in the company. A great deal of this stock is held by investors in Chestertown and throughout Kent county, and they were much gratified to receive these dividend checks. In order to put the stock already issued on the same basis as the stock to be issued in future under the stock-options, a regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent. and an extra dividend of 12 per cent. ($1.50 per share in all) has been declared on the stock already issued and outstanding. After paying these dividends, the company will still have in hand, after providing for all liabilities, a trifle more than $20 on each share of stock already issued, or a little more than the figure at which policy-holders may exercise their options when they fall due.
