FIRE AT BUCK NECK.

The brick dwelling at Buck Neck, tenanted by Wm. H. Cooper, took fire early yesterday morning and was burned to the ground. The family were not able to save anything but a table and sewing machine and made a narrow escape with their lives. The fire was discovered in the back building at 2 A. M. and gained headway rapidly. Its origin is a mystery. This was one of the oldest houses in Kent and belonged to Senator W. W. Beck, Mrs. Woodall and Clark heirs. It was insured for $2100 in J. G. Beck's agency.

A good crowd attended the opening matinee at Fair ground track last Saturday and was treated to an afternoon of fine sport. All the races were very interesting. Pony Boy, driven by Mr. Joseph Rising, broke the track record by pacing a mile in 2 14 flat. All the horses showed up splendidly for this first matinee. CHAS. A. BRICE TAKES WRONG PILL.

As a result of swallowing a bichloride of mercury tablet in mistake for quinine pill Monday night, Charles A. Brice, a commission merchant living at 4547 Sansom St., Phila., is in a serious condition at the Hahnemann Hospital. He swallowed the tablet while riding in his motor car and collapsed while the car was passing Delaware ave and Market street.

Mr. Brice's case is similar, according to the hospital physicians, to that of the banker in Macon, Ga., who swallowed the same kind of poison tablet several weeks ago and who died after he had calmly arranged all his affairs.

William N. Burton, Mr. Brice's chauffeur, stopped the car near the ferry shortly before midnight and told Horan, a reserve policeman, that Mr. Brice was ill. Mr. Brice was in the rear seat at the time almost unconscious. Horan had him removed to the hospital.

He told the physicians that he swallowed the poison in mistake for quinine. According to Dr. Troxall at the hospital Mr. Brice said he took several of the tablets out of a closet before he left home but did not realize he had mistaken the poison for quinine until it was too late.

Dr. Troxall said Mr. Brice's condition is as satisfactory as can be expected. He said the poison will not be fatal unless it reaches the kidneys.

High School, Chestertown.

The exercises at the Chestertown High High School exceeded all previous records and Prof. Creasy had everything to move along with clock-like regularity. In the presence of a large audience, composed of their parents, relatives and friends, 16 young men and young women students received their diplomas.

The address to the graduates was delivered and the diplomas presented by Prof. J. L. Smyth, county Supt. of schools. Special music by Chestertown orchestra and Glee Club added to the well appointed program.

Diplomas were presented to the following graduates:

Commercial Course—Robert Lee Robinson, Daisy Beatrice Clark, Lucie Josephine Frazier, Helen Lucile Boyd.

Latin Scientific Course—Norman Clarence Hicks, S. Irving Sparks, Marion A. Dixon, C. Carey Jarman, William Edward Tarbutton, Anna Willson Jones, Hope Wickes Meeks, Hannah Maude Robinson, Daisy Arsula Ford, Ruth Clendaniel, Katharine Stokes, Carmeta Russell.

The graduates at Piney Neck School were Misses Mary M. Beck, Edith B. Colison and Alice D. Wood. Prof. Jones has organized a society in this school which is doing good work and although offered more money elsewhere will return to continue his good work.
