FINE SHOW IN THE CITY NEXT WEEK.

Mr. Slow—"Say, going over to the show?"

Mr. Goe—"Where? Maryland or the Auditorium?"

Mr. Slow—"Neither. Fifth Regiment Armory, the Horticultural Show you know!"

Mr. Goe.—Oh pshaw; I thought you meant something. I'd have to take my wife if I went there. When I go to town I don't hunt for things a-growing. I hunt for things a-going. I can go in the fields and see "silver bells and cockle bells" a growing fine, but when I go the city I hunt for the "pretty maids all in a row."

And so it goes. The directors find it harder to break up the indifference of the average farmer than to do any thing else connected with it. There are crowds who attend but of them are city people who only come for curiosity and souvenirs.

Now what could the farmer get if he did attend. First, he'd get an idea of the diversity of crops grown here in Maryland. He'd find out that there are many more profitable things grown than corn and wheat. He'd learn of the tremendous interest some farmers take in growing a profitable specialty. He'd see how easy it is to spend money. He'd see fine fruit which netted him about 12½c a basket two months ago, brought out of storage and retailed at 7½ cents each. Also some more.

The fellow selling some body else's implements, the one with another man's patent lights, the clerk from the nursery and the agent for the churn and butter worker are all on the job, every minute of the time. They have something to sell the farmer and think that is the best chance of getting a bunch together. But the farmer who wants to sell his own stuff to the consumer is not doing his part. The agent knows that to get along with the boss he must get the farmer's money and to do that he will have to show him the goods. The farmer must realize that he as well as the men who transact his business and get a fat percentage must talk. And talk and talk around it. Like the old lawyer near here giving advice to his son, also a lawyer: "My son," said he, "if you have a case where the law is clearly on your side but justice seems to be against you, urge upon the jury the vast importance of upholding the law. If on the other hand you are in doubt about the law, but your client's case is founded on justice, insist on the necessity of doing justice tho' the heavens fall." "But father," said the son, "how shall I manage if both law and justice are dead against me?" "In that case," said father, "talk around it!" And for several generations every one has been talking around it to the farmer. Time for him to talk now. The fellow who wants to sell to the farmer is always well dressed and prosperous looking and knowing his wares from A to Z can talk to beat the band. Consequently he makes money and owns an auto. Well, some farmers do, but they are the ones who attend the Shows.

The farmers who need the stuff and need the lectures so badly you will find home in the corner grocery sitting on a barrel of ginger snaps and talking hard times. If he could afford to get some of that ginger into his system he might get up and move, but he's too poor. The fellow who needs to know all the whys and wherefores of farming so as to get the mostest bank account for the leastest mortgage is dozing in his chair after a big heavy dinner and wondering "if he is going to have dyspepsia." Going to bed with the chickens may be all right, but every one knows a chicken has not much brains. Perhaps long nights of sleep did it. Anyway that is what a chicken needs as it is the best way to get ready to be gobbled up by a hungry man. There are many farmers who get gobbled up by creditors in a short time, as the papers will show.

Now then. The folks who attend these shows are city people. The fellows who eat most of the stuff grown on the farms are city people. Does one and one make two. It does—if they are put together right. One minus one makes nothing—which is the result when the farmer is not on the job.

Wouldn't it be interesting if some farmer were to arrange a booth of things grown in his locality and on each in plain figures mark the price he received and the average price paid by the consumer. Wouldn't my city friend ask a question when the huckster ask him 10 cents a quarter of a peck for tomatoes if he knew the farmer received about 4 cents a peck for them and expenses off? I'm sure that one item would reduce the cost of living somewhat. Would not it be a help for the Parcel Post system that is trying to make up some of our losses sustained by the new Tariff? Couldn't the farmer put on good clothes and talk about his own stuff as well as the paid man does for his boss? Couldn't he, by meeting people of all classes get some points that would help him on the labor question? We must all agree that the farmer does not get all thats coming to him except hard knocks, and he gets more than his share of them. Why? Because he won't get together and fight for his rights. The hired man is banded together, the street laborer has his union. Why? "In union there is strength!"

The direct marketing system can only be worked out on these lines. As the first step—go to the Maryland Week Exhibition and hear what the speakers of national fame have to say.

"All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. So take Jill too—she will add to your joy."

EVELYN HARRIS.

A GREAT HEN.

NEWARK, Nov. 6—Two hundred and seventy six eggs in less than eleven months is a record made by an ordinary hen owned by Mrs. L. F. Townson, of Cleveland avenue. As far as can be learned this breakes all previous records in this country, especially for a common fowl. The previous record was 164.

A feature of this record is the fact that the hen laid 156 eggs before she tried to set. A number of times during the summer she wanted to set, but after being shut up for a few days would start laying again

This hen was of two chicks given to Mrs. Towson's little daughter by a neighbor, early in 1912. The second hen had made an equally good record until taken sick last summer, when she stopped laying. In six months and one week this hen, which was a Plymouth Rock, produced just 150 eggs.

These are the only two fowls the Towson's have, and they are unable to account for the great record the two hens have made. The hens have been more or less pets, but received no special attention that would account for them producing so many eggs. Their food has consisted of table scraps and cracked corn.

Words of Praise

For Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy

"How thankful we are to you for getting a hold of your Wonderful Remedy. My wife could not have had but a short time to live if she had not taken your Wonderful Remedy when she did. One more of those paroxysm pains she was having would have killed her without a doubt. Now she is free from all pain, free from heart trouble and free from that disturbing Neuralgia—all the results of five treatments—and the expulsion of five or six hundred Gall Stones. Now she is able to eat anything she wants and her appetite is good and before taking your medicine she had no appetite and when she ate anything she would suffer death for so doing and could not sleep at night; since taking your treatment she sleeps well all night long. T. A. Neall Roanoke, Texas."

The above letter should convince you more than anything we could say in behalf of Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy. Sufferers should try one dose of this Remedy—one dose should convince them that they can be restored to health. Nearly all Stomach Ailments are caused by the clogging of the intestinal tract with mucoid and catarrhal accretions allowing poisonous fluids into the Stomach and otherwise deranging the digestive system. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy painlessly removes these accretions without a surgical operation and puts an end to Colic Attacks, Gases in the Stomach and Intestines and all of the usual symptoms of Stomach, Liver and Intestinal Ailments. Ask your druggist about Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy or send to Geo. H. Mayr, Mfg. Chemist, 154 Whiting St. Chicago, Ill., for free booklet on Stomach Ailments and many grateful letters from people who have been restored.

The Kent Building and Loan Company desires to call the public's attention to the VERY BEST method whereby they can save money.

For Fourteen years this Company has continued with marked success and has paid its shareholders on an average of 5½ per cent. on their saving. In view of this liberal policy, it is hardly necessary to advance an argument why you should deposit a small sum weekly, monthly or quarterly with this company. Dues received weekly every Monday evening at the Court House in Chestertown, between 7.30 and 8.30 p. m. or by mail at any time. The last statement of the company showed assets of over $80,000. Three years ago the assets were about $60,000. Shares are 25 cents per week, and we have some leading business men who have over 100 shares and have held shares in this company from the date of its organization. The company operates for the advantage of all its shareholders—not merely for a few—and this policy has resulted in a 5½ per cent. investment which must appeal to any one with any sagacity. Its books are regularly audited and it is managed by a capable and strong body of directors, who give it their constant attention. The condition of the company's business is open at any time to the public. $1 paid weekly earns approximately at the end of 6 years and 6 months from $300 to $400. $1.50 paid weekly means about ½ more.
