[illegible] the selection of the good gentlemen of other Africa can you derive from the condition in which they have so [illegible] been placed — we believe you to be capable of self government, and that if you could have [illegible] you [illegible] your own [illegible] advance in knowledge, wealth, and [illegible] you shall have the help you all to [illegible] the respect of the world, and shall have [illegible] accomplishing the [illegible] of civilizing and christianizing millions of the native Africans [illegible] of the great objects aimed at by our society [illegible] and we feel [illegible] assure them, we respectfully [illegible] you that in every [illegible] you will act [illegible] respectfully and [illegible] fully. We regret that we [illegible] wish to be understood as [illegible] to impute blame to any of the parties concerned in the events which have recently occurred in your State — from the information we have received thus far we certainly appear to have been in nothing in this character, but can only [illegible] in regretting that such measures may in some cases be considered justifiable and proper by those who cannot [illegible] and without sufficient cause, be [illegible] for the redress of grievances without resorting in great evils to the state than would happen [illegible] to the ills they are intended to remedy — [illegible] that the friends of Freedom [illegible] may be made to contribute to what has happened may be made to contribute to the increased prosperity of your State; but we write in view of our former and existing relations to the parent [illegible] to remind you that [illegible] a dispassionate consideration
