Ship. Should the order be sent & not obtain the cargo thereon sufficient to cover the bill of lading duly endorsed is handed to you. Should you have reason to suspect the party receiving it not responsible, you will take the proper measures for securing or selling the cargo or any part thereof respecting your charge.
On delivery of your cargo right & receiving funds therefor, purchase with the same good bills on England & transmit the same to Messrs Thomas Shipley & Son or the Agent of the Ship, first endorsing them payable to their order. I mean course, funds not needed for port charges of the Ship.
When you have loaded you will get the entire amount possible in advance, as per charter party, whether all of it may be required for port charges or not.
The clearing, settling up, & loading again may all be accomplished easily & without difficulty or many serious difficulties may occur. It will be needless for me to give any instructions in anticipation & I can only enjoin it on you be careful & circumspect in every measure you persue get the best counsel you can. I request that I may be furnished you with any letter of introduction to a house in ports of the Black Sea or I should have done so.
After leaving your port of loading proceed directly either Falmouth or Cork & communicate directly with Messrs Thomas Shipley & Son & the charters named in the charter party Hard & Walker Avoid the possibility of misunderstanding & have immediately on receipt of cargo proceed at once to the port of discharge as directed by them. Immediately on arrival there you
