Revd Dr McClintock

My dear Sir. Yours of the 5th ult. is received. I long have felt, we need [illegible] about the Revenue. & very likely you could do more by letter than I could by personal application, however I will do the best I can. I know Mr Pratt's valuable services. But it will be a difficult matter to think of Mr Pennington's Estate at present. Having, in surrendering his condition, I presumed that he [illegible] doing any thing for the Society. Nor could I understand his subsequent remarks. But he had been disappointed in many ways, & unable to attend many. Our object then was to make all right, or to that effect. It is plain now that he considered the receipt of the legacy known to me & the Society all one. & the thing something for nothing forgiving it. You will make all clear.

I learn that Dennington is a very reliable man, & entitled hence. I learn too that he has been charmed by our McClintock, hence more perfectly disposed than heretofore. Not the acting president, tho.

You say nought of printing. I fear they do not come up to the old standard. Very truly thinks. & Respectfully

Truly Yours Thomas Kelly
