THE KENT NEWS

CHESTER TOWN, MD.

Saturday, March 27, 1847.

☞The Hon. Reverdy Johnson will accept our thanks for a copy of his able speech on the three million bill.

☞The Publisher having been sick at the date of the last issue, and being necessarily absent this week, he asks a liberal indulgence for any errors that may be found in the paper last week and to-day

☞The Equinoctial Storm commenced on yesterday. The rain continued through the day with high wind, and about night it commenced snowing.

☞Captain Browne's Packet was not up when our paper went to press.

Gen. Taylor and the Army.

For several weeks we have been uneasy about the position of Gen. Taylor, and his small force, in view of the fact that Santa Anna was about to change his own position. The whole country has been in a state of agitation and excitement at the recent disastrous news brought to N. Orleans. These accounts are various and some of them inconsistent. Some represent Gen. Taylor's defeat with the loss of 2,000 men, half his army and he in a situation where escape is inevitable; that the Mexican loss is 4,000 of an Army of 24,000 The news also, is, that the Mexicans are descending upon Monterey, Camargo and Matamoras, with large forces; are cutting off trains of wagons laden with provisions and intercepting all Gen. Taylor's supplies. These are only a portion of the reports.—Our own opinion is, that no Battle had been fought at the time reported, but that Gen. Taylor is in a perilous condition.

His army consists almost entirely of Volunteers, the Regulars having all been withdrawn for Gen. Scott. With raw and inexpericnced troops, how can four or five thousand oppose 25,000, and the latter abundantly supplied with cavalry! It would be marvellous if Gen. Taylor should escape. He seems to be hemmed in. Why he has been thus left exposed, is a question which every one must answer for himself and put the responsibility where it belongs. It is an awful responsibility and we will not dwell upon it. The whole country will examine and weigh it.

We have implicit faith in the prowess and skill of the old war worn veteran, who was never defeated, and all that can be done, he will do. He is not the man to surrender without a fight, and his answer to Santa Anna's summons to surrender, "come and take me," is characteristic of the soldier and the man.

The next news is looked to with intense and exciting interest, and the sympathies of a nation are with the brave old hero and his little Army. May the God of Battles be with Gen. Taylor and his Spartan Band!!

Gen. Taylor and Secretary Marcy.

It will be seen by the following extract of a letter from General Taylor to the Secretary of War, that some feeling has been evinced by General Taylor in respect to an order received by General Patterson, direct from the Department, which he considers as a "violation of the integrity of of the chief command in the field."

"In conclusion, I feel it my duty to make some remarks, which I would gladly have been spared the necessity of submitting. I feel it due to my position and to the service, to record my protest against the manner in which the department has sought to make an important detachment from my command, specifically indicating not only the general officers, but to a considerable extent the troops that were to compose it. While I remain in command of the Army against Mexico, and am, therefore, justly held responsible by the government and the country for the conduct of its operations, I must claim the right of organising all detachments from it, and regulating the time and manner of their service. Above all do I consider it important, that the Department of War should refrain from corresponding directly with my subordinates, and communicating orders and instructions on points which, by all military precept and practice, pertain exclusively to the general in chief command. Confusion and disaster alone can result from such a course. The reason alleged, viz: the loss of time in communicating with General Patterson, has no application; for the Secretary's daspatch came from that officer to my headquarters in sixty hours, and he could not move, at any rate, without drawing large upon this column for artillery and regular troops.

"I beg it may be understood, that my remarks have no personal application. It is quite probable, that in the event of making such a detachment, I would have placed it under Major General Patterson; but I conceive that this mode of regulating details, and ordering detachments direct from the Department of War, is a violation of the integrity of the chief command in the field, pregnant with the worst evils, and against which I deem it my duty respectfully, but earnestly to protest."

FOREIGN NEWS.

Arrival of the Steamship Hibernia.

28 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The news received by the steamer Hibernia, possess no great interest. We subjoin the most important items:

Mr. O'Connell, it is said, is dying. The state of his health, previous to his removal to Ireland. His confessor, Dr. Miley, left Dublin, by express, to attend him in London, where he now remains. His complaint is stated to be water on the chest and dropsy in the legs—fatal symptoms ever at his time of life.

The price of bread in Paris has again been raised two centimes the kilogramme, or about 3 4d. on the 4 lb. loaf.

The King of Naples has forbidden the exportation of wheat, as he had previously that of maize.

The Prussian government is making large purchases of rye from Russia, in order to reduce the price of corn.

In the House of Commons on the 2d inst., Lord John Russell announced that her Majesty has been pleased to call a council, to consider the best day on which to appoint a general fast and humiliation, on account of the present awful condition of the sister kingdom. This announcement was received with evident satisfaction by both sides of the house.

The affairs of Ireland still continu to absorb attention. The proposition of Lord Geo. Bentick, for expending sixteen millions on railways in that country, was rejected by a large majority.

The London money market of the 3d inst., was unsteady, but tending generally towards a decline in the price of consols The depreciation in exchequer bills has also been considerable.

An express, in anticipation of the overland mail, arrived in London on the 24th ult. The treaty with the Sikhs, given in our last, was duly ratified between Dhullop Singh and the Governor General on Christmas day, and the two august personages just named, were to meet at Lahore on New Year's day.

Four Sikhs corps are being raised. From the other troops a frontier brigade, at Peschawour, under command of Capt. Lawrence, of the 11th cavalry.

The Nawawa Amor Mahomet Sahan, the instigator of the late disturbance in the province of Bhotal, together with two sons engaged with him in insurrectionary movements, has been ordered to be imprisoned in the stronghold fortress of Assorghier.

The town of Madras has lately been visited by cholera, which at the latest dates had declined The country, with this exception, is healthy throughout, and the weather cool and agreeable.

IRELAND.

Correspondence of London Morning Chronicle, March 2d.

DUBLIN, Feb. 27.—As regards the condition of the peasantry, there is no indication of improvement in the accounts received to-day. They are of the same gloomy character—the mortality increasing in almost all quarters, and fever continuing to spread in the union workhouses, as well as amongst the poor people in their own miserable habitations. In this terrible state of affairs there is, at least, one consolatory circumstance. I allude to the commencement of vigorous operations for the sowing of spring crops in several districts, where the landowner and occupier are working cordially together.

The importations of grain and Indian corn to Irish ports, are upon a very large scale. In Cork, yesterday, the imports were 9,145 quarters of Indian corn, and 17,000 barrels of grain In Belfast, Limerick, and other ports, there are also very large arrivals, but the tremendous consumption prevents any material reduction in prices.

County of Cork—Parish of Schull.—Dr. S. Sweetman, Dispensary Physician at Schull and Ballydehob, in a letter to the Cork Constitution, dated "Schull, Feb. 22," says:

"This parish is at this moment a charnel house; our mortality is fearful, averaging daily from forty to forty five at least. I could not—east, west, north south—point to a poor man's house where there is not a fever, dysentery, or death. Our grave yards are crowded to excess—so much so, that the dogs have rooted up and devoured some bodies, To the west of Schull, at Reenahaning the creatures are so weak they are unable to dig graves sufficiently deep.

To obviate this, the Rev Dr. Trail has added half an acre at the churchyard at Schull, and has a number of deep graves daily dug, which are soon occupied. I solemnly declare, in my very humble opinion, that the majority of those poor people who are crawling about the streets, and trying to work on the roads, are dying unconsciously—literally walking in death; they are now beyond the reach of food and medicine, save the Great Physician.

To give you an idea of our state, for it is not at all known, nor can words convey it, what a change a few months have made—I was informed by the national schoolmaster here that this time twelve months he had one hundred and forty children; this day he had not one. Half, he said, are dead, and the remainder are unable to attend; for want of sufficient food and raiment, and he is himself obliged to get some situation on the roads to support a large family."

County of Mayo.—The Rev. S Stock, rector of Kilcommon-Erris, in a letter to the Tyrawley Herald, says: "I am persuaded I am within bounds when I say that 1,000 persons have perished in Erris alone."

County of Tipperary.—Cahir, Feb. 25. The physician of the Cahir dispensary died last week of fever caught attending his patients. The number of poor dying of dysentery and bad food is truly dreadful throughout the whole country, although every human aid is extended.

County of Fermanagh.—Enniskillen, Feb. 26.—every day the new [illegible] from the rural districts is assuming a more appalling character. Fever and dysentery are in many places fearfully manifesting themselves, and we have the highest authority for asserting that the interments far exceed anything of the kind witnessed in the county within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant

The state of the revenue of Great Britain was in the highest degree satisfactory.—The excess of the income over the expenditures of the country, for the year ending the 5th of January last, was no less than £2,816,000. The surplus of the financial year ending the 5th of April will be considerably more, as the revenue of the current quarter for the first six weeks already exhibits an increase upon the corresponding period of last year of £500,000; consisting of customs, £245,000; excise, £106,000; and the balance of various miscellaneous items.

The income of the next year is estimated at £52,515,000, and the expenditure, including £422,000 for additional interest, is estimated at £52,178,087, leaving an expected surplus of £336,923.

The Hibernia's News

Presents no very prominent features either in a political or a commercial point of view The prices of wheat, flour and Indian corn show a steady demand, with such fluctuations as may be expected to attend an extraordinary condition of the trade in bread stuffs such as is now exhibited.

The financial exposition of the revenues of Great Britain, by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, as made in the House of Commons recently, indicates a sufficient ability on the part of the Government to meet the requisitions of the year. There has been indeed such an increase of revenue, beyond estimates, in some items, that the Treasury is enabled to bear the drain of one million sterling per month on account of the sufferings of the Irish people. A loan of eight millions has been negotiated for the wants of Ireland and Scotland; the greatest capitalists of the country, the Rothschilds and the Barings, were bidders The aggregate revenue of Great Britain is £52,515,000, or some two hundred and fifty millions of dollars. Of this vast sum the annual interest on the public debt absorbs more than thirty millions sterling.

The approaching dissolution of the Parliament and the election of a new one appear to be regarded with indifference. The truth is that whether Peel or Russell be at the head of the Government the same results pretty nearly may be looked for. The new development of parties, consequent upon the fusing and confounding of old distinctions, has not yet acquired shape and consistency enough to produce a definite antagonism with distinct lines of demarcation.—*Balt. POLITICAL.

For the Kent News.

The Next Governor.

The subject of the Whig Gubernatorial candidate is beginning to attract considerable attention, and already Messrs Goldsborough, Groome, and Dr Williams have been named by their respective friends, and through the public prints, in connexion with this office. It gives us pleasure to add our testimony to the high and independent character and qualificatious of these gentlemen, who are every way worthy of the commendations bestowed upon them.

But whilst we cheerfully express our estimate of the gentlemen alluded to, we shall not be unmindful of the claims our own county possesses in relation to this office. KENT COUNTY, we believe, is the only county on the Eastern Shore that has never yet had the honor of furnishing a Chief Magistrate for our State, and it most certainly has not been for want of either virtuous or talented sons. The time has now arrived when she can present the name of a gentleman peculiarly qualified for the station of Governor, in the person of JAMES B. RICAUD, ESQ. It is hardly necessary to speak of Mr. Ricaud, as he has for nearly ten years past been more or less engaged in the Legislative department of our State, and is consequently identified and intimately connected with the interests of the State. He is a gentleman of fine talents and high moral character. He is a very popular debater before the people, and would, no doubt, canvass the State if his party desired it. His devotion to the Whig party, as also his entire disconnection with any clique or cliques, as well as his opposition to all Internal Improvement schemes would ensure for us a faithful, popular and impartial Chief Magistrate.

MANY WHIGS.

WHO IS JAMES K. POLK?—The New Orleans Tropic of a late date says:—"A friend of ours yesterday was asked with great confidence and gusto, "Who is James K. Polk now?" Our friend replied, that he believed he was the man who wrote the Kane letter, and received "aid and comfort" from Plaquemines; who said we had a clear and unquestioned title to Oregon up to 54 40, and then took 49, to show his accommodating disposition; and he believed he was the same man who said that the U. S. Mail service was conducted with an energy worthy of all commendation, and he further believed he was the same man who with Lilliputian eloquence and cunning, declaimed against a tax on tea and coffee, while stumping it in Tennessee, but who recommended a tax on those articles the moment he had the power to do so."

☞The Democrat sloped; visage having fallen from 54 40 to 49!

☞The Locofocos of Congress formerly stood in terrible fear of their newspaper organ at the seat of Government and always yielded implicit obedience to its edicts.—The organ however has at last become sadly feeble, and now the Locofocos of the House appear to be rioting in their license. "Jim," said one boy to another, "how's your ma?" "Feeble enough—I can lick her now, and have everything my own way, and you don't see me going on errands and doing little things about home as I used to."—Prentice.

VIRGINIA ELECTION.—The State and Congressional elections take place in Virginia next month. The Whigs show no disposition to hold back in the contest, but rather to dispute every inch of ground with the Locofocos. The following is a list of the candidates for Congress, so far as we have seen:

	Locofoco.	Whig.
Dist. 1.	Arch Atkinson	Samuel Watts
2	G. C. Dromgoole	Geo. W. Bolling
3.	W. M Treadway	T. S. Flournoy
4	T. S. Bocock	Henry P. Irving
5.	S. F. Leake	W. L. Goggin
6.	J. A. Sedden	John M. Botts
7	T. H. Bayly	John J. Jones
8	R. T. L. Beale	Will'by Newton
9.	No nomination	J. S. Pendleton
10.	Henry Bedinger	No nomination
11.	Jas. McDowell	A. S. Gray
12.	A. A. Chapman	W. P. Preston
13.	F. McMullen	No nomination
14.	R. A. Thompson	J. A. Stephenson
15.	Wm. G. Brown	No nomination

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.—It is stated that Hon. J. Y. Mason, the Secretary of the Navy, is very seriously pressed for the Vice Presidency by the friends of several Presidential candidates, but especially by the adherents of Gen. Cass.—N. Y. Mirror

ITEMS OF NEWS.

SHOCKING OCCURRENCE.—A Mother and Five Children Burned to Death.—We have mentioned that the dwelling of Mr. Augustus Holdridge, in the village of North Blenheim, New York, was consumed by fire on Monday night week, and his wife and five children perished in the flames. It seems that Mr. Holdridge escaped with his youngest child, a boy about six years of age; and a daughter, aged 19, saved herself, though frightfully burned, by leaping through a door or window.

The mother was twice seen outside of the burning building, but the desire to rescue her children, it is supposed, prompted her to rush back into the flames, from which she was unable to return.

These, making in all nine persons, constituted the whole family, and were asleep at the time in the building. The names of those that perished we have been unable to learn The oldest, however, was a daughter aged about 23 years; the next a son aged about 21; the other three were between the ages of the two children that escaped—6 and 19.

The daughter that saved herself, ran shrieking from the burning house to Fink's tavern, a short distance off, where she now lies. She is not expected to recover.

COMMODORE CONNER, it is said, on his return from the Gulf Squadron, whither Commodore Perry has gone to relieve him, will demand a Court of Inquiry, during which he will seek to show that his inaction has been caused by the mistakes of the Administration and its neglect to furnish him with supplies and with small vessels.

THE MONEY GOING.—The appropriations made by Congress at its late session, it is said, will amount to about sixty-five millions of dollars. The Army Bill alone appropriates about thirty five millions! Is it any wonder that the Democracy should have refused to vote a few thousand dollars for the starving Irishmen?

FATAL AFFRAY.—An affray occurred at Bardstown, Ky., a few days ago, between two brothers-in-law, Judge Brown and Judge Gaither, which ended in the death of the latter, who received the contents of a pistol.

EPPES ARRESTED!—We learn from the New Orleans Commercial Times that this notorious person was arrested in that city on Monday, the 9th inst He arrived there in the steamship Galveston from Texas.

THE woollen factory of Joseph Anderson East Bloomfield, N. Y., was destroyed by fire on Wednesday, the 10th inst. It was insured for about one half the amount of the loss.

THOMAS Turner, an Englishman, who has been living at Newark, N. J., with his family some four years, has been arrested, and is now in custody, on the charge of forgery.

IT is stated that mules equal to those purchased for the army at $50 or $60 each, could have been procured in Mexico for $15.

THE Emperor of Russia gives a premium to the engineers upon his railroads who complete the year without any accident causing the loss of life or property.

COL HAYS.—This gallant Texan Ranger has arrived at Washington. The citizens of Montgomery, Ala., gave him a public dinner a few days ago.

BOMB-SHELLS.—Some hundreds of thousands of these missiles have been ordered for the present war. The cost of a shell is about $².

A MAN in Indiana, with an orchard full of apple trees, lately advertised for a lucky fellow with the fever and ague, to shake his fruit down for him.

THE expenses to the city of New York of the funeral observances of the lamented Captains Morris, Field, and Williams, were about $600.

THE store of Gray & Richardson, at Snow Hill, Md., was robbed last week of $30 worth of goods and $5 in cash.

THOMAS R. LUDLAM, the Surveyor of New York city, committed suicide on Wednesday, while laboring under temporary insanity.

THE Governor of Wisconsin has commuted the sentence of death, passed on David Bonham, to imprisonment for life.

THE book store of Oliver L. Perkins, at Boston, was consumed by fire on Wednesday.

Major Walter Gwynn has been chosen chief engineer of the James River and Kanawha canal company.

PORK.—A modern medical writer says, that eating pork is the cause of the extensive prevalence of scrofulous affections.

A CARD.

BRICK-LAYING AND PLASTERING!

WILL be done by the same old PEMPERANCE COON in the neatest and best manner and at the shortest notice.—Since the subscriber had the honor to publish his Total Abstinence Pledge, six months ago, he has remained as true to his promise, as the Sun in his course and the moon in shedding her mild, but effulgent light No dogs have barked, no children have annoyed him, and no woman has "made faces" at him, except in the way of agreeable smiles. He has been able to walk erect, at all hours, and to step a right line, with as much precision, as it is drawn.

He can now sleep with his conscience undisturbed and in the enjoyment of good health, is at all times ready to engage in work, and has a desire to be constantly employed. His old appetite for drink is gone, and he would now, sooner take a dose of "Brandreth's Pills," (from 2 to 20 according to the directions on the box) than drink a drop of Alcohol, in the shape of Beer, Wine, Brandy, Whiskey, Gin, Cordial, No. 6 or Composition.

To his brother mechanics, some of whom, will take a glass at 12, a drink between meals, and at other times get "a drop" in one eye, if not in both, he would refer to a Proverb of Solomon, the wisest man, and the great Architect and master builder:

"Wine is a mocker—strong drink is raging, and whosoever is deceived thereby, is not wise."

"Look not upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup. At the last, it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder."

It is the Alcohol that bites and stings, and hence when a man drinks too much his brain becomes "over-excited," and he is very apt to see "Snakes," and sometimes little 'Devils."

The only true and safe path is the one marked out by "total abstinence"—this track, the undersigned, intends to walk in, day and night, and if by industry, attention to business and strict temperance, he can secure the patronage of the community he will assuredly do so. He is no "Irishman" and has never been at "Cork," but has seen a great many "drawings" of it.

He resides in Chester Town—but will readily go into the country when requested. He has worked upon the best jobs, can give the most satisfactory references, and shall be very happy to serve the public in his line of business. His prices shall be moderate, for having ceased to waste money in buying Liquor, the use of which, caused him to lose much valuable time, he is enabled now to do more work, with greater satisfaction to his employers and himself, and make more money at less prices.

The undersigned would have all men to reform—he boasts not of his resolution, but hopes, to be able to hold out to the end. Although, he could not boast with Will Tunnell in the 'Spectator,' that he had drank "23 Hogsheads of brandy, 4 tons of port, ½ a kilderkin of small beer, 19 barrels of cider and 3 glasses of champaign—besides assisting at 400 bowls of punch, not to mention sips, draws, and whets, without number"—yet he was becoming a "hard case," and would soon have been ruined, had he not reformed. If he could only see the still "hard cases," reformed, he should be greatly gratified. It is supposed by some that there is a decay of moisture in the earth—it is ascribed by some to the excessive growth of vegetation which incorporate into their own substance many fluid bodies that never return again into their former nature. But his own opinion is, that the greater cause is, the immense quantity of liquids, which are drank by human beings!! Let the drunkard reflect, that his very course, may be productive of drought and short crops, and let him once more be a man. He believes with the Duke of Richmond, that when a man takes too much, he never has enough.

Wishing that "Cold Water," abundant crops, high prices for grain and produce, and a plenty of work, may become the order of the day, and wishing health and happiness to all, he subscribes himself
