THE KENT NEWS

CHESTER TOWN, MD.

Tract Society.

An adjourned meeting of the Tract Society, will be held in the Methodist Protestant Church, in Chester Town, on Monday night next, the 14th inst., at 8 o'clk. The Rev. Dr. Reese, will be present and a full attendance is requested.

The meeting held on Sunday afternoon last was addressed in a most eloquent and interesting manner by Dr. Jno S. Reese, of the city of Baltimore. It was a meeting of interest—the subject is one of importance, and great good has been done, by the colporteur system. The distributor of tracts, visits every house and hamlet. He distributes religious tracts, holds conversation upon religious subjects, with the sick and other members of the family—prays with them, and when they are able to purchase, sells them religious books on the cheapest terms. The moral influence of such proceedings must be salutary in a great degree, and as one of the moral Agents of the day, should receive the sanction and patronage of every community.

Death of Major Law.

We learn, with deep regret, that Major James O. Law, formerly Mayor of Baltimore, is dead. He died, on Sunday last, at his residence in Lombard street, of the "ship fever," after a few days illness. He contracted the disease by visiting the emigrants who recently landed in that city, to ascertain their wants and to afford such relief as could be commanded. Major Law was a good and useful citizen—and at the time of his death he held the responsible office of Inspector General of Flour in Baltimore, to which he had been appointed by the present Governor of this State. He was buried on Monday afternoon, with military honors, in Green Mount Cemetery, where it is proposed a monument shall be erected to his memory.

Marl.

Dr. C. M. Newman has handed to us several fine specimens of Marl or Fossil formations, dug from his farm in Queen Anne's county. Petrefaction seems to have taken place in the largest specimen, and the numerous shells, fish, &c., are embedded together. There are also a number of specimens of shells, conchs, clams, &c., almost in a state of decomposition and some of which are almost ready to crumble at the touch. The Dr's. farm, formerly known as the Bet's farm, has been liberally furnished with distributions of this Marl, which has rendered it very productive.

The most singular circumstance connected with these fossils is that they are found in the Meadow and Meadow-Banks, distance several miles from tide water.

THE DISTRESS IN MARYLAND.

We are glad to learn from the Port Tobacco Times, published in Charles county, that the distress from want of food in that county, is not so great as was reported.—The Times says it is confined to some small families who needed the active benevolense of those around them; and it adds:

"We have those around us blessed with the bounties of Providence, and cheered by the recent showers of rain upon their crops, giving promise of plenty, who will doubtless feel it their privilege to extend relief to the poor of our country whenever it be needed."

This we are sure would be the case in Charles county, if, as we were led to fear, the drought and the scarcity of food, did not put it out of the power of those who would be glad to relieve the wants of their poor, to gratify their own dispositions.—Right glad are we for the sake both of the giver and the receiver, that they are able to exercise the gracious privilege of extending relief to the needy.

SUNDAY.—The battle of Palo Alto was fought on Sunday the 8th day of May."

The Mexican Army arrived and took position in front of Monterey on Sunday, the 20th day of September—the battle commenced the dext morning."

The battle of Del Norte, New Mexico, was fought on Sunday, the 21st of January.

The battle of Buena Vista commenced on Sunpay, the 21st day of February."

The surrender of "the city and castle of Vera Cruz was made to Gen Scott on Sunday the 28th day of February."

"The battle of Sacramento, Chihuahua, was faught on Sunday the 28th day of March"

The battle of Cerro Gordo commenced on Sunday the 18th day of April.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The Legislature was organized at Concord on Wednesday by the election of Locofoco officers—the lowest majority being 13.

On motion, Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the President and Secretary and published in the Kent News.

Lieut. Aken left Saltillo on the 15th ultimo. Before his departure he learned from Gen. Wool himself that Col. Doniphan was no doubt at Parras and in a day or two would be in.

The Saltillo correspondent of the Picayune says: "Upon reaching Saltillo I was delighted to find that the place had not suffered in the slightest degree from the occupation of our forces. The streets were all clean and in good repair, and in every door and at every window were seen senoras and senoritas. It was some high church day and observed as a fete. The streets were thronged with Mexicans—men, women, and children, and all rigged off in their very best.

ARMY NEWS!

Later from Mexico.

Accounts from Vera Cruz, City of Mexico, and Gen. Taylor.

The Sun publishes the following accounts from Mexico, received by express in advance of the mail, taken from the New Orleans Delta and Picayune of June 1, and slips from Mobile papers:

FROM GEN. TAYLOR'S ARMY.

Preparations to move on San Luis Potosi —Another Battle anticipated A terrible Duel—The probable safety of Col. Doniphan—The streets of Saltillo, &c

Advices have been received at New Orleans from the Brazos to the 25th ult., from Monterey to the 15th, and from Saltillo to the 14th.

By the following letter, from the Delta, it will be seen that it was thought that General Taylor would soon take up his line of march for San Luis Potosi:

MONTEREY, Mexico, May 15th 1847.

Editors Delta—Here we are, pretty much after the old sort. Again all things seem to denote a movement of this column, and I think, by the 1st of June old Rough and Ready will pack his knapsack for San Luis Potosi. I intend going, and have attached myself to the company of Captain J. H. Bean. The young Captain is from old Kentuck, and is a good specimen of that noble State, of whose gallantry and courage Americans may well be proud.

You may look out for squalls at San Luis. They say it is there the Mexicans will make their final great struggle, but we will see what we shall see. The weather here, at present, is as hot, if not more so, than you have it in New Orleans.

From the Picayune we select the following items of interesting news:

In conversation with Lieut. Aken, of the 2d Kentucky Foot, we learn that a most deplorable duel occurred at China about the 21st ult., between two Lieutenants in the Virginia regiment. The news was taken to Camargo by Mr Dowd, beef contractor at China, and was fully credited by all at Camargo.

According to this report, the two lieutenants—one of whom was named Mahan, and the name of the other not being recollected—fought with muskets loaded with ball and buckshot, and both parties were killed. Most sincerely do we hope there may be some exaggeration in the statement, but Lieut. Aken leaves but little room for hope. He fully believes it, and it was generally credited at Camargo.

In the first letter of our correspondent below dates are again expressed as to the fate of Col Doniphan, and even Capt. Pike. We publish the letter as written, but are most happy to learn from Lieu Aken, that subsequent to the date of our correspondent's letter, news had been received of Doniphan's advance towards Saltillo [illegible] back to Chihuahua, and there again taken up his line of march for Saltillo.

Letter from Father Matthew.

The following letter from Father Mathew, the great Irish apostle of Temperance, is taken from the West Chester Examiner. It was written to a citizen of that place

CORK April 6th 1847.

My dearest Friend—Next to the delight I should feel in seeing you once more is the pleasure afforded to me by your valued letter. Well do I remember your visit to Cork, and your presence at our little rural temperance party. I ever cherish a recollection of you and that happy evening.

I am unwilling to harrow your benevolent feelings and my own, by a detail of the horrors by which we are surrounded; it is unnecessary; our misery is, alas! known to the whole world. Yet the report abroad does not even shadow forth the horrid reality. The "Three days' Visit" of the humane Mr Burritt to Skibbereen, which I conclude you have read, gives you a hurried view of one small stricken district in Ireland. It exaggerates nothing, and, from my own personal painful knowledge, I can assure you that the horrors detailed by the good Mr. Burritt are not confined to Skibbereen. Numerous districts are involved in the same deplorable ruin. Our government is exhausting all its resources; the benevolent English nation is contributing generously, and your own happy States, throughout their vast length and breadth, are moved with a most generous sympathy for the perishing Irish people, and are performing prodigies of charity.

After all, I must with burning shame confess that our fellow creatures are dying of torturing, slow starvation, at our very doors. The calamity is so universal—of such immense magnitude—millions without food, or money to purchase it—no human agency can more than lessen the number of victims.

To stay the hand of the destroying angel is for that Great Being alone who fed the Israelites with manna in the desert, and the multitude on the mountain, with five small loaves. This conviction is deeply impressed on the minds of our temperate and enduring people, who in this dark hour fly for consolation, and expire in thousands, holding in their dying grasp the horns of the altar, crying out, in the memorable words of the expiring saviour, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit.

We have not recorded, in Irish history, any calamity equal to the present; and the Lord has sent another messenger of vengeance amongst us. A fatal pestilence has appeared in various parts of this unhappy country, especially in the devoted city of Cork. May the Merciful Father of All have pity on his children, and remove the bitter cup from us.

Praying that the Lord may recompense a hundred fold all our benefactors, and thanking you for your exceeding kindness, I am,

With high respect,
Dear B. M. EVERHART,
Yours, affectionately,
THEOBALD MATTHEW.

POLITICAL.

Taking the Back Track.

It is amusing to see the Washington Union taking the back track, after throwing out its FEELERS to ascertain whether its proposition to sequester the property of the Catholic Churches of Mexico, by way of punishing the Bishops and Priests of that country for being patriotic, would find popular favor. The sacrilegious nature of the proposal shocked the public morals of the country, and hence a lame effort of the "Organ" to relieve the administration of the odium of its paternity. There is however, too much intelligence in our land, for the Union to succeed in such an attempt to deceive. Every one knows the tact of the old veteran, in that line, and will continue to enjoy their own well grounded opinion, which is, that the desecration of the Mexican churches was contemplated—seriously contemplated, and would have been carried into effect, if the people had not indignantly frowned it down, and driven the administration from its fell purpose.—Rough and Ready.

SANTA ANNA AND MR. POLK.

The correspondence between these two gentlemen presidents of Republics, whether oral or written, must be laid before the country. Among the first acts of the Congress, in December next, should be the institution of a committee, to inquire into, and ferret out, every circumstance connected with that disgraceful attempt to buy up a traitor. A Republican government, like ours, whose theory implies a basis of honour and truth, uprightness and candor, should reject with scorn, every element of venality and corruption; and the people have a right to expect from its head, that he will administer its affairs in such a way as to place himself above suspicion, as the receiver and opinion of all fair minded men is, that he who would descend to means to corrupt an the eve of the [illegible] were held out to him, suffered himself to be corrupted. Nations, like individuals, should conduct their affairs upon principles of fairness and virtue, for whenever they depart from these great landmarks, condemnation and disgrace must attach to the delinquent parties.—Ib

LAST evening Santa Anna, at the election down, got two votes for keeper of the pound for stray animals! N O Delta

We think, that, in these days of political stampedes, Mr Polk would do well to send for his one legged friend and make him keeper of a pound for stray Locofocos.—Lou Jour.

☞President Polk is now making a tour through the United States. Perhaps he had better extend his journey through Mexico. No doubt his friend, Santa Anna, will give him a pass.—Ib.

☞A letter from Mexico says that General Scott has taken the guerilla business in hand, "and by his order every murder that the Mexicans may commit take $300 out of the nearest alcade's pocket." And so the life of an American soldier is valued at $3 by Mr Polk! Wonder what he would value his own life at, if he were in Mexico!

STARTLING RUMORS Mormon Murders

A gentleman from Burlington Iowa, brings news of the return of two men who left that place some time since with a company of Oregon emigrants, who report that they were forced to return by a band of Mormons who left Nauvoo last fall. They report that one of the emigrants being sick, was forced to stop at Council Bluffs, that a number of his friends, including the two that have returned, remained with him, designing, as soon as he should recover, to hasten forward and overtake their companions. After resuming the march, and being far beyond the white settlements they were attacked by the Mormons, robbed, and all murdered except the two who bring the sad intelligence, and who barely escaped with their lives. Nothing is known of the fate of those in advance. Several of the persons murdered were taking out considerable sums of money, which was made known to the Mormons by a brace of wothies, now under guard at Burlington, who have acted as runners for the Mormons during the past winter.—St Louis Reveille

THE DROUTH—Crops—The long continued drouth will produce an almost total failure of grass, and seriously effect crops of small grain—but the farmer who is a believer in Hague, the astrologer, will receive consolation by consulting 48th page of his Horoscope for the present month, for he therein promises rain on the 12th, 13th, 15th, 19th 20th, 21st, 25th 26th and 27th. If he be correct, farmers are likely to have an abundant supply of rain before the termination of the month, and may expect to have good crops of corn. We are almost tempted to put confidence in the astrologer's prediction as it conforms exactly to our own wishes. It will take a succession of showers to supply the cravings of the parched earth, and to make it produce abundant vegetation.—Balt. Clipper.

PARIS FASHION.—Grey hair is now all the rage in Paris. Probably some antiquated spinster among the nobility had become too lazy too attend to the adjustment of her wig, and so set the fashion by returning at once to nature.

☞Gen. Taylor appears to be the subject of universal admiration in Paris. We shouldn't at all wonder to find the Parisian tailors sending over for the fashion of old Rough and Ready's coat.—Louisville Journal.

A FATAL accident happened at Franklinton [N. C.] as the President of the United States proceeded on to Raleigh. A man named Dancy was instantly killed as the parting salute was fired.

☞Mr. John Wise made a very successful ascension in his balloon "Rough and Ready," from Lancaster, Pa., on Saturday last. He landed about fifteen miles from Lancaster.

THE MEXICAN PIRATES—The Princeton to be sent to the Mediterranean—The President has issued orders directing the steamship of war "Princeton" to be got ready for sea, to proceed to the Mediterranean, in quest of the Mexican privateer "Unico," and any other vessels that may be insulting our flag there. The matter was formally laid before the President on Monday morning, by Mr. Buchanan, and his action thereon was prompt and decisive. The Princeton is to be made ready to sail on or about the 15th of the present month.

WE have been informed by a number of farmers that, notwithstanding the dry and unfavorable season, the wheat crop will turn out as well if not better than it did last year. The corn looks remarkably well, though we hear complaint of the fly. The prospect for oats is very poor, and we fear tha the crop will be lighter than it has been, in our county, for twenty years.—Rockville Journal

POSTSCRIPT

By Sloop Gen. Washington, Capt. Browne.

SANNA ANNA STONED IN THE CAPITAL.

We learn say the Delta, that letters have been received from the city of Mexico, to the 21st ult., in which it is stated that Santa Anna arrived in the capital on the 19th May; that his reception was very different from what he anticipated.

The populace showered upon him curses both loud and deep; and from words, proceeded, as the old nursery story runs to try what virtue there was in stones.—His Excellency escaped with great difficulty, and, protected by his friends, sought an asylum in the palace.

The people, indignant at the frequent defeats of the Mexican armies, and the failure of Santa Anna to redeem his numerous promises, sought to revenge themselves upon his person. Had it not been for the armed force and the police, the unhappy President would have been dragged thro' the streets, as was once the fate of that poor amputated limb, which has served him so long as a most potent remainder of a courage and gallantry which are now sadly in want of new props.
